Senator Haythorne and the Scott Act.

We publish with great pleasure Senator Haythorne's tribute to the Hon. George Coles and Bishop McIntyre; and only wish he were equally correct in his statements respecting the operation of the Scott Act in this Province. Either the hon. gentleman's memory or his eyes are at fault, or he would not say there is more drunkenness here now than there was before the Scott Act went into operation. The records of the Police Court and the evidence of each market day prove that his statement is entirely incorrect. That the Act has not been properly enforced, and that there are some men here so much demoralized by alcohol as to disregard the law of the land and the expressed will of a majority of the community, may be granted; but it is not only untrue, it is a libel upon the community, to say that the law has no deterrent influence upon the people—that, in fact, there is more drunkenness in spite of the law than there would be with the sanction of the law. We tell Mr. Haythorne that the people of this Island are, as a whole, a moral and law-abiding people; we tell him that his statement to the Senate is—inadvertently, no doubt—a slander upon them. And granted that there are a few men and women who disregard the law, and that the law has not been well enforced, the people of this Island may, at least, congratulate themselves on the fact that they are now, under the Scott Act, in no way responsible, directly or indirectly, for the dire results of the illicit traffic.

The following table will show the expenditure each year for Indian grants and for Northwest mounted police service:

The Act respecting agricultural education, passed by the N. S. Legislature, provides for the appointment of a Professor of Agricultural Science in the Normal School, who is also to give lectures throughout the Province on the principles and practice of agriculture. Provision is also made for special instruction by teachers in agriculture. Our legislators will, no doubt, look out for the results of this "new department." It is quite clear that the schools of an agricultural community should give instruction in the principles of agriculture.

Mr. L. H. Davies has again given evidence of the narrow high Tory spirit by which, notwithstanding all his loud professions of Liberalism, he is really actuated. He pretends when he is here that he is in favor of manhood suffrage; but, according to our despatches, he stoutly opposed the extension of the Franchise to Indians who own property and otherwise come within the provisions of the new Franchise Act. He would deny to all Indians the right to vote. Consequently Indians are, in his opinion, not men, or else his fine professions about manhood suffrage are false.

The Patriot has an article in which certain charges are made respecting the letting of the contract to build the new Dominion Building. The article is largely made up of strong adjectives and such phrases as "it is currently reported." It is bald, indefinite, and unworthy of further notice. There is nothing in it. If there has been any "crookedness" in the letting of the contract, let us have the facts of the case by all means.

Temperance men at Spring Hill, N. S., have presented Mr. Townsend, M. P., with their thanks for the noble stand he has taken on the side of temperance, and the able manner in which he has advocated the cause.

Hon. Mr. Pope, Minister of Agriculture, owns at the "East View Farm" the oldest and perhaps the best Polled Angus herd in America.

"First-Class Goods," In which merit is at once recognized, are now, and always have been, imitated, especially the manufactured article. After years of labor, and the expenditure of a fortune, in perfecting and placing before the public that which people appreciate and demand, some one who never had an original idea offers a counterfeit or substitute to compete with the genuine. Curtis Davis & Co., makers of the "Welcome Soap," find the above true in their case at least, the excellence of whose productions are everywhere acknowledged as the "standard" of quality, being imitated in every way that competition can suggest. But in the use of their goods, the consumer realizes the full benefit of value received. Welcome Soap confirms and sustains their great reputation.

Four thousand seven hundred and fifty New Hats at L. E. Province's.

THE RIEL REBELLION

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

MOUNTED POLICE RECRUITS. One hundred and fifty recruits for the mounted police arrived at Winnipeg on the 2nd inst. They go to Regina where they will be horsed and equipped.

THE NORTHCOTE AFLOAT. A despatch of the 2nd from the West announces a rise of water in the Saskatchewan has enabled the steamer Northcote to move off the sand bar and she is expected to reach Clarke's Crossing on the 3rd, with the Midland battalion, Gatling guns, and hospital supplies, to join Middleton. The Governor-General's body guard are also expected to reach Clarke's Crossing on the 3rd.

ANOTHER PRIEST KILLED. Archbishop Tache has received a telegram saying that Father Fournand had been accidentally killed by half-breeds at Batoche; and also that the news of the massacre at Comassie (?) of priests had been confirmed. He has wired for particulars. The priest, whose death is reported, has, since 1868, been parish priest of Batoche. In that year he passed through Winnipeg en route to his mission, and stopped with Archbishop Tache. He has never been east since, however, and neither has he since been seen by His Grace. He is a Frenchman by birth, and was made Oblate Father in 1869. Archbishop Tache has decided not to observe anniversary festivities usually held at St. Boniface on Sunday on account of the death of three priests.

A WAR SERMON. Archbishop Tache officiated in St. Mary's Church, Winnipeg, on Sunday, the 19th ult., the 9th (Quebec) battalion being present at the service. His Grace preached in French from the words of Job: "The life of man on earth is warfare." The Winnipeg Times gives the following synopsis of Archbishop Tache's remarks: He commenced by alluding to the first rebellion, which he said was that of Satan, who revolted against God, thereby establishing the necessity of soldiers. He said that men had to be soldiers because wars would be waged. First alluding to the Christian soldier, His Grace counselled them ever to be on the watch for the enemy of their salvation, Satan, and fight for the Lord. As soldiers in the service of their country, he said they should fight with the same Christian prudence and should be courageous and vigilant in all their conduct and show their love for country by their readiness to shed their blood for it. The learned preacher here eulogized the valor and chivalry for which British soldiers were renowned, and as they were Englishmen they should do everything to honor the flag that protected them. He said they were the descendants of a nation of braves, that of France; and as such he was sure their conduct at the front would be that of true patriots. His Grace then forcibly alluded to the early settlement of the older provinces, which he characterized as heroic times, and as they were the children of heroes he hoped they would prove themselves worthy of their ancestors. He understood well the sacrifices they made in leaving their homes and families to fight for their country, as he himself, forty years ago, left everything dear to him, his home and his country, to come here to fight the enemy of our souls. After again urging his listeners to be courageous (commensurate with Christianly) for the cause and honor of their country, His Grace concluded.

