P. E. I. Issue Of The Maritime Advocate For May

The May issue of The Maritime Advocate, a well printed monthly magazine devoted in the interests of the Atlantic Provinces, will be devoted entirely to Prince Edward Island. Profusely illustrated articles by Mrs. L. M. Montgomery MacDonald, Mrs. Keith Rogers and other well known writers promise to make the forthcoming Prince Edward Island issue of unusual interest. An artistic front cover, showing striking views of Canada's Garden Province, will add distinction to the issue, which will consist of 5,000 copies. Of these two thousand copies are being supplied free to The Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau for use in boosting the province as a vacation haven. One thousand copies will go to Prince Edward Island people in an effort to make them more tourist conscious, while two thousand copies will go to regular subscribers of The Maritime Advocate, throughout the Maritimes. Mr. Gerald Black, of Charlottetown, is representing The Advocate in Prince Edward Island, under the direction of C. C. Avard, Publicist of Sackville, New Brunswick, who is well known in this province.

Spanish Party Split Is Seen

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MADRID, April 20—An apparently inevitable split in the ranks of the "Left United Front" seemed nearer tonight as Spain prepared to vote for electors who on May 10 will choose the next president.

The election of 473 electors, who with the parliament will choose a successor to deposed Niceto Alcala Zamora, is to be held Sunday and the outcome is expected to indicate how far to the left the Spanish political pendulum will swing.

Although no candidates have been formally announced, revolutionary Socialists of the powerful General Workers' Union have declared they will support only Socialist candidates.

Rescued Through SOS Dispatched By Carrier Pigeon

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

FREEPORT, Long Island, April 20—The story of the rescue of 17 fishermen from a disabled boat through an SOS dispatched by carrier pigeon was told today by officials of the Freeport Boatmen's Association.

The 40-foot boat Dawn, with Capt. W. S. Smith, and 16 other fishermen aboard, broke her exhaust pipe yesterday. A carrier pigeon bearing a note requesting aid was released and the bird flew the 15 miles back to the Association headquarters in about half an hour.

When it strutted into its cage an electric alarm was automatically set off. The message was removed and the coast guard notified. The men were taken off the boat which had drifted onto mud flats.

To Aid Miners In Rescue Work

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

CONCORD, Mass., April 20—Harvey Higgins, foreman 30 years ago of the gold mine at Moose River, N. S., in which two men are trapped, left tonight by train for Halifax at his own expense to aid in the rescue if possible. A third man's body is with the survivors.

Higgins said he had been asked by Nova Scotia authorities a week ago to go to Moose River, but that arrangements never were completed. Today the old prospector decided to put his knowledge of the mine at the disposal of the rescuers on his own accord.

Mrs. Brown, (to new cook who has burned the bacon)—Fortunately my husband has not to be at the office till ten. It's a good job, isn't it?

IN MEMORIAM

MR. JOSEPH MCDONALD

A sad gloom was cast over Grand Tracadie and surrounding districts on Mar. 30th when the news came by telegram of the death of Joseph McDonald, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Percy Keizer, Dorchester, Mass. The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McDonald and was born at Grand Tracadie, twenty-five years ago where he lived until last October when he went with his sister, to Dorchester, Mass.

He immediately secured work with the Thompson Wire Co. and by his genial disposition and sterling qualities won the esteem and respect of all with whom he came in contact. Unfortunately while attending his duties he met with severe injuries which caused him much suffering. Though not feeling too robust he returned to work and was suddenly stricken with pneumonia. Despite the medical attention of three doctors and two nurses and the devoted care of a loving sister, brother and aunt his gentle young spirit, fortified by the last solemn rites of the Holy Catholic Church, calmly and peacefully passed away.

His remains, accompanied by his brother Lester, arrived in Charlottetown, April 2nd and were forwarded to his home at Grand Tracadie.

The numerous and beautiful floral tributes, spiritual boquets and expressions of sorrow bore silent testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held. There are left to mourn, besides his grief-stricken parents, four brothers, Lester, Dorchester, Mass; Reginald, Reuben and Allan at home and three sisters, Mrs. Percy Keizer, Dorchester, Mass.; Mrs. Emmett Murphy, Emerald and Mary at home.

