

Bacon Literature.

On a recent occasion, one of our friends was coming down from Albany, and it appeared—as luck would have it—that there sat opposite to him, in the cars, a gentleman with remarkably long legs, which he was not very particular about digging into our friend's knees.

"Zeb," said a chap to his chum, the other day, "it seems to me you didn't stay long at 'Squire Folger's last night?'" "No," was the reply, "I was sayin' a few pleasant things to the daughter, and the old man came in and gave me a hint to go."

"Hullo!" ejaculated an anxious guardian to his lovely niece, as he entered the parlor, and saw her in the arms of a swain who had just popped the question, and sealed it with a smac, "what's the time of day now?"

A Hugo Indian in England, being profusely thanked for having rescued a lady from the attack of a ferocious dog, which he seized by the throat and throttled, said, "Of course, I was glad to help the gal; but what I wanted most was to give that condemned English cur some adequate notion of the American eagle!"

A married lady, who was in the habit of spending most of her time in the society of her neighbors, happened one day to be taken ill, and sent her husband in great haste for a physician.

A Gossip.—A poor man in Albany, who had a gossiping wife, informed a friend of his, "as a great secret," that his wife went out of the house every day forty times to gossip with some of her neighbors, and that she remained out two hours every time!

"My dear," said a stingy husband to his wife, one day, reprovingly, "the lawlessness of our children is all your own fault; you always give them their own way!" "Poor things!" responded the wife, "it's all I have to give them!"

AN EXCUSE AT A PINCH.—A Chicago robber, who was seized in the act of stealing in the shop of a tobacconist, said, by way of excusing himself, that he had never heard of a law which forbade a man to take snuff.

Avarice has been termed "the vice of little minds." And so it is, in the sense in which that is generally understood. But though the vice of a little mind, it is by no means a little vice, but one of the largest, as it is insatiable in its desires and unlimited in its cravings.

A clock having just struck the hour of one, a tender-hearted mother exclaimed, "Oh, what a cruel clock!" "Why so?" asked a friend. "Because it struck its little one!" answered the tender-hearted mother.

"Do you ever have any 'hops' in Maine?" asked a Newport belle, who was dressed for a ball, of a country cousin from the Pine State. "Oh, yes, lots; pa has forty acres of 'em in one field."

A traveller life insurance agent applied to a Texan to "take out a policy;" but the Texan replied, "A fellow's life is so confounded uncertain in this community, it aint worth insuring."

Why is a maid-servant, when a procession passes nigh her master's house, like a ship on the coast at the commencement of a heavy gale? A. Because she always runs out to sea.

We saw a drunken man lately trying to get a policeman to arrest his own shadow. His complaint was that an ill-looking scoundrel kept following him.

A husband having been asked to take stock in a new "Woman's Club," replied, "No, thank you; the 'old woman's' club is often too much for me."

An exchange paper says that the girls in some parts of Pennsylvania are so hard up for husbands that they sometimes marry editors and lawyers.

"I say, Bill; Jim's got scragged for stealing a horse," "Sarve him right; why didn't he buy one, and not pay for it, like any other gentleman?"

It is as wrong to judge of a man's character from that of his acquaintances, as it is to judge a woman's from the choice she makes of a husband.

A Down-cast editor advises his readers, if they wish to get teeth inserted, to go and steal fruit where a watch-dog is on guard.

Why is a beautiful and fascinating girl like a butcher? A. Because she is a "killing creature."

How sacred, how beautiful is the feeling of affection in pure and guileless bosoms! The proud may sneer at it, the selfish and dissipated may affect to despise it; but the holy passion is surely of heaven, and is made evil by corruptions of those whom it was sent to bless and to preserve!

That learning which makes us acquainted with ourselves, with the powers and faculties of the human mind, with divine truth, which is plainly revealed, with its power on the mind and heart, with the concatenations of cause and effect, and to understand our every-day duty, which grows out of our wants and the wants of those about us, is learning of a better quality than that which orly enables us to call things by different names, without giving us a knowledge of their qualities either for good or evil.

Startling, but True! THE dark ages of medication now draw to a close. Dr. Maggiel's two grand specifics—PILLS and SALVE—have struck at the root of the cruel idea that make it necessary for a man to pour masses of dead and effete drugs down his throat to aid the cure of his disease.

ONE TO TWO PILLS are enough at any time for any man to take if the pills are made of pure, unadulterated drugs. MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE are superseding all the stereotyped physics of the day, because they are made of the finest materials in the laboratory, and never fail.

HEAR WHAT IS SAID: "Dr. Maggiel, your pill has rid me of all biliousness."

"No more noxious doses for me in five or ten pills taken at a time. One of your pills cured me."

"I thank Doctor. My headache has left me. Send a other box to keep in the house."

"After suffering torture from Bilious Cholera, two of your pills cured me, and I have no return of the malady."

"Our doctors treated me for Chronic Constipation, as they called it, and at last said I was incurable. Maggiel's pills cured me."

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your pills are marvellous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Pills cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."
