Exporters Seek Break On Credits Insurance

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) — The Export Credits Insurance Corporation should not try to make money for the government out of the premiums it charges Canada's exporting firms, the Canadian Export Association said here.

The 21st annual meeting of the association approved a resolution calling on the Crown corporation, which sells Canadian exporters insurance against customers' defaulting, to operate as nearly as possible on a break-even basis.

The resolution noted the corporation earned $1,660,000 before taxes last year and had an accumulated earned surplus of $3,254,000.

The 300 delegates approved the motion although D. T. Aitken, president and general manager of ECIC, said the corporation is in fact working on the basis now.

He said in the resolutions debate it has taken 19 years since the corporation came into being to build up the earned surplus.

RETURN IS SMALL

The earnings represented a return of one-fifth of one per cent. On the corporation's business—a return, he said, that would hardly be satisfactory if it were out to make a profit.

He said the corporation's rates are adjusted constantly to give exporters the lowest possible premiums. Last year after Parliament decided the corporation would no longer have to pay taxes, rates had been cut 15 per cent.

The association also passed a resolution calling on the corporation to provide insurance for single sales or all sales to one country, instead of insisting an exporter insure his sales to all foreign countries.

The association said this "global coverage" rule is an effective "disincentive" to the development of new markets since it required the exporter to pay premiums on sales to long-established customers as well as new riskier ones.

Other motions approved:

The government to consider a 150-per-cent tax allowance on costs involved in seeking foreign engineering and capital equipment contracts that result in new export countries

SIMILAR TERMS SOUGHT

Credit insurance coverage on terms as long as those being offered competitors in other countries.

The government to give top priority to the forthcoming report of the royal commission on taxation.

Maintenance of the price of the Canadian dollar at its present level.

The federal and provincial governments and the economic council of Canada to consider potential inflation "to be a matter of gravest concern to government, business and organized labor alike, demanding priority attention by leaders in all three sectors."

MONEY CHANGEOVER

New Zealand anticipates it will take 18 months for the public to become used to using the new decimal currency when it is introduced in 1967.

Pravda Editor Remains On Job

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda Editor Paval A. Satyukov returned to work Monday after a trip to Paris. He criticized dispatches of Western reporters last week quoting official sources as saying he would be fired in the wake of Premier Khrushchev's downfall.

Satyukov came back to Moscow Sunday night. A member of the Pravda staff reported Satyukov was in his office working Monday.

Speaking to reporters, Satyukov did not specifically deny he was losing his job. But he denounced reporters whose stories he said he had seen in France, accusing them of bad reporting. He did not answer questions.

Police Gave Show Girl First Boost

MONTREAL (CP) — If it hadn't been for the police, Sophia Couturier might not have become the successful showbusiness personality she is.

At 17, she became Canada's first frogwoman because of "a sort of a dare," she said here during a visit to her home town.

Now living in Florida, she took a course in skindiving and then began to look for a watery job. "I was turned down in a few places and then I was hired for two summers by the Quebec provincial police."

Her swimming career progressed from searching for missing objects for the police to the professional diving and water ballets she and her husband now organize.

Leo Couturier, New Brunswick - born professional high diver, first taught Sophia to dive after they were married in 1960.

Known professionally now as the Couturés, they spend most of their time engaged in water shows they've organized in Florida and Bermuda, where they spent two years.

Opening lead — two of clubs.

This fascinating hand was played by Edwin Kantar, Los Angeles star. It occurred during the Masters Team of Four championship in 1962, and helped him to win in the event for the second year in a row.

Kantar was South and got to four hearts on the bidding shown. West led a club. Dummy followed low, and East made the proper play of the jack, hoping West had the king. If East had played the ace, South would have made the contract easily, but if East had led back a diamond and gotten a ruff.

Kantar took the club with the king and cashed the A-K of hearts. When the jack fell, the nine became an extra entry to dummy, so Kantar stopped drawing trumps, cashed the A-K of spades, and then continued with a spade which he was careful to ruff with the ten.

West showed out of spades which was disappointing, but Kantar now entered dummy with the nine of hearts and played the fourth round of spades.

East followed with the queen, but South now made the key play of refusing to ruff. Instead, he discarded a club. Had Kantar ruffed with his last trump, he would inevitably have been defeated, since the whole club suit could then have been run against him regardless of what he played next.

East was now on lead and had no ace exit card. He could do nothing to defeat the contract. Dummy had an established spade at this point and a entry in the form of the king of diamonds or queen of clubs, depending on which method of defense East selected.

East did as well as he could when he returned a diamond. West took the ace and played the ten of clubs through the queen, but the defense could take only one more trick. As a result of his careful play, Kantar made ten tricks, losing a spade, a diamond and a club.

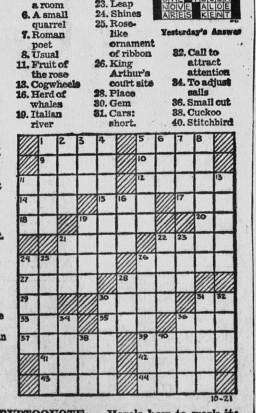
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X B
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
