Council Medals Are Announced

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada Council medals were announced here for artist Arthur Lesmer, one of the original Group of Seven, Claude Champagne, dean of Canadian composers and Leonard Brockington, nationally-known writer, lawyer and former government adviser.

The medals were first announced last year for high distinction by Canadians contributing over the years to the arts, humanities and social sciences. Each is accompanies by a $2,000 cash award.

Among the first 10 winners—honored this year—were artists Lawren Harris and A. Y. Jackson, former governor-general Vincent Massey, poet E. J. Pratt and composer Healey Willan.

The three latest medals will be presented at a special dinner to be held early next year, said the announcement.

Dr. Champagne, 71, was born in Montreal and composed his first serious work in 1918. Later, he spent seven years studying in Paris.

Since then, he has devoted his life to the development of music in Quebec. He played a major part in the founding of the Quebec Conservatory.

Dr. Lismer is 77, a native of Sheffield, England. He studied art there and in Antwerp, Belgium, before settling in Toronto in 1911.

He was a founding member of the rebellious Group of Seven which began its existence in 1919.

From 1920 to 1927 he was with the Ontario College of Art in Toronto. In 1940 he became principal of the Montreal Museum Art Centre.

Mr. Brockington, 74, was born in Cardiff, Wales, and emigrated to Canada in 1912, settling in Edmonton where he worked as a journalist and later as a civic employee. He was called to the Alberta bar in 1919.

In 1936, he was appointed first chairman of the CBC's Board of Governors.

In 1939, he became special wartime assistant to Prime Minister King and was well known for his radio reports on the Canadian forces at war.

He now serves as counsel to a prominent Ottawa legal firm and is a director of the Globe and Mail Publishing Company. He has been rector of Queen's University since 1947. From 1957 until this year he was a member of Canada Council.

Mines Ministers Make Plea For Development Control

OTTAWA (CP) — Provincial mines ministers made a plea here for "controlled development" of mineral resources in national parks but their view appeared to receive little support from Northern Affairs minister Walter Dinsdale.

A brief arising from a provincial mines ministers' conference in Winnipeg informed the federal government that the provincial ministers agree national parks should be kept unspoiled in perpetuity.

But it argued that the federal government should "give favorable consideration to policies, rules and regulations which would ensure against destruction of such areas but also provide for controlled development of mineral resources in these areas."

Among other proposals in the brief were:

1. Income tax changes to provide that all mining taxes paid to provincial government be counted as allowable deductions for federal income tax purposes.

2. Continuation of coal subventions for a period that would permit production contracts of such a length as to justify large capital expenditures.

3. Adoption of a pressure base for measurement of natural gas by the national energy board that would be uniform with that in effect in the four Western provinces.

Mr. Martineau told the delegation that the brief will be considered by the department involved and a reply circulated to the provincial ministers before the 1963 mines ministers' conference in Halifax next September.

Ministers presenting the brief on behalf of the 10 provincial ministers were Mines Minister Wardrope of Ontario, Provincial Secretary Brockelbank of Saskatchewan and Mines Minister Smith of Nova Scotia.

Green Discusses Nuclear Weapons

VANCOUVER (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green says Canada may be forced to arm with nuclear weapons.

Mr. Green told a student audience here the decision depends on world conditions.

"Canada has to take her part in defending the free world," he said at University of British Columbia. "We don't think Canada should be a neutral country."

The minister said later in an interview he was referring to use of nuclear warheads both in Canada and overseas.

The bidding

Opening lead—six of spades.

Odd things sometimes happen in tournaments. I was playing in a team event recently and held the South hand. I opened fourth hand with two clubs and my partner (Mrs. Dorothy Hayden) responded three diamonds.

Fortunately, we were playing the grand slam force convention and I therefore bid five notrump. This requested partner to bid seven of her suit if she had two of the three top trump honors. Accordingly, Mrs. Hayden bid seven diamonds which I converted to seven notrump in the interests of safety. The contract was easily made.

Of course, this was a good result for us, since we had obtained the maximum score possible. We were naturally curious to know whether the opposing team had also reached the grand slam with the North-South cards when it was played at the second table.

Our hopes more than materialized when we compared results with our partners (Sam Fry, Jr., and Peter Leventritt) after the session was over.

Fry had chosen this moment to open the bidding with a psychic notrump. His timing couldn't have been more perfect. He took advantage of the vulnerability to try a fancy bid.

When his partner passed the notrump bid, showing zero to 7 points, and the next player doubled, Fry knew that his opponents had a sure game, probably a small slam, and possibly a grand slam.

He thought it likely that North would pass the double and that he (Fry) would take very few tricks.

He was certainly right in this respect, so much so, that, as soon as the opening (diamond) lead was made, Fry conceded all the tricks. He went down seven—1,300 points — but his well-timed psychic brought our team a net gain of 920 points.

Generally, psychics are not a paying proposition and produce unfavorable results, but they're good for a thrill when they work as well as in this hand.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
