Liberal Leader Addresses Rally

"The Conservatives talk about their go-go party", Liberal Leader Alex Campbell told a rousing rally at the Coliseum last night, "but after Monday, it will be the going, going, gone government."

Liberal candidates of the Charlottetown area and other districts joined their leader in a few last-minute remarks as their campaign reached a popular climax to the populist music and entertainment of Don Messer and his Islanders.

Speaking briefly on the Liberal's 12-point program for progress, Mr. Campbell pledged that it would bring better times for everybody. He was particularly critical of the Island's low wage structure. "What is really needed," he declared, "is more dollars for everyone, not more jobs for more people. Our incentive programs embracing all segments of our economy will help to do this. Together we can create a climate for development in every direction. And for all senior citizens drawing old age pension there will be an extra $25 a month as we gain office, retroactive to April, and still more for those in actual need. I am guaranteeing that."

Addressing himself to the younger people in his audience, Mr. Campbell said: "We are determined to find and provide ways for the rising generation to get going towards a better livelihood far earlier in their lives. Our younger people are as capable and venturesome as the more mature people; but they are entitled to greater encouragement and better incentives here on the Island than they have been receiving."

A member of the Charlottetown Fire department estimated the gathering at 4,500 persons.

ALL FERRIES BLOCKED

Britons Intent On Trip Cause Chaos At Dover

LONDON (CP) — There was chaos at Dover Friday as Britons intent upon a Whitsun weekend holiday on the Continent waited vainly for space on over-taxed foreign ferries.

And there was a suggestion that hard times are near for members of the National Union of Seamen, who went on strike against British shipping 13 days ago to support a demand for a shorter work week. Union Treasurer Gerry Lipman, treasurer of the 65,000-member union, announced a national appeal for funds may be launched next week.

In Dover, on England's south coast, French and Belgian ferries could not accommodate the sun-starved crowds, intent upon motoring trips in Europe during the long weekend.

A port official said all ferries between now and Tuesday are fully booked.

SLEPT IN CARS

Many vacationers had spent Thursday night sleeping in their cars on the Dover promenade to be early in line. They refused to abandon their holiday plans despite advice to do so from the harbor traffic controller.

Of 42 normal sailings in and out of Dover, only 22 operated Friday. Only 1,400 vehicles were expected to reach the Continent, compared with the 4,000 to 5,000 that normally make the Whitsun crossing.

All British ferries were struck—among the 632 ships the union claims are idle.

The National Union of Seamen is demanding reduction of the work-week on British ships to 40 hours in a package that adds up to a 17-per-cent increase on their current basic wage of £15 ($45) for a 56-hour week.

The shipowners have insisted they cannot afford to meet the demands in one swoop. They have offered, through their shipping federation, a 40-hour week in stages over a three-year period.