NOTES. All attempts of half-breeds to incite the Sioux Indians to revolt has failed around Q'Appelle. Indian agent McDonald, who visited them, left them plenty of seed, and obtained a promise to stay on their reserve. A large supply of rifles and ammunition arrived on the 2nd at Fort Qu'Appelle, and went north under escort of the 12th and 74th battalions, under command of Major Burnett, as far as Houghton, where they will be met by Col. Turnbull. Major Walsh is at the fort and doing good with the Indians and half-breeds. Col. Ouimet, while en route north, was suddenly taken ill at Calgary. Dr. Henderson has been called and pronounced it impossible for Col. Ouimet to go.

Education and Temperance

A TRIBUTE TO HON. GEORGE COLES AND BISHOP MCINTYRE. HON. R. P. HAYTHORNE in the course of a speech on the Temperance Question in the Senate, said:—"I may say it is a matter of congratulation that our young country is so far advanced in the same course, that she has devoted so large a portion of her resources to the education of her youth, both in the ordinary subjects of literature and ordinary education, and also in the fine arts; and that this, in connection with music and other things, will certainly have the effect of raising amongst us a generation taking greater pleasure in these things than in the wine crop. I may say that in my own province certain individuals have been identified with this movement as well as the local Legislature. Speaking of the Legislature first, I may say that for many years past—for five and twenty years or more—in that comparatively poor province a very large proportion of the revenues has been devoted to the free education of the people. A gentleman whose name stands prominent in connection with that Legislature is one whose portrait forms part of the group in our outer hall in Mr. Harris' picture of the Quebec Convention. I allude to the late Hon. George Coles. He, judging, I suppose, that ignorance and intemperance probably went together, made it his effort to raise the people he was called upon to preside over by placing general education within the reach of everybody. Some years later, another person, of whom I speak with greater hesitation, not because of the more limited scale of his operations, but because he is still a living man, and his sphere of usefulness has become more extensive: I allude to the Bishop of Charlottetown, Bishop McIntyre, and that high ecclesiastic has, perhaps, done more for private means and individual exertions than any other person living; and there can be no doubt that the efforts which have thus been made in favor of education in the province of Prince Edward Island did accomplish their work fairly well, and did produce a great change for the better in the habits of the people. They become more refined, more accomplished, much less addicted to intemperate habits than they formerly were, and I think I may say confidently that things were working for good in that province until the introduction of the Scott Act and its failure there."

Important to Farmers.

Facts About Hazard's Improved Turnip Seed. ABOUT the year 1874, Mr. Arthur D. Hazard imported a small lot of a new variety of Turnip Seed, which proved to be such a superior turnip and abundant yielder, that he secured the sale of it for the Island, and called it "Hazard's Improved," and continued to sell it until he sold out his seed business to the late Robert May, who ran it for one season and then sold out to me. Since then I have been importing and selling this seed, and it having been brought to my notice that unscrupulous dealers have taken advantage of the reputation gained for this seed, have sold other and inferior seed under this name. As turnips grown from this seed, sold by me, took three first prizes at exhibitions in the Island, and at the last Provincial Exhibition in Charlottetown, to guarantee farmers as far as possible against further deception and consequent loss, I last season called it "Frederick LePage's Prize Hazard's Improved Turnip Seed," putting my signature on each package sent out, which I shall continue to do.

I have this year secured the usual supply of the genuine Hazard's Improved Turnip Seed, and as I do not have agents, receiving large commissions, nor employ runners, will sell it at 50 cents per pound, and in order to put it within easy reach of farmers throughout the Island, will send it by mail, postage paid by me, on receipt of the price. Please send along your orders early and have it sent to your nearest post office, or call at my seed store, corner of Grafton and Great George Streets, in rear of Province Building, Charlottetown. Please read the following testimonials, out of a score or more that might be added. FREDERICK LEPAGE. Lot 48 Cross Roads, 9th April, 1885. Last season I bought your Prize Hazard's Improved Turnip Seed for the first time, which did so well that I took some of the turnips to the Provincial Exhibition, and was awarded the first prize for them. My success last year I attribute mainly to the superiority of the seed above all others, and believe it to be all you claim for it. (Signed) DUNCAN STEWART. To Mr. Fredk LePage, Ch'town. SOUTHPORT, Lot 48, April 16th, 1885. In answer to your enquiry about the Fredk LePage's Prize Hazard's Improved Turnip Seed, bought from you, I have to say that, notwithstanding the bad season for turnip growing, I had the best crop of them grown by me for years, which I attribute to the superiority of the seed, and believe it would be better to pay two dollars a pound for this than use the common seed. (Signed) HENRY MURCH. To Frederick LePage. CHARLOTTETOWN, 1st May, 1885. I have grown Hazard's Improved Turnips for the last five years, and have purchased the seed from Mr. Frederick LePage. My experience with it is that there is no turnip to compare with it in appearance, quality and productiveness. My yield last season was fully seven hundred bushels per acre. (Signed) ROBT. BRIDGES.
