

PROHIBITION. THE TUNNEL. EQUAL RIGHTS. COUNTRY before PARTY. MUNICIPAL REFORM!

The Morning Guardian.

APRIL 13, 1891.

Wanted—A Tunnel.

No wonder one of our enterprising advertising firms headed their advertisement, Wanted—a tunnel. The delay and inconvenience to which the Island merchants have been subjected in connection with this spring's importations would almost drive men with a little less determination out of business and out of the country.

Progressing.

Yes, the world "do an old." The other day we were shown an old memorandum book containing the names of prominent citizens and church members who signed the papers which secured for saloon keepers under the old license law the privilege of selling intoxicating liquor.

Coming Back.

Late advice to the Department of Agriculture from North Dakota states that the greatest consternation exists there over the emigration campaign opened in that State by the Canadian Government among the Canadian settlers.

The Springhill Fund.

Some trouble has arisen in connection with the disposal of the Springhill relief funds. Instead of arranging to have the money expended solely for the benefit of the injured men and the widows and orphans for whom the money was subscribed, we are told that it is now proposed by the relief committee at Springhill to place the subscriptions in a general fund for the relief of accidents generally.

Is the Grip a New Disease?

The most startling theory about the Grip has just been advanced by Dr. Cecil Sailer, of Philadelphia, a well-known specialist in throat troubles, who in conversation with a travelling companion a day or two ago declared to be his firm belief after years of investigation that that which we call the grip for lack of any better name is an absolutely new disease, in no way akin to influenza, and in all probability a nervous affection or disease of the brain primarily.

Report of the Minister of Indian Affairs.

The report of the Minister of Indian Affairs for 1890 states that the Indian population has been decreased by the ravages of la grippe. The Indians in British Columbia and the Northwest Territories complain that their wives and daughters are sent away for purposes of prostitution, and legislation dealing with the subject may be necessary.

Sali Had to Leave the Hotel.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—Stanley's servant, Sali, has come to the conclusion that it is more pleasant to be a negro in England than in the Southern States of America.

"When I was sitting in the Kimball House, said he, a man came and shook me and called me a d—d negro. I found that he was the policeman. He told me to get out; that they wanted no negroes at that hotel. Of course, I left. The people in England are white, and yet they do not do that way. I have shaken hands with the Queen. I have dined with the Prince of Wales. I do not want to stay in such a country as this."

The hotel people say that they could not entertain a negro under any circumstances, but that Sali was impertinent and deserved what he got.

A Peculiar Case.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 8.—County Constable McFredericks, of Cayuga, arrived in this city to-day and took charge of Joe, Loci, an Italian, who has been confined in the Asylum for the last three years and is now said to be completely cured of his insanity. Loci was taken to Cayuga where he will be tried on the charge of murder. Nearly four years ago a house near Cayuga was burned down and a woman and two children burned to death. Loci was the hired man about the farm and the fire occurred during the absence of the proprietor. The Italian was arrested on the charge of murder, and strong evidence was obtained against him, but before the case could be tried, while the prisoner was confined in jail, he went violently insane and has since been undergoing treatment at the Hamilton asylum. Besides a charge of murder, there are three charges of arson against Loci. The case will be very interesting, owing to the peculiar circumstances surrounding it. The prisoner seems perfectly sane, but does not realize the grave charges which stand against him.

The Trouble in India.

SIMLA, April 9.—A letter received here yesterday from the leader of the Manipuris, who ordered the massacre of chief commissioner James W. Quinton and his colleagues at Manipur, says: The British troops attacked and massacred my soldiers, also killed women and children. In addition they threw women and children into the burning houses and desecrated temples. Therefore I killed chief commissioner Quinton's party. The party referred to as killed by the Manipuris was composed of chief commissioner Quinton, Col. St. Kene in command of the escort of Ghoorkas, Lieut. Simpson, Mr. F. St. C. Gummood, British police agent at Manipur, and Messrs. Cosins and Melville, the three last named being civilians. Lieut. Grant, who was in command of the British force which stormed and captured Fort Thebat recently, and Capt. Pregrave, in command of a detachment of troops sent to reinforce Lieut. Grant, one of whom is reported to have been killed during further disturbances, are now both said to be alive.

Pay of Census Enumerators.

