

Farm Notes.

There is no more healthful method of keeping the stables, sheds, and pens clean, than to give them a good coat of lime-wash. The wash is easily and quickly made as follows: Slake a bushel of fresh lime in a pork or other barrel, with water enough to make a thick paste, after which fill up the barrel with hot water, and let it stand for a few hours. The wash may be applied in various ways. It may be spread upon the walls with a large white-wash brush, and no pains need be taken to do a neat job. Whatever wash falls upon the floor in the operation is not lost, but helps to sweeten the stable or stall. The quickest and most satisfactory method is to use a force pump, by which the lime-wash can be thrown into every corner.—American Agriculturist for September.

Pinkeys is troubling the horses of the blue grass region, Kentucky. It is also accompanied by scarlet and other fevers.

He moved over one seat to get alongside of an old farmer, and then asked:—"How was wheat in this section this year?" "Only medium, sir, I did intend to get the old lady a silk dress this fall; but wheat turned out so poorly that I can't do it." "Hay pretty good?" "Nothing extra. I was going to get the old woman a new cloak this fall; but she'll have to wear the old one another year, I guess." "Oats looks fair?" "Well, they won't begin to hold out. My crop will fall short over 100 bushels. I was going to send the old woman on a visit to York State this fall, but I guess she will have to stay at home." "But potatoes are certainly a big crop?" "Yes—potatoes are a big yield; and that will cut the price down to 2 shillings a bushel. I was going to let the old woman get a false set of teeth this fall; but the way things look now rather goes to show that she'll have to ram along until next year."—Wall Street News.

A large consignment of valuable stock for Canada was recently sent from Glasgow by the Allan S. S. "Buneco Ayraan" for Quebec. They carry with them the best blood the country produces.

The census shows that there were in the United States in 1880, 12,611,148 cows, or about one cow to every four people. This includes only milch cows. These cows were estimated to be worth $64,759,329, and the average value of the animals is a little over $5.

The wheat crop in the State of Michigan is being splendidly harvested. The heat has moderated.

There is a farmer in Ohio who has not sheared his sheep in five years, because, as he claims, Providence intended the sheep to wear their wool.

Insane Asylum Exposures at N. Y.

Samuel O. Bright has begun a suit for $25,000 against W. R. Sprague and Weeks Washburne, two physicians, upon whose certificates O. Bright was sent by his family, who objected to his marriage, to a Middletown, N. Y. insane asylum, whence he was released by his young wife, who established his sanity in Court. It has been discovered that W. J. Hamilton, for the past six years confined as a lunatic in Ward's Island insane asylum is perfectly sane. He was ordered to be committed by Police Justice Kasmire, before whom he was taken on a charge of drunkenness. Kasmire himself was then insane, and has since died from insanity. Hamilton, upon protesting, was straight-jacketed and suffered such horrors that he was afraid ever to protest again. His friends supposed him dead. The case was brought to light through the escape from the same asylum of T. D. Maitland, another sane man, after several years' imprisonment as a lunatic, who says many such cases came to the asylum.

Matthew Arnold in America.

The Toronto Globe says that an amusing instance of the inability of Englishmen to understand American exaggerative honour is furnished by Mr. Matthew Arnold in an article on America published in a recent number of the Nineteenth Century. Mr. Arnold says some undeservingly harsh things of the Americans, and to make out his case gravely quotes a statement of the New York Advertiser to the effect that in the United States "not one man in a hundred thousand has either the manners or the cultivation of a gentleman, or changes his shirt more than once a week, or eats with a fork." Of course the Nation never intended this to be taken seriously, but Mr. Arnold's sense of honour was not sufficient to prevent him accepting it as a liberal depiction of American manners.

Oatmeal.

Oatmeal in all its various forms is good and should be used, at least, once a day by every one in winter, either in the form of porridge or pudding. Oatmeal being about three times as rich in oil as wheat, is a splendid heat-giver in cold weather, and when properly cooked is very digestible, and enjoyable. In the form of cakes, we should not recommend it as a regular article of diet.

The submarine vessel now being constructed at Bucharest, it is claimed, will accomplish that which no other submarine craft has ever been found equal to. The plan contemplates a vessel moving under water for twelve hours without any renewal of air. Steam is the motor employed, and the speed reckoned upon is greater than that attained by sailing vessels. Practically the management consists in simply sinking the vessel by opening certain valves, but its return to the surface involves more complex operations. An electric light, which is to be supplied, will, it is ascertained, render objects fairly distinguishable. For renewal of air it is not necessary that the vessel rise to the surface—the means resorted to for this purpose being an apparatus that can be sent up, and which, by working a pump, forces air into suitable receivers.

A New Orleans man invented an intoxicating beverage, which he said was bound to revolutionize the process of pleasurable getting drunk. He invited some friends to dinner, and tried the new liquid on them. They drank it with avidity, and rolled contentedly under the table; but next day they had to be put under a physician's care, and the host has gone to work to perfect his invention.
