

THE DAILY EXAMINER, JULY 23, 1881.

An Honor In Store.

In New Brunswick, one of the disappointments the people feel in connection with Mr. Blake's fine orations is the absence of any suggestion of a Policy for the Opposition.

The Advent of Blake.*

MR. BLAKE will soon be here. Let the public take notice in time. We are anxious to assist in advertising the advent of the Great Mogul—the bright and shining light of the Grit party—the man who supplanted Mr. Mackenzie, and proved untrue to his acknowledged chief.

His playful moments, you might regard him as a contributor to the "Arabian Nights," or the Decameron of Boccaccio. His imagination is lively, as becomes the romanticist; and to judge from the tone of the enthusiastic sycophants who worship at his shrine, we would suppose that he was a Demosthenes and a Munchausen rolled into one.

*This article is, we acknowledge, not equal to the panegyric of the Patriot; but we submit it with due reverence and the best intentions.

"Would it not be advisable that the public be informed by the EXAMINER as to where the exceptional and non-concurrent figures, respectively, of Mr. Blake, M. P., and Mr. Farquharson, M. P., of this Province, are to be found other than in the EXAMINER, in which they have so persistently been paraded daily for the last week or more? Unless it does so people will believe it has made those figures for its purpose.—Journal.

If the Journal will but refer to THE EXAMINER of June 28, it will see that we referred the unbelieving reader of Mr. Blake's statement to Hansard for 1880, page 1464. As to Mr. Farquharson's statement, it will be found in the speech of last session, on the motion respecting winter steam communication.

MR. FARQUHARSON'S STATEMENT.

"The aggregate amount which we have paid to Canada over and above what we have received from Canada during the past six years was not less than $2,296,436.23"!!

MR. BLAKE'S STATEMENT.

"FOR PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND THE RECEIPTS WERE $1,596,030, THE EXPENDITURE $2,624,000,—the deficit (that is the loss to Canada) $1,027,970." * * * * *

"It will be seen from these statistics that some of the smaller Provinces, heavy as their contributions are—and I freely admit that some of them are heavier contributors per capita than some of the larger Provinces—are yet not adequate contributors to, on the contrary, that they are heavy drains on the resources of Canada; and it will be further seen that the bulk of the expenditure—I may say EVERY SHILLING OF THE EXPENDITURE OF THE NORTH-WEST AND ON THE PACIFIC RAILWAY IS CONTRIBUTED FROM THE PROVINCE FROM WHICH I HAVE THE HONOR TO COME."

Liberal Conservatism in New Brunswick.

THE Sir Charles Tupper Reception Committee, and the Committees connected therewith, held a meeting in St. John on Thursday night. It was attended by over 600 people from Fredericton, Woodstock, Moncton, and other places. The Chairman Dr. Tack, Q. C., in opening, said that never in his experience of political meetings had he seen such an universal spirit of earnestness among the party, and in referring to the enthusiasm which at present animated the Liberal Conservatives of New Brunswick, he predicted that Sir Leonard Tilly would at the next general election, be sent back to Parliament with a powerful following, such as no other man from New Brunswick ever had.

The Acadian Convention.

The Acadian Convention met at Memramcook on the 20th inst. At 9 a.m. Mass was celebrated in the Parish Church, at which between 1,800 and 2,000 people assisted, and Rev. P. Richard of St. Louis preached a brilliant logical and practical sermon. At 2 o'clock two new bells were consecrated with imposing ceremony, and at 4 o'clock the Convention was opened by Hon. P. A. Lindsay, who delivered a very pleasing and effective inaugural address to over five thousand people. After concluding he introduced Sir Hector Langevin, who was received with great enthusiasm, and made a splendid speech. His views on the Convention were such as could only command the attention of every one, whether of Acadian or other nationality. He counselled his hearers to be faithful to their religion, their language and their names. As to language he said they must know English to transact business, but while speaking English when necessary they could still preserve their own tongue. He struck severely at those who changed their names from the original French to the English translation, and told an amusing anecdote in connection with the habit. He concluded by asserting that if the Acadians proved faithful to the true principles which should guide all people, they would number a century hence, not 100,000 as now, but 2,000,000. The orator (he is that without doubt) insisted on the burying of the past, English, French, Scotch, or Irish. Canada is our country, and the only struggle that now exists between different nationalities is a generous rivalry in material prosperity and intellectual advancement. His speech throughout was marked by argumentative reasoning and sound sense, and its conclusion was the signal for prolonged applause. At the evening session it was decided to set apart the 15th of August as the national holiday.

