THE ESTIMATES.

Huge Demands upon the Country.

UPWARDS OF $38,000,000 WANTED NOW

Without the Supplementary Estimates—Some Important Services Reduced.

OTTAWA, April 9.—In the main estimates brought down yesterday afternoon are the first instalment of the proposed expenditure for the next fiscal year. How much is left for the supplementaries is not known. But the house is now asked to appropriate $38,111,663 for the current expenditure of next year. This is $1,587,262 less than the total appropriation of last August, for the present year. Probably much more than this margin will be asked for later.

This may be compared with the total expenditure of $36,946,142 in the last year of the late Government showing an increase of over a million, plus the supplementaries.

The Island items are: Kier's shore pier $2,500; Souris breakwater $17,500; West Point wharf, $6,000; Summerside protection $30,000; Belfast pier $10,000.

Five thousand dollars is asked for a statue to the late Alexander McKenzie.

The ocean and river service is reduced $45,000 or one-third.

The light houses also are cut down $40,000.

The fishery protection is reduced one-fourth.

Five thousand dollars are asked towards providing a statue to her Majesty on the celebration of her Diamond Jubilee.

Implore Approval of the Settlement.

MONTREAL, April 9.—Yesterday at the Archbishop's Palace Mgr. Merry Del Val met the Archbishop. The conference was secret. But it has leaked out that Premier Laurier and Mr. Tarte have on bended knees implored the delegate to approve of the principle of the settlement, and they will see that all possible improvement is made as to its details.

This, therefore, is what Mgr. Merry Del Val has to submit to the prelates.

FIELDING AND THE COAL DUTIES.

STEALING THE TORY POLICY.

OTTAWA, April 9.—Replying to Mr. Gillies yesterday, Hon. Mr. Fielding said that the recent reports of his Montreal remarks to the coal men were correct, and he was always in favor of free coal in case Americans admitted our coal free into their country, but not otherwise. He also held that the coal duty must be considered as part of the general tariff policy of Canada, and not by itself alone.

THE HACKETT CASE.

Concluding Part of the Judgment of the Supreme Court.

There remains to be considered the only question which raises any difficulty on this appeal, namely, whether or not section 19 of the Act of 1891 applies. I will read the section:

"Where, upon the trial of an election petition, the court decides that a candidate at such election was guilty by his agent or agents, of any offence that would render his election void, and the court further finds—

(a) That no corrupt practice was committed at such election by the candidate personally, and that the offences mentioned were committed contrary to the order and without the sanction or connivance of such candidate; and

(b) That such candidate took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt practices at such election; and

(c) That the offences mentioned were of a trivial, unimportant and limited character; and

(d) That in all other respects, so far as disclosed by the evidence, the election was free from any corrupt practice on the part of such candidate and of his agents; then the election of such candidate shall not, by reason of the offences mentioned, be void, nor shall the candidate be subject to any incapacity therefor.

This is not an exact transcript of the corresponding clauses of the Imperial Act (46 & 47 Vic., ch. 51, sec. 22) but it is to the same effect, the object of both being to relieve candidates from the consequences of corrupt acts, trivial or unimportant in character, of their agents. But, as Mr. Justice Vaughan Williams held in the Rochester case (4 O.M. & H. p. 160) in order to obtain the benefit of this section a candidate must bring himself strictly within its terms. Now I admit that the offence proved in the present case is of a trivial and unimportant character, and the appellant was acquitted of all the other charges of which the particulars contained a great number. But, it appears to me, that he has failed to prove, in the first place, that Callaghan's corrupt act was contrary to his orders, and in the next place that he took all reasonable means to prevent the commission of corrupt practices at the election. He fails, I think, in this respect, although it is shown that he did announce at public meetings that he wished the election to be carried on properly, and warned his supporters against the commission of all illegal acts, yet in my opinion he should have done more than he did in respect to this particular agent Callaghan whom he took with him to canvass a particular locality. He knew Callaghan was an agent, he knew that he talked with electors, and it must have been obvious to him that he was, to a certain extent, in his (Callaghan's) hands; but it does not appear that he administered any caution. The bottle of whiskey was in the buggy, but it was not shown that appellant was aware of the fact. There were circumstances, however, that should have aroused his suspicion. On meeting certain persons who are proved to have been electors, Callaghan went with them into the woods and remained for some minutes, and O'Brien, the treating of whom constituted the corrupt act which unseated the appellant, was taken into his own barn. So without going further than the judges who tried the petition went, I think we must say that the appellant must have known that something more than mere canvassing was going on, and should have cautioned Callaghan against the use of any unlawful means of influencing the electors. It is true he says he did not authorize him to canvass, but he knew that he was a member of the association which he expected to work for him, and that implies that he expected Callaghan to do the same.

Under these circumstances and following English authorities, I do not consider the appellant entitled to the benefit of section 19 of the Act of 1891. The judgment appealed from is, I think, entirely free from error and must be affirmed.

The appeal is dismissed with costs.

THE MARKETS.

The Montreal Gazette reports a fair trade in smoked meats, but the demand for pork and lard continues of a limited character, and prices rule steady. We quote: Canadian pork, $2 to $13 per barrel; pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 6c to 6 1/2c, and compound refined at 4 1/2c to 5c per lb.; ham, 9 1/2c to 11 1/2c, and bacon 10c per lb.

The Liverpool provision market for lard continues weak and prices scored another decline of 3 1/2c. Pork closed 50c; lard 21s 9c; boneless long cut heavy bacon, 26-6d; long cut light, 25-6d; short cut heavy 25s, and tallow, 18s 6d.

Cash quotations on provisions closed at Chicago to 10c. Mess pork, $8.20 to $8.25; lard, $4.10 to $4.12; short ribs sides, $4.45 to $4.60; dry salt d -boneders, $5.12 1/2 to $5.50; short clear sides, $4.62 1/2 to $4.75.

The cheese market continues firm, while the quantity of butter make arriving is inconsiderable. There were bids during the day for 10c, but sellers wanted 10 1/2c.

The butter market is fairly steady, but receipts are increasing rather faster than the demand. Fresh made creamery sold this morning at 19 1/2c to 20c. Hard creamery is almost unobtainable.

There was no change in the situation of the egg market. The demand was fair and new laid sold at 9 1/2c to 10c per dozen.

Judge and Jury.

An exchange tells a story of a well known judge who is noted for his fondness for conveying in his charges to jurors his own opinions in regard to the merits of the case in hand. Recently, in giving such a charge, he expressed his views very plainly, but to his amazement the jury remained out for some hours.

The judge inquired of the officer what was the matter and learned from him that one juror was holding out against the other 11. He sent for the juror at once, and stating to the jurors that he had plainly intimated how the case ought to be decided said he understood that one juror was standing out against the other 11. He proceeded to rebuke the juror sharply.

The obstinate juror, as it happened, was a nervous little man, and as soon as the judge was done he arose and said:

"Your honor, may I say a word?"

"Yes, sir," said the indignant judge.

"What have you to say?"

"Well, what I wanted to say is, I am the only fellow that's on your side."

An Easy Winner.

On Oct. 2, 1795, a wager came off at Brighton between Sir John Lade—who figures in Conan Doyle's "Rodney Stone"—and Lord Cholmondeley, whom he had undertaken to carry twice around the Steine, pickaback. As his lordship was stout and Sir John a little fellow, the course was large to see it, but he had no backers. "Now, my lord, strip," said he. "I undertook to carry you, but not your clothes," whereby he won his bet without any exertion.—Argonaut.
