

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

DECEMBER 19, 1894.

THE NEW CABINET.

WITHIN a week of the dissolution of the Government of Canada by the sudden death of Sir John Thompson in far away Windsor Castle, the Cabinet has been reconstructed at Ottawa, under the leadership of Hon. McKenzie Bowell. When we reflect that the Ministers were in several different and distant parts of the country at the time of the dissolution—one of them being away beyond the Rocky Mountains in British Columbia, this result is truly wonderful. With all the facilities afforded by electricity and steam, it could not possibly have been accomplished if divided counsels prevailed, or personal interests were preferred to those of the country at large. A better evidence of public spirit and practical patriotism, of prompt and vigorous executive ability on the part of the leaders of the Liberal-Conservative party could not be given. We feel sure that it will be noted and appreciated by the electorate of Canada.

It will be seen by reference to THE EXAMINER'S Ottawa despatch that the change included the promotion of Sir Charles Hildbert Tupper to the Department of Justice, Hon. Mr. Angers to the Department of Trade and Commerce, Hon. Mr. Costigan to the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. Mr. Ives to the Department of Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Dickey has been taken into the Cabinet as Secretary of State, and Hon. Donald Ferguson without portfolio. The changes, we venture the opinion, be satisfactory to the country and particularly to the people of Prince Edward Island. No one knows the wants and interests of this Province better than the Hon. Donald Ferguson, and he has greater energy and ability to promote these interests, and the Hon. Donald Ferguson is now a member of the Cabinet and in a position to advise the Government in respect to all Canada, and especially in respect to this Island. True, he is yet without a portfolio, but his position as a constitutional adviser of the Governor General is none the less influential, in so far as at least as the people of Prince Edward are concerned. In so far as he is personally concerned, it is a matter of regret that he will, until another change is made, have to serve the country without salary. If he were wealthy as his colleagues, Sir Frank Smith and Sir John Carling are, there would be nothing to desire. But we have no doubt, that the combined zeal, prudence and activity which has attracted the attention of the Government, and won for Senator Ferguson the high distinction which we chronicle to-day will prompt the Premier to offer him a departmental office at the first opportunity. The late Sir John Macdonald, in a letter to a friend in this Province shortly before his death, wrote: "Ferguson is the ablest man in your Province, and I am convinced that his day will come." Senator Ferguson's day has come, and that despite the utmost efforts of his political opponents.

In this connection, we cannot refrain from calling attention to the unselfish and public-spirited conduct of Hon. Senator Ferguson. Senator Ferguson happened to be at New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, when the lamentable news of the death of Sir John Thompson was received. Knowing that another Cabinet must necessarily be formed, he then and there hurried to Ottawa to urge—not his own promotion—but the right of our farmers to Cabinet representation and the advisability of inviting Senator Ferguson—the talented representative farmer—to take a seat in the Privy Council of Canada. Such generous, thoughtful and patriotic conduct is deserving of the highest praise. We hope that it will be appreciated by the farmers, particularly by the farmers of this Province. There can be no doubt that in Senator Ferguson the farmers of Canada have a representative in every way worthy of them and of the great interest which they hold in this country.

Hon. Mr. Dickey, who has entered the Cabinet as Secretary of State, is the second son of Hon. Senator Dickey. He was born in 1854, educated at Windsor, Nova Scotia, and at the University of Toronto, and called to the bar of Nova Scotia in 1878. He is a prohibitionist and a prominent citizen of the town of Amherst. Altogether the Government of Hon. Mr. Bowell is a strong one,—strong in ability and experience, strong in the personal reticence of its members, strong in the National policy and conservative methods to which is so greatly due the escape of Canada from the ruin and depression which lately prostrated the industries of Australia and the United States. It ought to be sustained by the people of Canada. We believe that it will be sustained.

