Dr. Florence Murray To Be Honored By Dalhousie

Dr. Florence Murray, famous Prince Edward Island medical missionary, and Geoffrey Waddington, Director of Music for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Dalhousie University at the Spring Convocation ceremonies on May 17, President A.E. Kerr announced yesterday.

With the support of Zion Presbyterian Church of Charlottetown, Dr. Murray sailed for Korea in 1921 and after language study, was appointed to work at Hamhung. There she built a hospital and was its superintendent until her work was interrupted by World War II. After being interned for some months by the Japanese, she was repatriated in 1942. Following the Japanese surrender, Dr. Murray returned to Korea in 1947 and served at Ewha Woman's University, Seoul in the pre-Medical department and at the hospital. Later she was appointed to Severance Medical College and Hospital.

In 1950 when the North Korean forces invaded Seoul, Dr. Murray escaped, with only 15 minutes warning, to a freighter which took her to Japan. After a brief furlough in Canada, she was able to return to Korea in 1951 as the first female official permitted to re-enter the country. She was placed at Pusan and did refugee work at the Australian Mission hospital and at several other hospitals in Pusan and it was here that she was decorated by Denmark for her services to refugees on a Danish Red Cross ship in Pusan harbor.

In 1953 she was able to return to Seoul and helped to rehabilitate Severance College and Hospital. "Dalhousie is delighted," said Dr. Kerr, "that two Canadians of such distinction as Dr. Murray and Mr. Waddington have agreed to accept the honors which the university has offered to them. In honoring Dr. Murray we are recognizing the outstanding and self-sacrificing work of one of our own graduates. Dr. Murray, who has been an active medical worker in Korea since 1921, graduated in Medicine in 1919 in company with an outstanding group of men who, because of the urgent need of doctors, had been returned from military service to complete their medical studies."

Family Has Ordeal With Ice Wall

EDSON, Alta. (CP)—Ferryman Mike Iwanciwski shouted across a river to a neighbor:
"Stick around and you'll really see something."
The "something" was more than the ferryman had expected. A 30-foot-high wall of ice came roaring down the McLeod river, 105 miles west of Edmonton, and caused a terrifying ordeal for Iwanciwski, his wife, three children and his parents who were visiting. Iwanciwski's small home is on the highest point of land near the McLeod river ferry crossing. Every year the spring ice breakup makes a spectacular sight.

TOOK CAMERA
Signs of a breakup were seen last Thursday so Iwanciwski took his camera and walked over the river ice to the ferry in his winter berth. His wife, children and parents were watching from the bank.
Mike saw a neighbor, a Mr. Stauff, on the opposite bank and shouted to him to watch.
Then the ferryman suddenly saw the wall of ice. Realizing the danger, he decided to make his way to the bank but before he could take a step, water flooded over the ice between the ferry and his house.

He called to his wife to take the children and climb a nearby tree near the house. Mrs. Iwanciwski said later she knew she couldn't climb the tree with the three children so decided instead to put them on the roof of a lean-to at the rear of the house. The children, aged 8, 7 and 2½, were crying with fright.

STAND BEHIND TREE
On the ferry, Mike lost sight of his house and family as the ice wall went by.
His mother and father couldn't make it to the roof so took shelter behind the big tree. At one time, they were standing in icy water three feet deep.
In less than half an hour, it was all over. Mike says it will take two weeks to repair the ferry and the ferry tower.

Khrushchev Complains Of Treatment During His Visit

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev complained loudly to Russian friends at a big diplomatic party Tuesday night of what he called piggyish treatment at the hands of some Britons.
Vodka flowed freely but the Kremlin leader showed none of his usual gregariousness at a Soviet reception for a crowd of 4,000. The guests included leading British politicians, British noblemen, President Eisenhower's special disarmament adviser, Harold Stassen, comedian Charlie Chaplin and Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury.
Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin were guests of honor at this first big social function the Russians have given since the British-Soviet negotiations on world problems reached a show-down stage.

REFUSE TO BUDGE
(Stanley Priddle, Reuters diplomatic correspondent, reported that the Russian leaders seemed certain to return to Moscow empty handed.
Tuesday morning, they held their last major meeting with Prime Minister Eden. Both sides refused to budge on issues like disarmament and the Western ban on strategic trading with Russia.
(The only point on which they gained an inch was the question of promoting better contacts between the Soviet and British peoples, Priddle said.)
Both British and Russian officials said Khrushchev was boiling over the treatment he got Monday night at a dinner given for him and Bulganin by leaders of the Labor party.

RED CHINA UNDER REVIEW

Far-Ranging House Debate Held On External Affairs

OTTAWA (CP)—Question of diplomatic recognition by Canada of Communist China is under constant review by the government. External Affairs Minister Pearson said Tuesday.
In a far-ranging, 95-minute discussion in the Commons external affairs committee, he also:
1. Welcomed as "encouraging and hopeful" the statement of U.S. State Secretary Dulles that NATO should be more than a military alliance.
2. Disclosed that the government is considering whether to ask the U.S. for corridors across the Alaska Panhandle.
3. Said Canada will have to maintain its true supervisory team in Laos longer than expected but that the situation in Viet Nam is still uncertain.
4. Declared that it has been more difficult in the last two years to cross the Canada-U.S. border—both ways—and that administrative steps should be taken to open the border wider.

SUGGESTED ANOTHER LOOK
John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative external affairs spokesman, said Mr. Pearson had "held out the olive branch" toward Canadian recognition of Red China in a speech last August in Vancouver.
Mr. Pearson said he had suggested Canada have another look at the question. He had gone no further. (The minister told the Commons in February that the cabinet had taken another look and had decided against immediate recognition.)
Mr. Diefenbaker asked assurance that there will be no immediate recognition or Canadian support for admittance of Red China into the United Nations.
Mr. Pearson said no final policy should be kept continually under review "and we are doing that," he said.
