Expect Imports To Ease Canadian Steel Shortage

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's acute steel shortage soon will result in big imports from abroad, it was reported here Thursday.

A. C. Leslie and Company Ltd. said in a newsletter that Canadian producers still are swamped with orders and imports from Europe will resume with the opening of the St. Lawrence river navigation season, around mid-April.

The firm, which sells steel among other metals, said:

"From now until the opening of navigation at Montreal the situation will be difficult for both user and supplier. There will be large tonnages arriving from abroad within the next few months, but a good percentage of this material is being sold now for delivery on arrival. A great number of firms are figuring jobs many months ahead, to be reasonably sure of having steel when required. This will be to their advantage and may save them a lot of worry and expense."

The shortage occurred although Canada increased steel output by about 40 per cent in 1955, to 4,500,000 tons, the newsletter said.

"No doubt a lot of the shortage is being caused by the large railway car building program, as well as some of the other very large projects currently on tap," it added. "In addition, thousands of tons will be needed by the mills themselves, for their own expansion programs. We do not look for much improvement in the situation for some time."

U.S. ESCAPED

An extended automobile industry strike did not affect United States steel production, which was taken up at once by other industries badly in need of the metal.

U.S. warehouses now were shipping regularly but the prices laid down in Canada were high.

British mills were doing everything possible to meet demands at home but could spare "a little" for export. Canada had imported fairly heavy tonnages of British plate last year and hoped to receive substantial shipments again this year.

"The European mills now are preparing orders for shipment on boats due to arrive after the opening of the port of Montreal," the newsletter said. "Canada's 1955 receipts from Europe rose substantially over previous years, and even higher tonnages are expected this year. While European prices are certainly high, it is hard to say what the Canadian consumer would do if this material weren't available."

First Annual Debutante's Ball Being Planned

The Charlottetown Kiwanis Club has announced its plan to hold a Debuntante's Ball at the Charlottetown Hotel on Easter Monday April 2nd., under the Distinguished Patronage of the Lieutenant Governor the Honourable T. W. L. Prowse and Mrs. Prowse.

The Charlottetown Kiwanis Club was chartered in 1947 and since that time has been active in service club activities. Among its major projects have been the presentation of movie projectors to both Orphanges and the erection and annual operation of the Kiddies Wading Pool in Victoria Park.

Mr. Wilfred Smith the President of the club has announced that it is hoped to make the Debutantes Ball an annual event, where young ladies of Prince Edward Island between the ages of 17 and 19 will be formally presented to the Lieutenant Governor.

Elsewhere in this newspaper is an announcement to parents who are desirous of having their daughters presented.

Service Writes New Poem For Yukoners Assn.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Robert W. Service, whose poems eulogized the gold-panning sourdough and the frozen Yukon where he lived, has written some new frontier verse.

"Old Sourdough" is in four short verses and was written from Service's Villa Aurora in Monaca to be read to "the gang" at the Vancouver Yukoners' Association annual dinner here March 10.

Now 83, Service writes of an aging sourdough living out his life in a warm climate. Service himself moved to Monaco on the French Riviera before the Second World War.

"Old Sourdough"

One meal a day is all I eat
At eighty-three;
From bed I leap with bounding feet
Into the sea:
A man who swims each morn at seven
May hope for heaven.

With ardor of an eager boy
I hail the day;
I have a rendez-vous with joy
Along the way;
Or hap' some humble victory
To hearten me.

How long and sweet my life has been!
Maybe because
When everything was not serene
I bluffed it was;
And still I live with rhythm though
My tempo's slow.

They tell me sourdoughs never die,
Just dim away!
Well, I'm pretty tough old guy
And wait the day
My golden wedding will be due—
"Be seeing you."

lining method of fishing. This is a type of fishing carried out by setting a long line of cod fish hooks and returning in the evening to haul the catch. Mr. MacKinnon felt that when this system of fishing could be handled mechanically many lobster fishermen could continue profitably after the season had closed.

"There are many profitable scallop beds around the shores of Prince Edward Island", said Mr. MacKinnon but scallop fishing depends to a great extent upon having refrigeration near at hand."

"All these things require careful study", he continued, "there is little use in spending a whole lot of money or making recommendations to fishermen until the feasability of the project has been tried".

CAUSEWAY

In making reference to the proposed causeway, Mr. MacKinnon said, "If we had an ocean drive between here and the Mainland it would be one of the greatest boons that has ever hit the tourist industry."

He told of the causeways connecting the Islands of Key West in Florida, stating that people come from all parts of the world to enjoy the ocean drive between these Islands. "It would be a wonderful thing for motorists to be able to go to and from this Island as they wished", he added.

Mr. MacKinnon paid high tribute to the Director of the Travel Bureau, Mr. Fraser and to the Director of fisheries, Mr. Gorman. "We are most fortunate in having this type of civil servants in our employ", he said.

"I am a lucky man that I got out of the Department of Highways before this winter", said Mr. MacKinnon who paid high tribute to his successor Hon. J. George MacKay. "Although tantalized beyond endurance, he never lost his unruffled bearing at any time".

EDUCATION

Speaking on Education, Mr. MacKinnon said that tremendous strides have been made during the past few years. He admitted that the Province was not quite up to the standards of other provinces but said "it must be remembered that our economy is much lower than that of other provinces."

R. R. Bell: "Is our standard better than Newfoundland".

Mr. MacKinnon: "Newfoundland has tremendous resources that just remain to be tapped. Our econom, is dependent upon what we can take from the first six inches of top soil or what we can haul from the depths of the sea."

In making reference to the Geological survey, the Minister said that he had talked to a good many of the men associated with the survey but had not found any who were willing "to stick their necks out" and say there was oil in the Province. "The best I could say on the matter is we have a 50 —50 chance of finding it".