The situation in respect to Canada is beginning to be understood in Great Britain. Speaking of the fiscal policy of the Government of Sir John Thompson, the London Standard says:—"It is partly owing to his ability and tact that the history of Canada since 1892 has been one of unexampled prosperity. True to the traditions of the party he led in the Dominion, he steadily opposed the fiscal innovations which under the specious name of free trade would have brought the commerce of Canada within the elaborate and comprehensive protectionism of the United States. Although he was not a free trader he was always ready to arrange treaties of commerce which he thought would lead to the same practical results, nor was he altogether disappointed perhaps because the negotiations that he conducted had not brought about a complete system of reciprocity between Canada and the United States, since he belonged to that sanguine and loyal and progressive party in the Dominion who are hoping and working for a customs union which shall ultimately embrace the whole British Empire."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The St. John Sun speaks of Senator Ferguson's speech at the banquet as "one of the best criticisms of the policy, or succession of policies, of the Opposition leaders, which has been made in recent times."

Referring to Mr. Davies' many self-contradictions in his recent speech, the St. John Sun declares that they "show that Mr. Davies has been in the past prepared to adopt any trade policy that came his way, or to present any ideas—of he may be said to have any—are no doubt equally liable to a complete change at the command of the party management."

The Colonist, Victoria, B. C.: "We read in the Memoirs of what Sir John did in the first six years after Confederation was established, of the treaty he helped to negotiate, of the great territory he was instrumental in purchasing, of the lands he had visited and of the honors that were showered upon him. He had been presented at Court, he had dined with British prime ministers, and with many of the greatest men of the Mother Land. In no other respect did he seem at a loss. He was the equal of the most highly cultured and the most experienced of Old World statesmen. Under no circumstances were the disadvantages of his youth apparent. This man, who received his education in a grammar school, and who spent his youth among raw and rough colonists, did not betray by either his language or his manner, his want of knowledge of the world or of literature, that he was in any respect the inferior of the best of those with whom he associated. He bore his honors with a modest dignity which won the admiration of those who were favored with an opportunity of observing him. He was a nobleman of nature's own creation, and neither Queen Victoria nor the people of Canada could make him any thing more or anything better."

SIR JOHN THOMPSON'S DEATH. —Lieut. Governor Howland and Chief Justice Sullivan intend to pay the last tribute of respect to Sir John Thompson. They will be present at the funeral in Halifax.

The national subscription for the family of the late Sir John Thompson promises to be a fitting one. Sir Donald Smith, who arrived in England, on the 16th inst. learned of Sir John Thompson's death and called $5,000 to the fund.

Lieutenant-Governor and Mr. Dewdney have left Victoria for Ottawa. Mr. Dewdney will attend the funeral as the representative of the Pacific province. Mrs. Dewdney, who is an intimate friend of Lady Thompson's, will spend some weeks in the east with her.

A telegram to the Halifax Herald reports that Sir Frank Smith has received the following letter from Sir Richard Cartwright:

KINGSTON, Dec. 15, 1894.

DEAR SIR FRANCIS SMITH,—I am informed by a mutual friend that you have expressed a desire to know whether I would support a proposal to make some suitable provision at the public expense for the wife and children of Sir John Thompson. I have no hesitation in saying that I will support and justify such a grant. You will understand, of course, that I speak for myself only, but I may add that in my judgment, other considerations apart, it is a matter of sound policy on the part of the people of Canada not to allow the widow and orphans of a distinguished public servant to be reduced to penury as the result of the awfully sudden catastrophe which has so unexpectedly deprived them of their natural protector. I am certain that even the most rigid economist will admit that in such a case Canada is only discharging a just debt. I regret exceedingly to learn that Sir John Thompson had left his family but slenderly provided for, and as I observe that a public subscription has been set on foot for their benefit, I will be obliged if you will hand the enclosed to the treasurer of the fund. I have the honor to remain, with sincere regards, yours faithfully.

R. J. CARTWRIGHT.

Hon. Sir F. Smith, K. C. M. G., Toronto.

THOSE JAPANESE ATROCITIES.

