From this farm we congratulate those who in the long campaign which must have proved wearisome to every candidate; the elected To those who fought a good fight and have been disappointed we offer our regrets. To those who have been termed loss has been a hollow gain in the wider pattern of things.

And for us... again... our life in the pattern of our own and living the inspiring spring-sound of a robin's rill coming in to our pillow this morn'g.

From this time on - until Winter's shadow can be glimpsed at the hilltop this will be in its fullness or broken trails one of our favorite songs.

"It's good to hear them" Jamies - Until tomorrow - Diary-Goodnight.

What is an April storm to a farmer - lad such as he? Only a passing incident on which we must expect to see the next day's sun. It's a strange thing Elton but in my memory that is the story of the Election Day I can recall. This "from shore to shore and from the river to the end of Canada" was an election day. And because of the storm which now sweeps across the island and Maritime provinces for youngsters like Mack it will be a day to remember.
