MR. AND MRS. BASIL MacKINNON

Wedding Vows Exchanged At Double Ring Ceremony

Zion Presbyterian Church was the scene of the recent marriage of Elizabeth Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cairns, Charlottetown, and Basil Henry MacKinnon, son of Jack MacKinnon of Charlottetown and the late Mrs. MacKinnon.

Rev. R. L. Gillis officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was decoarted with baskets of mixed summer flowers and the pews marked with white satin bows.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Harvey MacKinnon while Faye Rogerson sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of pure silk organza over taffeta with overskirt of lace. The detachable train was accented with matching lace. Her bouffant veil of silk bridal illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Paul McGonnell was matron of honor. Ruby and Carol Cairns, sisters of the bride were bridesmaids. All wore cherry red peau de soie sheath dresses with overskirts. Their headdresses were of matching fabric with short illusion veils. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Wayne MacKinnon and the ushers were Wyman Cairns and Gordon Cairns, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a sheath dress of aqua shantung with matching jacket and hat white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following for 75 guests was held at Cornwall where the bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Gillis to which the groom responded. The toast to the bridesmaids was proposed by Wayne MacKinnon. Mrs. Percy Fay, sister of the bride circulated the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a two-piece dress of yellow eyelet lace with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The newlyweds are residing at 6 Belmont Street, Charlottetown.

REV. HUGH C. AND MRS. MacLEAN

Young Couple Will Make Edinburgh First Home

On Saturday, Aug. 21, St. Paul's Church, Charlottetown, was the setting for a colorful double ring ceremony, when Norma Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunter-Duvar and Rev. Hugh Christie, son of Dr. Frank MacLean of Dominion - Chalmers United Church, Ottawa, formerly of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown and Mrs. MacLean, were married by Rev. Louis Elias, rector of St. Paul's, assisted by Dr. MacLean.

The church was attractively decorated with white gladioli and the music was by the choir under the direction of the organist George Thompson. As the bride, on the arm of her father, reached the chancel steps, the solo, "O Perfect Love", was rendered by Norman Hall. During the signing of the register Mr. Hall sang "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride wore a floor - length gown of ivory silk faille with empire waist - line and a short chapel train. A matching cap supported her lace veil which had been worn by her grandmother. She wore as her only ornament, pearls, gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses.

Bridal attendants, her sister, Andrea, maid of honour, Mrs. John MacLean and Pauline Johnston bridesmaids, wore floor - length gowns of peacock blue crystellette made on empire lines with full dress - length trains. Their headdresses were of matching material trimmed with pearls and short net veils and they carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Rev. Ian MacLean. The ushers were Rev. Alexander MacLean, Ivan Hunter-Duvar, Blair Wood and Allan MacLean.

The bride's mother wore an aqua sheath dress of embossed damask with a draped turban of net to match. Her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. MacLean wore a raspberry lace dress with matching picture hat of velvet and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Fathers of Confederation Memorial Centre. The Hon. F. W. Hyndman proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded. The best man then proposed a toast to the bridesmaids and read the congratulatory telegrams. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. John Bond.

For travelling, the bride chose an exsemble of turquoise silk shantung with matching hat and a corsage of white carnations.

After a short honeymoon in the Maritimes, Rev. and Mrs. MacLean will return to attend the wedding of the bride's sister, Andrea. They will then leave for Ottawa to visit the groom's parents before sailing for Edinburgh, Scotland, where Rev. MacLean will further studies at Edinburgh University.

Out of province guests in addition to close members of the families of the bride and groom included Rev. and Mrs. George MacLean, Halifax; Mr. and Mrs. Lelan MacLean, Truro; Isobel Macdonald, Sydney; Gladys Macdonald, Campbellton; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Stewart, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall, Halifax; Mrs. J. W. Coughlin, and Jean Coughlin, Chatham, N.B. and Mr. and Mrs. John MacLean of Moncton, N.B.

