11-Year-Old Praised For 'Capturing' Villain

LONDON (AP)—An 11-year-old boy has been praised in court for playing sheriff and actually getting his man.

The boy is Barry Youngs of nearby Clacton-on-Sea.

"He found a real crime and tackled it like a real sheriff," Prosecutor Thomas Lavelle told the court here.

It began when, dressed up in his sheriff's uniform, complete with badge, Barry spotted three men breaking into a house.

First, he went home to tell his mother to telephone police, giving her the address of the house the trio entered. Then he hid in some bushes near the house. As the three men came out of the house, they split up. Barry couldn't keep track of them all—because he had no deputies—so he followed one of them.

"Barry trailed the villain," said the prosecutor. "He trailed him for over two miles, hiding behind bushes and trees, telephone boxes (booths) and slipping in and out of shop doorways."

BARRY SPOTTED

The man must have seen the sheriff trailing him, for he broke into a run. Barry ran too, but was soon outdistanced.

"Staying after his man, he went to the police station and told the detectives there he could spot the man. They put him in a car, toured the seafront—and Barry saw him."

In court was Raymond Brent, 22, who, the Royal Navy said, was absent without leave. Brent pleaded guilty to breaking into the house but said he stole nothing. He was put on probation and held until the navy comes to get him.

Of the young sheriff the prosecutor summed up:

"It was very public-spirited of this boy and I would like to say how much we appreciate what he did."

Said Barry:

"It was a pity I didn't have my handcuffs with me. I just dream of making an arrest."

Discrimination Charge Based On Ignorance

TORONTO (CP) — A Roman Catholic priest who charged the CNR with discrimination against Indians and Eskimos says he didn't know there is more than one class of ticket on Canadian trains.

Rev. Bernard Brown, an Oblate missionary from the Northwest Territories, complained last week that he had been told to take Indians-Eskimos canoe crews to the rear of a Toronto-North Bay train. The teams were on trial runs for the centennial voyageur canoe pageant.

Father Ryan said he had paid "$86 and change" for tickets to North Bay, Ont., and John Noel, CNR public relations man, said this is what would have been paid for day coach tickets for 14 at $6.20 apiece. Parlor car tickets cost an extra $5.

The priest said he didn't specify the type of tickets he wanted.

"I thought the tickets gave everybody the same privileges," he said. He added he did not know then about parlor cars.

Father Brown, who is from Rochester, N.Y., and has spent about 18 years in the Arctic, said he never had ridden on a Canadian train before. Neither had his charges.

Mr. Noel said the Indians and Eskimos were not segregated. The coach in which they rode had 30 other persons aboard it. It was not the rear coach, which contained high-priced accomodation.

SEEM LOST ON PURPOSE

TORONTO (CP)—Some of the children at the Canadian National Exhibition seem to get lost on purpose.

At the lost children's station they are treated to soft drinks and all-day suckers, allowed to play in a special enclosed area, and are given special attention by the supervisors.

They enter the grounds in the morning, undaunted by the entrance gates where admission is charged, wander around until they get hungry and want attention and head for the station.

Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell, who has worked in the station for 14 years, said here she recognizes many of the children. Families who have a tradition of having children lost at the CNE now are getting younger brothers and sisters lost, she said.

She said there are families in the CNE area who send their children out of the house early in the day, telling them to stay at the Ex until bedtime.

The children remain at the CNE until almost midnight and then are sent home in police cruisers or buses.

Plan To Block CPR Move Under Study

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners is reported to be studying a move that would block plans by the CPR to cancel the Dominion, one of its two transcontinental passenger trains, Sept. 7.

A flood of protests has been received by the board since the CPR announced earlier this month that the Dominion was to be withdrawn. The move would concentrate the railway's transcontinental passenger service on the Canadian, its No. 1 train.

An informant said Wednesday the board has decided to make a special study of the protests. If they continue to arrive, and appear to have some justification, an order will be issued forcing the CPR to postpone the cancellation until the complaints are aired—and answered—at a public hearing.

A similar situation arose last fall when the CPR announced a proposal to reduce the frequency of service on six regional passenger runs in Nova Scotia, 16 in Quebec and Ontario and four in Alberta.

On Oct. 21 the board announced a freeze on this reduction plan pending public hearings. In most of the cases involved, the CPR had intended to eliminate daily runs and provide service one, two or three times a week. Dates for the hearings have not yet been set due to the pressure of other board business.

Under law, a public hearing is automatically required if a railway seeks a complete abandonment of service on a specific line. A service reduction—as in the case of the Dominion—can be made without hearings unless the board steps in and orders them.

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠QJ643 ♥KJ6 ♦H82 ♣94
2. ♠AK972 ♥Q6 ♦K85 ♣J82
3. ♠KJ854 ♥KQ92 ♦AJ5 ♣7
4. ♠AQJ75 ♥64 ♦KJ ♣K963
5. ♠KQ92 ♥J84 ♦96 ♣AJ85

1. Pass. This is the winning bid in the long run through North might conceivably make nine tricks. The notrump bid is a signoff and states in effect that the opening bid was of the minimum class and that the distribution is balanced. North is likely to have 13 or 14 highcard points, though he may have 12 or 15 points. Adding our points to North's, it can be seen that the total can hardly come to the 26 points, usually required for game.

Considering all possibilities, the probable result is that North will make seven or eight tricks. A pass is therefore apt to be the most effective bid.

2. Three notrump. With an opening bid facing an opening bid it is obvious that a game must be reached. The only question is whether it is better to attempt the game in notrump or in spades. There is no good reason to think that the ten-trick game would be easier to make than the nine-trick game, and three notrump therefore gets the nod. The queen of hearts and the king of diamonds are likely to prove secondary stoppers in both those suits.

3. Three hearts. Although a game can probably be made in notrump, it is better to investigate for a major suit game by bidding three hearts (forcing). Hands with singletons are basically not suitable for notrump, and some effort should therefore be made to play them in a suit. Of course, if North then bids three notrump, we respect his judgment and pass.

4. Three clubs. Hands with 5-4-2-2 distribution are not particularly notrumpish, but they are of course playable if partner insists. The chief purpose in to give partner a chance to bid three spades. If he does, we plan to go on to four.

5. Two notrump. North may have 15 points, in which case he will presumably go on to three notrump, for which there should be a reasonable play.

The alternative bid of two clubs over one notrump would not represent the 11 high-card points and the possibility of making a game in notrump. A two club bid in this sequence is usually passed because it indicates an unbalanced hand with possibly seven or eight high-card points.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
