THE ADDRESS TO THE QUEEN.

Franchise Bill and Plebiscite Withdrawn.

Both Parties in Caucus—Laurier and Party off for England.

OTTAWA, June 3.—The first order of the Commons yesterday was concurrence in the Senate's Jubilee address. Hon. Mr. Laurier moved the resolution in a brief and neat address. Sir Charles Tupper in seconding the resolution paid a generous tribute to Hon. Mr. Laurier. He spoke of the high character of the Imperial court in the present reign, and said that Her Majesty, though in every sense a constitutional ruler, had through her capacity and sagacity in public affairs, exercised a potent and beneficent influence on the history of the country. The Queen had seen Canada united, and Sir Charles hoped she might live to see a united Australia and a united South Africa joining hands to increase the power of the Empire.

The address reads as follows: We, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, in parliament assembled, beg to offer our sincere congratulations on the happy completion of the sixtieth year of your auspicious reign. When on this memorable occasion of your Majesty's golden jubilee the representatives of your loyal Canadian people joined those of other parts of the empire in expressing their heartfelt pleasure that, by the grace of God, the nation had for half a century enjoyed the inestimable benefit of your Majesty's constitutional and beneficent rule, stated their earnest hope that your Majesty might be spared for many years to reign over your loyal subjects.

A decade has since passed, and today we contemplate with renewed satisfaction the fact that your Majesty is still at the head of the state. Not only have none of your illustrious predecessors sat on the throne of our country for so extended a period, but in the history of the nations of the world few monarchs have ruled so long and none have been so universally honored and revered.

Looking back across the sixty years which have elapsed since your Majesty's coronation, it is impossible not to be impressed with the immense strides during that period which have been made by the civilized world in all that constitutes the moral, intellectual and physical well-being of mankind. The gospel of our divine teacher has been preached in the remotest parts of earth; temperance in all things has become more than at any previous period an accepted rule of human conduct; more adequate provision has been made for suffering humanity; the administration of justice has been placed on a more humane and otherwise satisfactory basis; great advances have been made in science and the arts, and the literature of the Victorian era surpasses that of any former period in breadth of thought and general excellence, as well as in volume and popular appreciation. By the establishment of railway and steam communication; the inauguration of an improved postal system; the invention of the electric telegraph and telephone, as well as the general utilization of electric power, and by an indefinite number of other agencies, the comfort and convenience of people have immensely increased during the same period; the empire has been enlarged and its scattered members brought into more intimate fellowship with one another and with the mother land.

Your Majesty's colonies in North America have with but one exception been gradually consolidated into a united dominion, the people of which have been, and we believe will continue to be, amongst the most loyal of races and people owing fealty to the British crown.

We trust that we and your Majesty's subjects in other parts of the empire may continue for many years to come to enjoy the benefit of your Majesty's peaceful rule, and we earnestly pray that He who is the supreme King of kings may endow Your Majesty with every blessing in what remains to you of this life and with everlasting felicity during the life to come.

The House then went into committee on the tariff, taking up the combines clause. Sir Charles Tupper moved in amendment that while the house is prepared to support a stringent measure for preventing combinations to unduly enhance prices such legislation should not be included in a tariff (bill), thus exposing industries to government interference without the judgment of a Supreme Court of law.

A general discussion ensued. At midnight Mr. Foster suggested that the committee rise. The Government refused, being determined to carry the clause at once.

Mr. Davin took the floor, speaking amidst constant interruption and the throwing of missiles for more than an hour. He remarked that if he could not get a hearing he could hold the floor till midnight next day.

Before one, Cartwright yielded with as good grace as possible, and the committee rose.

Hon. Mr. Laurier and party left this morning for New York to take the steamer for England. Sir Richard Cartwright has charge of the House.

Each party held a caucus yesterday.

The Opposition meeting decided on the action to be taken on the combines clause. It was decided to do all possible consistent with reasonable criticism to expedite the business of the session.

The government caucus was a more serious affair. The Premier asked his followers to give a loyal support to his colleagues in his absence and they gave him their assurance of devotion. There was less unanimity on the details of government procedure submitted. The government announcement of the Crow's Nest policy proved rather startling. It is proposed to give a contract to the Canadian Pacific Company which is to receive eleven thousand pounds per mile for the road from Lethbridge via Alberta to Nelson, which is a short distance west of Rossland. The distance is presumed to be 330 miles, making a grant of $3,630,000. The railway company agrees to reduce the freight rate on wheat by 1½ cents per bushel this year and make a further reduction next year. They also agree to give the government the right to supervise the freight rates over part of the western territory. In caucus strong opposition was offered to the programme, but the objections were at length either placarded or silenced. It was definitely announced that the Franchise Bill would be withdrawn, after which the Premier stated that as a consequence of this withdrawal the plebiscite bill would be also withheld. This declaration caused some surprise but the ministerial programme to withdraw the plebiscite remains unchanged. It is understood that a complaint has been made among Quebec supporters of Hon. Mr. Laurier that during the Leader's absence they will vote down any motion on the Manitoba School Question which might embarrass his position.

WHAT THE PETREL HAS DONE.

Little Work and a Good Deal of Expenses.

The Claims of this Province Against the Dominion.

OTTAWA, June 2.—In the Senate, yesterday, papers regarding the steamer Petrel were brought down. It is claimed that she made 18 round trips carried 43 passengers and 7 mails in six months. The department has no details of the freight carried. The expenses were $10,904 to April 30th, exclusive of the balance of the charter money, $2000 and other amounts unpaid.

Papers regarding the claims of the Province against the Dominion were also brought down showing that in August, 1896, the Local Government re-opened the pier claim of the Sullivan-Ferguson Government as far as the piers of the east river are concerned. The amount claimed is $22,000.

There was also tabled a letter of Hon. L. H. Davies, dated Thursday last, to the Governor-in-Council enclosing a letter of Premier Peters to him re-stating vaguely the claims of the Province regarding the non-fulfilment of the terms of union and expenditure on railways.