ELLEN'S DIARY

With Robins Gone, Nests Are Deserted And Cold

"And did you notice a difference in the fire this morning, Ellen?" James queried with a smile as we breakfasted. "I cleaned the stovepipes and flue yesterday, when you were away."

"Yes" we said, "though we had the idea it burned well because our boy - friend was in the best of good humor this morning!" we chuckled.

Nice the morning was. Pleasantly warm. But now there were signs about of a decided change of season. The maple in the barnyard was putting on its Autumn's hues. Presently we saw the one girl of the farm, smooth the washed sweater she had pinned to the clothesline. Above on a limb of birch, the robin's nest was, as we were aware, deserted and cold. Before long, the thought came, she too, this lass of the place, would also be up and away. This time, she would not be going out each morning, as in her school and college days, but would be among the number of Island students, September was taking away from their home Province to some seat of learning elsewhere. Even now, she was preparing to join this exodus... The wide - windowed lookout room under the eaves of this house, her chosen retreat summer - through, would soon be a deserted spot and lonely, her family left more or less forlorn.

"We must take cuttings off those outdoor geraniums, before the frost catches them" we said, from the doorway.

"They grew well. This was a good summer for geraniums — sunny and warm. But now" she said, "there's that old feeling in the air, isn't there? Autumn's, it is."

Yet full of sunshine the day was. And the wind was a gentle thing, come down by way of spicy green aisles from the west...

The Island's summer - guests continue to leave us, to turn back now to the homes and duties that are theirs. By car and trailer they move. The train's whistle speaks of departures, as does the beat of the planes passing overhead. Vacation - time is over. Schools are being re - opened... Nice memories however the summer had given us at Alderlea. Folks have come by: the stranger, as well as the old friend and new. This evening it was a pair from Kansas, who vacationing briefly at a seaside resort wished to gain a close sight of Island farming..... And James said, "Oh we don't farm so much nowadays. Just keep some cattle, and sheep, a horse or two and a few sows. Grow a bit of hay and grain. That's all. I don't call it farming at all! But the young folks seem to like it." And with the younger farmer for their guide, they seemed to enjoy seeing this, our kind, of husbandry.

There came too a rare visitor: a Swiss girl, and her American husband and little son from New York. The laddie said his "Good - night" in his mother's tongue. She will bring a wooden cradle across land and sea from her homeland, in which to rock the new baby, in the home on which a stork commences now to lay the foundations for a nest.

Another came by: a brown - eyed lady and her Canadian husband, and son, adopted Islanders now for a number of summers. This couple with their two sons holidayed also this summer in her native England, renewing friendships, visiting relatives and enjoying much, not only their outings to famed city and town but also to the beautiful English country-side. But now the Montreal home calls. Tomorrow their Island home will be shuttered and lone.

"But there'll come another summer!" James' smile was as hopeful as ours at the parting.

And for us, if all goes well till the dawn - break, there will come a new September day in the morning.

Until tomorrow — Diary — Good - night.....

Big "Production" Salad Arrives As The Entree

WHEN salads were first served, they consisted of "greens" tossed with plain French dressing, served between the main course at dinner and dessert as a respite from heavy foods.

As years passed, more ingredients were successfully added, until today a well - made substantial salad containing poultry or meat or fish or cheese or eggs or a combination is accepted as an "entree."

Measurements level; recipes for 6

MUSHROOM, CHICKEN AND DEVILED EGG SALAD

1 tbsp. instant minced onion
1 tbsp. water
2 c. diced, cold chicken
1 (4 oz.) can mushrooms, drained and sliced
1 c. diced celery
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. tarragon leaves, crumbled
⅛ tsp. ground black pepper
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
3 tbsp. mayonnaise
1 head lettuce (small)
6 deviled eggs (recipe follows)

Combine onion and water. Let stand 10 min. Toss with salt, tarragon, black pepper, chicken, mushrooms, celery, salt, tarragon, black pepper, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Serve in a salad bowl lined with lettuce. Garnish with the Deviled Eggs. Serve as an entree salad.