Fuller information concerning the reported massacre of Chinese by Japanese troops after the fall of Port Arthur was received by the Japanese minister at Washington, Mr. Kurino, from Mr. Matsuda, minister of foreign affairs at Tokio. Mr. Matsuda states the government is not in possession of all the facts about the alleged atrocities, but many details are ascertainable. He says many Chinese soldiers at Port Arthur and from outlying fortifications were taken by the Japanese in disarmed condition. Almost all the Chinese were killed or were sold into slavery. The inhabitants of Port Arthur died before the engagement. A few remained and fired on the Japanese. In the confusion of the fight it was impossible to distinguish between Chinese soldiers and the Japanese army, entering Port Arthur, were greatly excited by sight of fearfully mutilated bodies of Japanese prisoners, some of whom were burned alive and some crucified. Notwithstanding this the discipline of the army was maintained. A number of Chinese prisoners taken were kindly treated. Other information at the legation indicates that terrible atrocities had been perpetrated on Japanese prisoners at Port Arthur prior to the fall of that Chinese stronghold. Minister Kurino places no faith in stories of three days' captivity by Japanese soldiers, and thinks full details will show that women and children were not killed by his countrymen. At most he believes that nothing more will be shown than that some Japanese soldiers were shot over the spectacle of the mutilated bodies of their comrades to revenge themselves on the Chinese soldiers. A gentleman here, familiar with Chinese history, says that China has never been invaded by a civilized nation without a great deal of butchery. The allies in 1868, and the British and French in the wars with China showed no quarter.

MISSION BAND SOCIAL.

In the basement of the Methodist Brick Church, last night, the Wesley Mission Band provided entertainment for the mind and refreshment for the body of each of the large number present—and all for ten cents. Twenty-six dollars was realized.

The mental feast consisted of choruses, duets, solos and readings from the following ladies and gentlemen: John Lewis, Miss Lange, Miss Tillie Brown, Messrs. Mitchell and Newson, Miss Mellich, Leslie Cooke, Misses Fennell and McPherson and Miss Collings.

Two of the above excellent list of contributors are new to Charlottetown audiences. Miss Lena White carried her audience with her as she related the heroism of a Bergen girl in days of old. Miss Mellich rendered a very difficult selection, describing a boat race between some young ladies and gentlemen in a manner that won the admiration of all present. We hope to hear her again.

The physiological feast consisted of two parts. First coffee and cake which were free. Second, candy, which was for sale, though certain small boys who appropriated what they could when the vendress was not looking, did not seem to think so. It was considered bad form for a gentleman to dispose of this portion of the menu without the help of a lady—hence, as a natural result, the entertainment became most delightfully social.

REVISING OFFICER STEWART AT NEW LONDON AND NEW GLASGOW. A correspondent writes: "The manner in which Mr. Stewart has conducted the business of his court, meets with the approval of both sides of politics. Calmness, fairness and fair play has characterized his decisions. None of his decisions reflecting of former times was indulged in. It certainly is no business of a judge to insult those who have business at his court, and the Dominion Government has made a wise selection when they appointed Mr. Stewart as revising barrister for west Queen's. He will doubtless receive promotion in due time."

WRETCHED BANK BUSINESS. A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., says the shareholders of the Commercial Bank held a meeting on Monday to receive a report of the directors concerning the bank's suspension. Verbal reports were made by the directors and manager from which it was gleaned that the liabilities of the bank will be largely decreased if exchanges drawn by firms there as London agents now in the hands of trustees be honored on maturing. It is said the outlook for the bank on resuming business is very unpromising. On the basis of the directors' admission on Monday, four firms are indebted to the Commercial Bank for large sums, one director owing the bank nearly $800,000, and his only assets are 19,000 quintals of fish, worth about $160,000, and whose fishing premises, vessels and stock are worth hardly as much more. There was a decided unwillingness on the part of officials to give out information of any kind relative to the affairs of the institution. It was learned from a reliable source that a lot of valuable securities were mortgaged to the London and Westminster Bank, and that in the face of the provision in the bank's constitution against overdraining of accounts by depositors the manager of the bank permitted overdraws and kept the matter from the knowledge of the directors. It is learned that one clerk by improperly manipulating the books overdraw his account, with the aid of some friends, to the extent of about $30,000, and that the aggregate of other overdraws will amount to about $100,000 more. It is alleged that Mr. Pitts, one of the directors, received $40,000 in gold from the bank the week before its suspension and that payment was made by check drawn by him on an English bank in August last for a similar sum to accommodate the bank, which was negotiating exchanges there.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—The Herald's correspondent at Kingston, Jamaica, cables: "New and important developments in the Blackfield affair may soon be looked for. For several days past there have been secret conferences between ex-Chief Clarence and some of his followers and the British representative at Grand Britain, it is reported, has determined to restore Clarence to power at Banifields, and arrangements to that end, it is believed, are now being perfected."
