MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. CARSON

Carson - Sutherland Vows Are Pledged Is New Glasgow

NEW GLASGOW — The marriage of Alexandra Mary Sutherland, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Sutherland of New Glasgow, N.S., and Richard Leslie Carson, son of Dr. William Carson and the late Mrs. Carson of Charlottetown, P.E.I., was solemnized by the Rev. William Carey Harvey in a double ring ceremony at one p.m. August 18 in Trinity United Church.

As the guests assembled, nuptial music was played by Langston N. Miller of Stellarton, who had been organist for the marriage of the bride's parents. The Trebletts, of whom the bride was a charter member, sang "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden," which was followed by the congregation singing the hymn "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven" as the bridal party entered the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was preceded by the ushers, James Bingley and Brett Sutherland, brother of the bride. The maid of honor was Miss Nancy Hartman of Kingston and Odessa, and the other two attendants were Mrs. Rodney MacKay and daughter Alison Anne of Fredericton, N.B.

The best man was Keith Carson of Toronto, brother of the groom.

During the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte was sung by Mrs. George Brand, and while the church register was being signed the Trebletes sang "Brother James Air" (The Twenty-Third Psalm).

The church was decorated by friends of the bride, using white standards of pink and white gladioli in the chancel and marking the guest pews.

A reception luncheon was served in the Hall of the First United Baptist Church where the guests were seated at tables with white linen cloths, with a background of flowers and softly recorded bridal music. After the traditional cutting of the cake, a fruit punch was served by the two ushers and Christopher Loomer of Saint John, N.B., cousin of the bride, and the toast was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Harvey. In reply, the groom proposed a toast to the bride's attendants, and messages of congratulations were read by the best man.

The bride's table was centered by a four tiered wedding cake topped with red roses and the bridal party was served by Miss Margaret MacLean. Miss Ruth Sutherland, aunt of the bride, presided at the silver tea service, and the guests were served by Mrs. Roger Kaye, Mrs. Edwin Fraser, and Miss Marie MacDonald.

After the bride and groom served the wedding cake, the bride ascended the stairs, tossed her bouquet to her unmarried girl friends, and a dainty garter to the bachelors, as she retired to change to going away costume.

The wedding gown was an original, designed by the bride and made by Mrs. Charles Fraser. It was of "Candle-light" peau-de-soie with fitted bodice, a lace - trimmed neckline, illy pointed sleeves, softly bow-pleated skirt falling to a short train, and the back trimmed with self-covered buttons.

She wore a chapel veil attached to a rose trimmed white headdress and her only ornament was a small silver cross pendant. White shoes and a cascade of small red tea roses completed her attire.

Her attendants wore simple street - length cummerbund dresses in shades of blue peau-de-soie. The over skirts were a lighter shade of blue organza. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations and their tear-drop shaped bandeaux of matching peau and organza, and the bride's headdresses, were designed by the bride's father.

The flower girl, three-and- a half year old Alison Anne MacKay, was similarly attired and carried a basket-of-posies.

The bride's mother wore a cafe-au-lait embroidered nylon over taffeta sheath with portrait neckline, matching veiled bandeau and chocolate brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

For going away, the bride donned a sheath dress of real silk in blue basket design, topped with an aqua blue wool and silk coat lined with the dress material (both made by the bride) and the ensemble was completed by a fluffy white hat, white gloves and shoes, and a red rose corsage.

They left on a motor trip around the Cobot Trail, and will be making their home in Summerside, P.E.I., where the groom will be a member of the High School Teaching Staff.

The bride is a graduate of New Glasgow High School, a Bachelor of Science of Acadia University and a Registered Technician of Kingston General Hospital, Kingston, Ont. Until May of this year she was bacteriologist on the staff of the National Defence Research Board at Kingston, and has spent recent weeks at Aberdeen Hospital, New Glasgow, in the same capacity.

Before leaving Kingston she was the guest of honor at several bridal parties, and there have been many more since her return.

The groom is a graduate of Charlottetown High School and is studying for his education degree from Acadia University after having been employed at Frobisher Bay for some time.

The donations of fruits, vegetables, flowers, etc., which adorned the church, were arranged by the members of Margate CGIT and will be given to the Prince County Hospital and annex. The sermon, entitled, "What is true Thankfulness?" based on the parable of the ten lepers who were healed, was delivered by Garth Caseley, student minister.

The choir, led by Mrs. Harold Woodside, organist, rendered "The Islander's Hymn", written by Barlow Bird of Freetown to the tune of "Crimond".

Lindsay Myers and Margaret Campbell of Amherst, N. S. spent Thanksgiving weekend as the guest of Gloria Wise in Harrington.

Rebekah Group Vice-President Visits Montague

MONTAGUE — The vice president of the Maritime Rebekah Assembly, Mrs. Sylvia Stone, Clarenville, Newfoundland, was an official visitor to Acme Rebekah Lodge, Montague, Thursday evening. She was introduced by Mrs. Frances Shaw and cordially welcomed by the noble grand, Mrs. Annie Gillis. Also received and introduced were Mrs. Agnes Coffin, Montague, and Mrs. Estelle Dennis, Charlottetown, both past presidents of the Maritime Rebekah Assembly, and district deputy president, Miss Hilda Harper, Charlottetown.

Routine business of the lodge was conducted by the Noble Grand. Reports of the various committees were presented, including a report on the final arrangements for sponsoring a motion picture on October 15 and 16. One member, Mrs. Irene MacDonald, was reported convalescing satisfactorily following her recent illness.

