CROSBY, WYMAN, BARRY-MORE GREAT IN TECHNICOLOR MUSICAL TRIUMPH

There's a grand entertainment ball on the screen of the Prince Edward Theatre and if you don't head yourself right over there, you're going to miss one of the best times that a movie can give you. Paramount's "Just for You," the musical romance in Technicolor, co-stars Bing Crosby, Jane Wyman and Ethel Barrymore dishing out music and fun in large and welcome portions.

Bing has never been in better form than he is as the successful composer-producer whose private life is a great big failure as far as his two teen-age children are concerned. A widower for many years, he had neglected the kids while devoting himself to the business of becoming famous. The problems that confront him when he decides to marry musical comedy star Jane Wyman form the hilarious background for eye-filling, spectacular song-and-dance numbers, magnificent and colorful costumes, 11 top new tunes and wonderful performances.

Miss Wyman, who won Academy Award laurels for her dramatic acting ability, reveals for the first time that she has a pair of the most beautiful legs in Hollywood. Her looks, personality and surprisingly effective singing style, which was discovered in "Here Comes the Groom" when she and Bing dueted "In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening," contribute enormously to the great enjoyment of "Just for You." In this picture, too, Jane sings a number with Bing that even tops "In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening." It is "Zing a Little Zong," which has become very popular, but you really have to see the way she and Bing put it over before you can get the full hang out of it. In addition, Jane does a solo — "Checkin' My Heart," which is another terrific number.

Ethel Barrymore displays a great sense of humor in her portrayal of headmistress of a fashionable school for girls. Young Natalie Wood plays Bing's daughter; Bob Arthur the son who gives him so much trouble.

ST. PETER'S LAKE W.I.

On Wednesday evening, January 7, the members of the St. Peter's Lake Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Elmer MacEwen for their regular monthly meeting.

With the president, Mrs. Elmer MacEwen, presiding, the meeting opened by singing the Institute Ode, followed by repeating the Creed in unison. There were 11 members and three visitors in attendance. Roll call was answered with "What I look forward to in the New Year."

Minutes of the last meeting were read, approved and signed. Collection amounted to 65 cents and two members paid their membership fees.

The secretary reported receiving premium blanket from Fairfields, and plans were made to lottery.

Preliminary Hearing In Shooting Case

Russell Brown, Dingwell's Mills, had his case adjourned until today when he appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate Joseph W. MacDonald, Q.C., yesterday in Georgetown. He is charged with intent to do grievous bodily harm in the wounding of his father-in-law, Allan Blaisdell.

The first witness called was Mr. Blaisdell. His deafness made it difficult for both Crown Counsel, Mr. S. S. Hessian, Q.C., and defence attorney Mr. J. Lester O'Sonnell to carry on their questioning as many questions were misunderstood or unheard.

However, he told Mr. Hessian that he had two farms, one of 100 acres and another of 83 acres. He farmed parts of them and the balance was under lumber. His daughter had come to his home, about a mile from her own, with her two children. She spent most of the afternoon there and then he hitched up the mare and drove them back. Another daughter, Rose, 13, went with them.

He drove in to Brown's place from the roadway to the doorway and on turning, the wagon around he was sitting on the side of it nearest the house. He thought it would be about three yards to the doorway. Mrs. Brown took one of the children into the house and came back for the other. The

Double Hockey Bill At Montague Last Night

Montague hockey fans were treated to an interesting double header last night when the Lorne Valley Bulldogs defeated the Summerville Beavers 9-2, and the Souris team defeated the Bison Bombers 11-8.

In the first game Lorne Valley held a decided edge through three periods in speed and passing which resulted in many scoring chances, and they capitalized on the best ones. Summerville battled to repel the overwhelming attack and in the dying minutes of the game scored twice from scramble in front of the opposing net.

The second game was a more even contest although Souris had the better of the passing plays. The locals strengthened by new recruits were still unable to stop the visitors who made their shots count. The first two periods were for the visitors, but the locals came back strong in the final session to score four tallies to bring up their score.