Mr. Huntington Adorning a Subject.

(From the St. John News)

Says to-day's Telegraph, speaking of Mr. Huntington, "So far he has touched no subject which he did not adorn." Well, at the open air meeting yesterday, Mr. Huntington touched the subject of the probability of Sir John's present illness terminating fatally. Mr. Huntington adorned it in this fashion:—"A little French artist was much disturbed at an inn by the snoring of two sleepers. After a time, one of the sleepers ceased snoring. Thereupon the little artist exclaimed piously, 'Thank Heaven! one of them is dead.'" Mr. Huntington interpreting, the snorer that died represented Sir John A. Macdonald, and the pious artist, the candidate for the Premiership so soon to be vacated by death. The subject thus "touched" by Mr. Huntington was adorned, was it not? Aye, but the work was done in the most detestable spirit and the most execrable taste. A few more such adornments from Mr. Huntington's skilful touch, and scant courtesy would be awarded him at public gatherings in the Maritime Provinces. It was, indeed, an outrage on fair discussion for Mr. Huntington to represent Sir John's colleagues as gloating over the prospect of his early death. Right thinking men of all parties will condemn that method of touching subjects; and will rejoice at the great change for the better taking place in Sir John's state of health.

Surrender of Sitting Bull.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press, of the 20th inst., has a special from Fort Buford, which says:—"Sitting Bull and about 200 people arrived at noon to-day and surrendered arms and ponies to Major Brotherton. No speeches have yet been made, as Bull and his orator are fatigued and hungry. They were placed in a compartment between the post and boat landing, and are as securely in Major Brotherton's charge as if in irons. The Pioneer Press correspondent visited Sitting Bull after his lodge was erected, and cheered the old man up by informing him he had seen the lost daughter, whom the Canadians had told him was in chains, only a short time before, and that she was well and happy. The chief expressed a desire to have a talk after he had rested and had something to eat. The cavalcade as it filed by the garrison attracted much attention. It consisted of six army wagons, loaded with squaws and children, followed by 25 or 30 carts well filled with baggage. Sitting Bull himself and his chiefs and headmen rode their ponies and did not dismount and shake hands until they arrived at the place fixed for the camp. Captain Clifford states that Sitting Bull is very sullen and insolent.

A Priest Burned to Death.

ROXTON FALLS, Que., July 19.—A serious fire occurred here last night about midnight at the Roman Catholic presbytery, which was burned to the ground, nothing but the stone walls remaining up. The priest, Father Larue, who was in the house at the time, was found to have been burned to death in the flames. His nephew, who was in the house with him, had retired to his own room about ten o'clock, p. m., and was awakened by the smoke and flames and escaped with his life by jumping out of the window. The fire was first seen as coming from the rev. father's room, who had been ill for some days, but not confined to his bed. The doctor had left him not very long before the accident, and it is supposed that after his departure Mr. Larue took a fit and overturned the lamp, which set fire to the surrounding materials. Every possible means were taken to rescue the lamented gentleman and to save the building, but without any effect. The other residents of the presbytery were absent at the time, on a visit. The deceased has been priest here for five years.

There is something very touching in the Telegraph's method of accounting for the absence of enthusiasm at the recent meeting to hear Mr. Blake. We are told that "the floors were so carefully carpeted with sawdust to prevent noise and interruption that the usual mode of giving applause was difficult." Could anything surpass the magnificent and child-like candour of this announcement? That must indeed have been a funeral meeting in which the stillness had to be accounted for by the carpeting of sawdust. We congratulate our St. John contemporary upon his discovery of this method of accounting for what, we doubt not, was a painful experience to him.