A pageant on the work of the order, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Shaw, was presented by Mrs. Ruth MacLeod, Mrs. Florence Stewart, Mrs. Annie Bears, Mrs. Marjorie Johnston and Mrs. Alice Green. Mrs Shaw and Mrs. Bessie Brookins sang as a duet "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer", and Mrs. Lilliam MacDonald was the accompanist during the presentation.

In a most charming manner, Mrs. Stone spoke on the work of Rebekah Oddfellowship and outlined the program for the year as suggested by the president of the assembly. The other guests and several members spoke briefly.

A gift from the lodge was presented to Mrs. Stone by Mrs. Florence Stewart while the accompanying address was read by Mrs. Winnie Vickerson. Following the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed by guests and members. Mrs. Brookins was piano accompanist for a hymn sing, after which refreshments were served by the lunch committee.

MR. AND MRS. PRESTON ALEXANDER SCOTT

Young Couple Pledge Vows At Ceremony In York United

York United Church was the scene for a very pretty summer wedding on August 31, 1962 when Janet Pauline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewar K. Swan, York, became the bride of Preston Alexander son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Scott, Marshfield. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. G.A.D. Elliott. Mr. H.T. Vesey accompanied Miss Arlene MacDonald who sang "The Wedding Prayer" prior to the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with baskets of mixed flowers while the guest pews were marked with bronze pom-pom dahlias and white bows.

The bride, given in marrigae by her father, looked lovely in an original floor length gown of white nylon mist over satin featuring long tapered sleeves and scalloped neckline trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls matching that of the gown. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Lona Scott, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and Miss Beverley Swan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical street length dresses of blue and yellow taffeta featuring draped skirts trimmed with tiny rosettes. They wore matching headdresses and white accessories, and carried bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. Graham Wilson, brother-in-law of the groom was best man while Mr. Alan Brown, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Allison Swan, brother of the bride ushered the guests to their pews.

Mrs. Swan chose for her daughter's wedding a blue organza over floral sheath dress with matching jacket, she wore matching accessories and a corsage of white feather carnations. Mrs. Scott, mother of the groom, chose a sheath dress of royal blue dupre, she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink feather carnations. The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Harry Swan, was attired in a teal blue jersey dress with matching accessories, she wore a corsage of white carnations. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. F.H. Watts, wore a brown jersey dress with matching accessories and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for approximately sixty guests was held at the Queen Hotel. The brides table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, white tapers on either side and small vases of sweet peas. Rev. G.A.D. Elliott proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom fittingly responded. Marlene Andrews friend of the bride was in charge of the guest book.

Following the reception the happy young couple left for a honeymoon trip to various points in the Maritimes. For travelling the bride chose a blue linen sheath with matching jacket complimented with black and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a community shower in York Hall where she received many lovely and useful gifts; also, the bride was presented with a gift from the staff at the P.E.I. Dept. of Agriculture where she is employed.

Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Scott were tendered a miscellaneous shower at their home in Marshfield.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Lyrics Of Old Song Bring Message Of Needed Hope

"'Look for the silver lining' a radio-voice reminded us in a bright song this morning.

But where should we look for it? Over the damp of the harvest-fields, and beyond the mists of the hills? — Or past now the shower glistening in crystal drops against the east windows, and the night-wind rough in the treetops? Where and when shall we find it? we sigh.

Papa Starling fussed nervously on his damp terrace this morning, there where willow-leaves whirled by his feet. He fell in his pockets: breast, trousers, and also in that of the swallow-tailed coat he had donned. He shook his head. Sighed forlornly, as we have seen James on a like occasion in the long ago, and once more commenced his search.

"Find it?" the voice of his wife called from indoors.

"No-o-o" he replied.

"Where would it go?" she queried somewhat shrilly.

"That's the question, Madam" he offered drily. Perhaps he brightened as the thought struck him "you gathered it up and put it in your purse?""

"I!" the echo came. "Now why would I be wanting a smelly pipe in my purse?" she countered.

"Well, there's this to it, Woman" he commented sternly, "we don't leave here till we find it!"

And the wind blew lustily, tossing the branches in a wild dance, shaking off leaves the summer had kept so beautifully and tossing them hither and yon.

The time of leaves, crisp underfoot, was about here.

"It's here—the calf's come!" Mack smiled happily coming in through the dusk. "Yes" he nodded "and it's a nice one too — now just a picture to see!

"And" he added with a chuckle "it's a boy!"

"But the heifer has been on pasture all day?" we said.

"Yes, it was there we found it, Dad and I, a little while ago, when we went to bring her in for the night."

"Were they far away?" we asked him.

"Below the mill, in the pasture on the far side, and above the stream."

"And how did you get them home?"

"Dad carried the calf. The mother followed. We had to wade the stream. And what a freshet is there this evening! It's high and wide. And there was the climb on this side, up to the stable. It was no fun. But it's good both are well and safe... That heifer just may mother some choice ones. It looks so to me."

"A farm-boy, a heifer and her first-born. It is a happy combination. There is a joy and pride in possession. An opportunity too for the lad to learn to do by doing: to practice the practical side of stock-tending: to assume its responsibilities, and to learn something of the economics of the farming. All in all, this is a fine training for a lad, no matter his subsequent vocation or calling.

Wind and shower today, and tonight. And for tomorrow? We hope a sunny glimpse of that returned "silver lining."

Until tomorrow — — Diary — Good night.