The funeral took place Friday morning, April 3rd to St. Michael's Church, Corran Bann, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Mgr. Maurice McDonald. Despite the bad condition of the roads, the funeral was one of the largest seen for some time.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Michael McKinnon, Joseph Campbell, Clarence Fanning, Vincent McAulay, George Buote and John Watts, Jr. May his soul rest in peace.

MR. MICHAEL BEAGAN

In the midst of life we are in death, was never more truly verified than in the death of Mr. Michael Beagan, which sad event took place at his home in Donagh on March 26th after an illness of only six days with bronchial pneumonia. Deceased enjoyed his usual good health up to Saturday and looked as though he had many more years of useful activity, but notwithstanding medical skill and attentive nursing of a devoted wife and kind friends on the above date his gentle spirit fortified by the last Sacraments returned to God who created it. The late Mr. Beagan was a very honest upright and industrious member of the community and it can be truly said of him that his word was as good as his bond. He was a good neighbor and a true friend and his passing away is very much regretted by all classes in the community but especially will he be mourned in the home where he was a kind and loving husband and father and in his home stranger and friend alike received a hearty and spontaneous welcome. Being of a cheerful disposition he was always young and was second to none. in the amusements of the day where ever present notwithstanding he had reached the advanced age of 77 years.

His funeral which took place from his late residence on Monday, March 30th to St. Patrick's Church Fort Augustus, notwithstanding the bad roads, was very largely attended. many coming from afar to pay a last tribute at his grave. After the Requiem Mass was sung by his beloved pastor Rev. D. P. Croken all that was mortal of a good Christian was laid to rest in the family plot there to await a glorious resurrection.

He leaves to mourn a sorrowing wife and the following children, viz, John in Donagh; Malachi, Iroquois Falls, Ont., Ernie in Bucksport, Me., who came home to attend the funeral; Adrine, Mrs. James Feeney, Watertown, Mass., who also came home to attend the funeral; Katie, Mrs. Thomas Brennick, Brighton, Mass., and Jethru at home, besides four sisters, Mrs. James O'Connell, Tarantum, Mrs. James McPhee, Mrs. James Woods and Mrs. Precilla Roache, Watertown, Mass., and one brother Thomas, Mt. Ryan besides a number of grandchildren and a host of friends who will ever cherish his memory.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Edwin Brazel, Joseph Brazel, John McNally, Herbert Beagan, Anthony Beagan and Ernest Hughes.

Numerous spiritual offerings, as well as messages of sympathy were received and deeply appreciated.

The Guardian extends sympathy to the family and to all relatives and friends in their sad bereavement.

May his soul rest in peace.

GIRL GUIDE NEWS

Third Charlottetown Company (St. James)

A court of honor meeting was held on Friday at which matters relating to camp were discussed. It was decided to hold a rummage sale in St. James Hall on Saturday, May 2nd at 6.30 p.m. Plans for a concert are now under way.

As the Hall is being used for the Scout Concert on Friday night our Guide meeting this week will be held on Saturday at 7 p.m. Every guide is requested to be present. Important business!

Rangers

At the meeting on April 14th, various plans were discussed for the annual Rangers concert. Mrs. D. Scott was a welcome visitor and gave many helpful suggestions towards the concert. Miss Pearl Burns, the Company Lieutenant, gave the girls a surprise treat.

2ND CHARLOTTETOWN CO.

Miriam Notting, the last of this year's splendid group of recruits, was enrolled into the Girl Guide Sisterhood by Miss Gillan, Division Commissioner, at last Friday's meeting. A number of service stars, Pathfinder, Ambulance, Health, Child Nurse, Sick Nurse and Cook's badges were presented by Miss Gillan who also gave out the prizes won by Guides of this Company in the provincial handicraft competition. Two patrols received their flags for attendance.

Miss Gillan then congratulated the 2nd Charlottetown on having won the Company prize for "enthusiasm" in the handicraft competition. This prize, a cord and tassels for the colours—was then presented to the patrol leaders by the commissioner. For this beautiful trophy and for the individual prizes the Guides are very grateful to the Provincial Council.

