

Contagiousness of Consumption.

Dr. Heron, one of the physicians to whom Dr. Koch has entrusted the supply of whom for London, has written a treatise on the "Communicability of Consumption," which has a special interest at the present time.

News Notes.

Eighteen years ago there were few better known names throughout the English speaking world than that of Arthur Orton the "Tichborne Claimant."

A clergyman in Vienna, feeling himself called upon to stem the public esteem of Prof. Koch, reminded his congregation that whatever Koch might still discover and invent, and whatever methods of death he might do away with, he never could drive death out of the world, and that religion had lost none of its importance by the advance of science.

A Brooklyn girl, who is an heiress, but whose property is in the care of a trust company, applied to the president for money with which to buy a sealskin saccage.

The hatching of eggs by artificial heat has been pursued in Egypt from time immemorial and there are great establishments where the business is followed.

The papers of Kansas and Nebraska say that unless some effective system of irrigation can be introduced, the farmers will be compelled to abandon the western portion of the states.

To avoid the rush, we would advise all who want bargains in toys, crockery and groceries to call as early as possible at R. K. Roca's.

Beer & Goff's stock of cooking raisins is the finest they have had for years, and as the prices are very low it will pay you to look at them before buying elsewhere.