Mr. MacKinnon said there had been greater strides made on behalf of the health of the Nation during the last ten years than in the centuries preceeding that time.

At the same time he re-affirmed his remarks of the previous day when he advocated assistance for country doctors. "I am not voicing the opinion of the Government when I speak in these terms, I am speaking as an individual who represents rural people", he said.

WEST RIVER BRIDGE

R. R. Bell: "What about the West River Bridge, what happened there?"

Mr. MacKinnon: "That is not my problem. We must agree that the best of engineers can make a mistake but I can tell you that a bridge will be built across the West River and the people of that area will have a good road as well.

He said that no part of the country was more deserving of consideration than the South Shore. "These people have had to haul their products over hilly territory on bad roads while other parts had either a railroad or paved road, or both".

The Minister had high praise for the Policy of artificial insemination being instituted by the Department of Agriculture. He visualized a great improvement in the live stock of the Province with the use of high class bulls, not ordinarily available.

He felt that Island farmers with work and good leadership could get out of the rut in which they now find themselves. "After all if most farmers were asked where they would go if they thought they should leave here—none of them would really want to move," he said.

Canadian Club

Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto and president of the Association of Canadian Clubs, will address a dinner meeting of the Canadian Club of P.E. Island at the Charlottetown Hotel on Monday March 12.

Hash Coming Up

Seeing is believing — If the wives of the men in the above picture had any misgivings as to their husbands' ability in the culinary field such misgivings could hardly be justified by the adept manner in which they are seen serving at Trinity Men's dinner last evening. Left to right are Lloyd Grant, L.G. MacKay, Ted Chandler, John Skinner and Bill Robinson.

More than four hundred and fifty people were served dinner by the Trinity Men's Association. The event was unique, in that the full course meal was prepared and served by the men themselves. Some of the feminine connoisseurs were heard to pass such remarks as "delightful" — "delicious".

It took three sittings of about 150 to complete the servings. A pleasing musical program featuring organ music by Royston F. Mugford; songs by Ches. Cooper and instrumental music by George and Leone Weatherbie lent a most enjoyable atmosphere to the repast.

Waiters in white shirt and black bow tie, capably attended the wants of the guests: a hard working group kept plates replenished while still another group looked after the less glamorous task of washing dishes.

Continuous film showings took place in Heartz Memorial Hall for those waiting their turn to eat.

The dinner which is one of the projects of the Men's Association was under the direction of the President, Mr. K.A. Parker. Catering was under the supervision of Mr. Myron Bell. The willing assistance of about forty others made the event one of the most successful in the year.

To Introduce U.I.C. Benefit Resolution In The House

In the Legislature yesterday Mr. William Acorn (Liberal) First Kings gave notice that he will introduce a resolution to the House requesting unemployment insurance benefits for farmer's and fishermen's helpers. The resolution is seconded by Mr. Harvey Douglas (Liberal) Second Kings.

The following is the text of the resolution:

Whereas Unemployment Insurance has been a great benefit in this Province where employment is necessarily seasonal,

And whereas farmers' and fishermen's helpers do not qualify for unemployment benefits under the regulations now in force,

And whereas because of this regulation farmers and fishermen who employ help are at a great disadvantage in securing employees even when they are able to offer comparable wages,

And whereas farmers and fishermen who are unable to secure employment in the winter months suffer great hardships by reason of not being paid unemployment insurance,

Be it therefore resolved that this Legislative Assembly in Session assembled urge upon the Federal authorities the desirability of amending the regulations to have farmers' and fishermen's helpers made eligible for Unemployment Insurance.

Shakesperian Play Receives Kinsmen Backing

The Kinsmen Club decided unanimously last night to sponsor the appearance of the Canadian Players in the presentation of "Hamlet" next January. This decision was reached when President Sam Robinson presented his report at the weekly supper meeting held at the Charlottetown Hotel, following an interview with representatives of the Players a few days ago.

In submitting his report, Mr. Robinson stressed the benefits which would accrue to the citizens generally, and the young folk in particular, through witnessing the production Shakespeare by the recognized talent of the Players organization.

Joe Shelfoon reported progress in connection with the Kinsmen Show to be held for three nights early in April. Freemont Archer showed a film on behalf of the Red Cross Blood Donors entitled "Prescription for Life."

President Robinson was chairman of the meeting with Frank Johnson as co-chairman. Vern Garrett was a guest.

nition afforded these two producers.

The Minister of Highways was highly commended by Mr. St. John for the road program carried out during the past year. He spoke particularly about the causeway at Black Pond which he said had removed a menace to highway traffic in that area.

MENACE REMOVED

He said the old bridge was too narrow for cars to meet and when it was demolished it was found to be in such bad condition, many marvelled that it had stood as long as it had. "Perhaps this is a case of locking the barn before the horse was stolen", he added.

Mr. St. John said the road program for the coming year was in the hands of the Minister and it was anticipated that most of it would be completed at the end of activities nest Fall. He noted that some gravelling remained to be done in the District.

One criticism which the Souris member had to offer about the snow removal program was the plugging of secondary roads by the plows when they were clearing the main highways. He brought the matter to the attention of the Minister and expressed the hope that this practice would not continue.

John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, said much had been accomplished. Earlier he had assured delegates that his government would not allow any relaxation in the military power of the region despite Russia's new "soft line" in Asia.

Behind the SEATO shield, he said, there must be a strategic striking force, powerful and mobile enough to protect the area from aggression.

Summing up the talks, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said: "I think we can claim we have done a workmanlike job." Britain would consider carefully suggestions for strengthening the economic side of SEATO's work.