It was announced that the Company would start work on the coming concert next Friday.

FIRST CHARLOTTETOWN BROWNIE PACK

On April 17th this pack witnessed a very important ceremony, investiture of two first class brownies. At the last meeting Anne Sadler passed her first class tests and since then another Brownie Betty Lou Bentley has passed these tests which include—Know first and last verses of God Save the King, signal the alphabet in semaphore, know eight points of the compass, take care and grow a plant from seed or bulb describing how it has grown, knit a child's sweater or scarf, lay and light a fire, make tea and milk pudding, fold clothes neatly, clean shoes, carry a message of twelve words in her head for over five minutes and deliver it correctly, bind up a cut finger or grazed knee, know what to do if clothing catches fire, walk ten yards balancing a book on the head and skip thirty times without a break. Miss Ina Gillan, district commissioner, invested the two Brownies and presented them with their badge a "Golden Hand," congratulating them for being the first 1st class Brownies on the Island The Brownies did the Grand Salute and cheered them. The parents and friends of the two Brownies were present. It is hoped that other Brownies will soon follow this example and receive their first class badge. The Brownies are preparing for a Brownie Revel to be held on April 30th.

4th Charlottetown Company

On Friday, April 17th, the 4th Charlottetown Brownie Pack was started under the leadership of Miss Mary Callaghan, Lieutenant of the Guide Company. Twenty-three "prospective Brownies" attended the meeting.

All the Guides were pleased to have Georgina Trainor back again at the meeting last Friday night after quite an absence.

The Company's latest recruits are Eileen MacPhee and Dorothy Conway.

Miss Dorothy MacAleer and Miss Eileen Hughes, interested Guiders-to-be, attended the meeting on Friday the 17th and were heartily welcomed.

At a Court of Honour meeting held on Monday of this week definite plans were made for the cake sale which is to be held by this Company at Holman's on Saturday, April 25th. The patrol leaders are to officiate at the sale and can assure all purchasers that they will have some very tempting dainties to offer. At this meeting the patrol leaders drew up the programme for next Friday's meeting at which Miss Gillan, Deputy Provincial Commissioner, will present badges and the prizes won in the recent handicraft competition.

Self Transformation Makes Halibut Flat

Fish, like humans, have their own racial and family characteristics, as for instance, in the case of the halibut, one of Canada's most important food fishes, which starts out swimming upright or vertically but then changes its mind and twists or turns its body into a flat shape ad moves through the water horizontally. Another peculiarity of the halibut—other members of the same family, Pleuronectidae, show it, too—is that although the original position of the eyes is much the same as it is in other fish the twisting of the body gradually brings both of them to the upper side. Or to use the words of one scientist in describing what happens: "In the very young (of this family) the bones of the head are symmetrical, one eye on each side, and the body is vertical in the water, but the cranium very soon becomes twisted so as to bring both eyes on one side."

With the change in the shape of the halibut, by the way, there also comes some change in the colouring of the body. The under side becomes white and the upper side assumes a protective colouring, but, of course, protective coloration is a common condition in nature.

Big Fish in Big Fishery

Canada's largest catch of halibut is made on the Pacific coast but the fish are also taken in Atlantic waters, mainly by Nova Scotia fishermen. Total catch by Canadian fishermen on both coasts in 1934 was more than 12,315,000 pounds. It's a big fishery, and the fish themselves are big, too. Sometimes they run to a couple of hundred pounds or so in weight, though the average is substantially less than that.

Halibut like the colder waters and that's one reason why their flesh is so firm and of such good quality. They are nourishing as well as tasty, their protein percentage runing to something like 15.3 as compared, for example, with 13.7 per cent in the case of chicken and less than 4 per cent in the case of milk. Another interesting point about them is that their livers are rich in vitamin content and are now being used in large quantities in the manufacture of medicinal oil. Until Science discovered this vitamin richness a few years ago the halibut livers were regarded as only so much waste but now they bring the fishermen quite a tidy sum every year—nearly $36,500 in British Columbia in 1394, for example, and about $9,600 in Nova Scotia.