DEVILED EGGS

6 large hard - cooked eggs
½ tsp. salt
1-16 tsp. ground black pepper
2 tbsp. fine - chopped celery
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
1½ instant minced onion, rehydrated in 1½ tsp. water
3 tbsp. mayonnaise

Shell and cut eggs lengthwise into halves. Remove yolks, mash and rub through sieve. Mix with salt, black pepper, celery and lemon juice. Mix rehydrated onion and mayonnaise. Stir into egg yolk mixture; mix well. Spoon into hollowed hard-cooked egg whites.

MONDAY DINNER

Cream of Asparagus Soup,
Hot or Chilled Mushroom, Chicken and Deviled Egg Salad
Dinner Rolls
Fresh Peach Cocktail with Ladyfingers and Coconut Macaroons
Hot or Iced Coffee or Tea, Milk

FRESH PEACH COCKTAIL

3 or 4 soft, ripe fresh peaches
1 c. fresh orange juice
¼ c. fresh lemon juice
1-3 c. sugar
1-16th tsp. salt
1 c. crushed ice
6 sprigs fresh mint leaves

Peel and slice peaches. Measure—there should be 1½c. Buzz 20 seconds in electric blender, ½ c. at a time, along with 1-3 c. off orange juice. Or mash and put through a food mill or coarse sieve. Mix in lemon juice, sugar, salt and crushed ice. Serve in cocktail galsses or punch cups. Garnish: sprig of mint. Makes 1 qt.

THE CHEF SUGGESTS

Serve Peach Cocktail as a regular cocktail, or for dessert, as we suggested in our menu, or for between - times refreshment with petits fours, ladyfingers or macaroons.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES C. CULLEN

Reception At Curling Club Follows August Wedding

Saint Dunstan's Basilica was the setting for the recent marriage of Sandra Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Doucette, Charlottetown, and James Cavan Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cullen, Charlottetown.

Rev. F. Clarence Roche performed the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with potted mums and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Joseph Dougan while Eileen Grant sang "Ave Maria", "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Oh Lord I Am Not Worthy".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie with fitted bodice of Alencon lace scalloped under the bustline, and full length lily pointed sleeves. A lace chapel train accented her sheath gown and her elbow length veil was held in place by a high tiara of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses, ivy and lily of the valley.

Lorraine Doucette, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Brenda, also sister of the bride and Barbara Doucette, cousin of the bride were bridesmaids. They wore floor length sheath gowns of olive green peau de soie. Their headpieces were matching green petal shaped flowers with short illusion veils, made by the bride. They carried nosegays of white mums.

Paula Marie Cullen, sister of the groom, and Sharon Belinda Larter, cousin of the bride the flower girls, were in knee length dresses of white lace with under skirts of pink, and matching pink bows at the waist. Their headpieces were flowered bands with bows at the side. They wore white accessories and carried nosegays of white and pink mums.

The groom was attended by Gordon Whitlock and the ushers were Sterling Lund and Frank Dow.

As the couple left the church, they were saluted by the guides of the 5th Basilica Guide Company of which Mrs. Cullen is captain.

For a reception for 100 guests at the Charlottetown Curling Club, the bride's mother received wearing a pink crepe dress with a matching coat of pink lace. Her accessories were pink and her corsage was of white roses.

The bridegroom's mother was in a beige dress and matching lace coat with cocoa accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

J. Pius Callaghan was master of ceremonies and Lynne Cullen, cousin of the groom circulated the guest book.

For a honeymoon on the Island, the bride chose a navy blue walking suit of wool boucle with a red and white dickie and matching scarf around the collar. Her hat was navy blue trimmed with red and white patent leather, and her accessories were red. She wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullen will reside at 243 Elm Avenue.

Out of the province guests included Mr. and Mrs. Earl MacKinnon and daughter, New Glasgow, N.S.; Mrs. Stewart MacLaughlan, Pictou, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Roberts and family, Halifax, N.S. and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sullivan, Saint John, N.B.