The census enumerators are to be paid so much per head of the population registered instead of a stated salary. The fourteen chief census officers will receive $5 per day and travelling expenses as long as the work lasts in their district, supposedly from a month to five weeks. The city commissioners will each receive a gratuity of $50, and $4 for every 100 families registered in their district. The rural commissioners will each receive a gratuity of $100, and $4 for every 100 families registered. The enumerators, who will go from house to house, will receive three cents for each head of the family up to the head of the family registered, and three cents for every death recorded that occurred in 1891 up to the time of taking the census. County enumerators will receive in addition 15 cents for every farm recorded, and 20 cents for every industrial establishment. They will be paid an aggregated sum after the work is over. The law provides on the other hand that the enumerators pay shall not exceed $3 a day. This means that if any enumerators should record more than 9,000 names in a month, he would not receive any further pecuniary benefit beyond the day's pay. By paying per head, though, the work will be pushed more rapidly.

Pen-Sketch of Barnum.

He issued yearly "proclamations," and from the earliest twitter of spring the fences glowed with Barnum's war cry, striking failure to the pockets of mind-be rivals and charming the juvenile mind with anticipation. Everywhere the traveller could read, in yard-long letters, "Wait for me! Barnum is coming! Wait for me! Greatest Show on Earth!"

They waited and they went. Even the college professors went to seek on the unobscured "circus" boards a realistic impression of the classic chariot race; naturalists came to see the collections of the animals, and the "talking machines" and other marvels made annual wonder. In his best days Barnum was a man of remarkably fine presence. He was nearly 6 feet and well proportioned, with a face which combined power and good humor. He was one of those men who would be selected out of a crowd in any case of emergency, and his facilities were such as to ensure success in any one of the leading specialties of life. He married early, and found his wife an efficient helpmeet through all his early troubles; but her health failed under life's burdens, and she died in 1873. The fruit of this union was three daughters, all of whom are married.

Talmage's Sermon.

very loud in its bragadoocio it must have some to mention. Certainly, if you come to speak of educational institutions it is not Yale, it is not Harvard, it is not Princeton, it is not Middlebury, it is not Cambridge, or Oxford, it is not any institution from which a diploma would not be a disgrace. Do you point to the German universities as exceptions? I have to tell you that all the German universities to-day are under positive Christian influence, except the University of Heidelberg, where the ruffianly students cut and mangle and murder each other as a matter of pride instead of infamy. Do you mention Girard College, Philadelphia, as an exception, that college established by the will of Mr. Girard which forbade religious instruction, and the entrance of clergymen within its gates. My reply is that I lived for seven years near that college and knew many of its professors to be Christian instructors, and no better Christian influences are to be found in any college than in Girard College.

Here is infidelity; no prayer on her lips no benediction on her brow, both hands outstretched, what for? To fight Christianity. Where are her schools, her colleges her asylums of mercy? Suppose you halt and count on one finger the name of any institution founded by infidelity, supported entirely by infidelity, pronounced against God and the Christian religion, yet nothing to make the world better. Not one! Not one!

Is infidelity so poor, so starving, so mean, so useless? Get out your miserable paper of the universe! Crawl into some rat-hole of everlasting nothingness. Infidelity standing to-day amid the suffering, groaning, dying nations and yet doing absolutely nothing, save trying to impede those who are toiling until they fall exhausted into their graves in trying to make the world better. Gather up all the work, all the merciful work, that infidelity has ever done, add it all together, and there is not so much nobility in it as in the smallest bead of that sister of charity who last night went up a dark alley of the town, put a jar of jelly for an invalid appetite on a broken stand, and then knelt on the bare floor, praying the mercy of Christ upon the dying soul.

But I thank God that this plague of infidelity will be stayed. Many of those who hear me now by the Holy Ghost upon their hearts will cease to be scoffers and will become disciples, and the day will arrive when all nations will accept the Scriptures. What will be the use of the Book of Genesis, descriptive of how the world was made, when the world is destroyed? What will be the use of the Book of Revelation, standing as you will with your foot on the glassy sea, and your hand on the ringing harp, and your forehead chaplet with eternal coronation, amid the amethystine and twelve-gated glories of heaven? The emerald dashing its green against the beryl, and the beryl dashing its blue against the sapphire, and the sapphire throwing its light on the jacinth, and the jacinth dashing its fire against the chrysopezza, and you and I standing in the glories of the thousand sunsets.