Comparative Statement.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—In order to show the wisdom of the City Council in changing the mode of collecting City taxes, I take this opportunity of showing the amounts paid in for the present and past year upon Real Estate:—

Table with 2 columns: Description, Amount. REAL ESTATE, 1880. Collected one month after passage of By-law under discount... $ 9,833.75 In thirty-three days after... 1,071.12 $10,904.87

Table with 2 columns: Description, Amount. REAL ESTATE, 1881. Collected one month after passage of By-law under discount... $13,763.74 In 33 days after... 5,616.11 $19,379.85

In favor of present system... $8,374.98

When it is considered that, in addition to the excess in amount collected, there is a yearly saving of six hundred dollars in salary, the great improvement under the new mode is evident. No favor or affection is now shown by the collector—every person is on the same footing, be he rich or poor. The taxpayer is now supposed to call at the City Clerk's office and pay his assessment. By this method a great amount of trouble is saved and payments are much more rapidly made. I do not wish to find fault with our late collector, as I believe he performed his duty as well as he could, under the rule guiding him, but I maintain that the system was most pernicious. It is well that all should pay their legitimate taxes, and very unfair that a few be compelled to do so and a great number escape. By the present order of things all persons are compelled promptly to liquidate their respective amounts just as they would renew their policy of insurance or protect a bank draft. As a taxpayer I have taken the trouble of calling at the City Clerk's Office and obtaining the above figures. In future years, the new system will no doubt work even better than at present.

I am etc., EQUITABLE. Ch'town, July 23, 1881.

CLIPPINGS.

It is understood that the Irish Land Commission will receive no opposition from Mr. Parnell.

The word "nyanza" so frequently met with in accounts of African exploration, is a term applied to all African lakes.

A London despatch says 4,000 furnace men are out on a strike in the Cleveland district, reducing the make of pig iron 17,000 tons daily.

Sir Charles Dilke stated in the House of Commons last night that the Government had no intention of granting France any territorial rights in Newfoundland.

Forbes's Tourists, &c., gives the following capacity of churches: St. Peter's, 54,000 people; St. Paul's, 32,000; Notre Dame, 20,000; St. Stephen's Vienna, 12,000; St. Mark's Venice and Milan cathedral, 7,000.

The Jew-baiters of New Stettin, angered at the denunciations of the New Steiner Zeitung, severely assaulted the editor, sacked some shops, and demolished the Zeitung office. Over thirty rioters were arrested.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said the last audible words of Dean Stanley were:—"I have labored amidst many trials and much weakness to make Westminster Abbey the great centre of religious and national life in a truly liberal spirit."

The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Ayub Khan has six regiments of 400 men each. The Amer's force is estimated at 4,000 infantry, 1,200 cavalry, and 24 guns. The feeling in favor of Ayub Khan is almost universal in and about Candahar.

Since the attempt on the President's life, the wave of indignation against the office-seekers has been steadily gathering in force. The opinion that they "must go" has even reached the Cabinet, several members of which are now openly in favour of Civil Service reform.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:—"Thoughtful men regard Paris as the weakest great money market in the world at the present time, and feel that upon it depends the time as well as the intensity of the next credit storm. All other great money markets are also forced to such an unprecedented extent that it is impossible for one to relieve the other."

The Queen expresses her profound grief at the death of Dean Stanley, and says the Church and nation have lost one of their noblest and most gifted members. The German press deplore the loss of the Dean, and the English papers again revert to the subject. Unless objections be found among the Dean's papers a public funeral in Westminster Abbey is probable.

The passage on the fine clipper ships from Melbourne to London, 70 to 80 days, is only $250, and a writer in a London paper suggests the excursion as a mode for families with fixed incomes to retrench, as the living is good, the trip health-giving, and there is no means of spending money. It is further suggested that girls might thus pick up husbands.

There was once a Sir James Weir Hogg who made a fortune in India, and whose wife, holding a distinguished place in London fashionable circles, gave splendid parties. It is said that a young blood, meeting one of the Misses Hogg at a ball, and not knowing her name, asked her if she was going to a certain party at the "Piggery." Her naive reply was, "Oh, I am one of the litter!"

British India supports a population of 243 persons to the square mile, against 180 in France and 200 in England. Wherever the population exceeds 200 to the square mile it ceases to be rural, and has to live to a greater or less extent by manufactures, mining, or city industries. Keeping in view that ninety per cent. of the rural population of India live mere or less by the tillage of the soil, it is easy to understand that owing to the extreme density of population, the struggle for existence is extremely hard.
