

Sees Water Power Issue As Thorniest Controversy

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The new Progressive Conservative government likely will talk tougher to the United States than the Liberal administration did about international water power, informants here say.

This may set the sparks flying between Canada and the U.S. because the Liberals took a pretty strong stand themselves.

The two countries last year established an intergovernmental committee to negotiate power uses of international waters, in particular of the mighty Columbia River which rises in British Columbia and flows through the power-hungry northwest U.S. to the Pacific Ocean.

The key to these negotiations, regarded here as the thorniest issue between the two countries in decades, is downstream benefits. This means Canada should receive benefits—in cash or power or both—from the U.S. for damming the Columbia and storing water which could be fed down to American power plants to generate electricity when the river normally is low.

NO AGREEMENT YET

The U.S. still has not agreed to return power to Canada in exchange for Canadian water. Informants here say the intergovernmental committee has got nowhere on downstream benefits and no date for a new meeting of the group has even been fixed.

These sources say it is conceivable that the new Conservative government and the U.S. administration will scrap the committee and throw the problem back to the International Joint Commission where it was in the first place.

Informants say the new government in Ottawa likely will take a strong stand and insist Canada receive adequate returns—in power, not cash—from the U.S. for use of Columbia waters to generate electricity.

Officials here are agreed that early action is essential if Canada is to retain its interests in Columbia River power. They said the Conservative policy on this issue may be proclaimed in the next few weeks.

FISH PROBLEM

What complicates the issue for Canada is the clash between fish and power interests in B.C.

This country could threaten that if it did not receive downstream benefits, it would divert Columbia waters into the Fraser River system, entirely in B.C., and build power dams on the Fraser.

But the Fraser is all-important to the salmon fishing industry and it is not certain that fish ladders could get the salmon around or over the dams.

Hon. James Sinclair, Liberal fisheries minister who still represents B.C. riding in Parliament, is a strong antagonist of Fraser River dams because they would endanger the salmon fishing industry.

The new fisheries minister, Hon. Angus MacLean, is from Prince Edward Island but B.C. has three representatives in the cabinet—Defence Minister Peakes, Works Minister Green and Justice Minister Fulton.

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to Victoria, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec City during the 1910 tour.

He supplemented these with photographs of most of the cities he visited and sketches and water colors he made in Quebec City, Winnipeg and the Rockies.

WIDE VARIETY

Other photos show huge piles of lumber, a log jam, and dog teams in the north; Buffalo Bill with a young boy scout and an Indian chief; canoes, and hunters with a dead moose.

Personal photos show friends he met during the tour, dressed in the styles of the early 1900s.

Glued on a back page is a letter to B.P. from United States President Theodore ("Teddy") Roosevelt agreeing "that ordinary athletic sports, excellent though they are, do not take the place of life in the open as you teach it."

The man who founded the Boy Scout movement in 1907 was so impressed with the Canadian autumn he wrote a poetic tribute to the season of multi-colored called "A Kiss in Canada."

A typical copy, "byline" General Sir Robert S. Baden-Powell, is glued on the book.

"No one has seen autumn tints till he has been to Canada," he wrote, "and nobody has seen them who does not long to see them again."

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

Washington (AP)—Citing recent studies, United States Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said Friday there is increasing evidence that excessive cigarette smoking is "one of the causative factors in lung cancer."

Burney said the public health service favors more research to identify and try to eliminate these factors. He said "it is clear that heavy and prolonged cigarette smoking is not the only cause of lung cancer."

In New York, Dr. Clarence C. Little, chairman of the scientific advisory board to the tobacco industry research committee, said Burney's statement "adds nothing new to what has been known about the cause of lung cancer."

"It reflects the opinions of some statisticians and the relatively few experimental scientists who have actively charged that cigarette smoking is a cause of lung cancer," Little said.

The surgeon-general's statement was the first health service pronouncement on the question since the agency noted in 1954 that there was some evidence of a statistical association between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

NO NEW PROOF

In Friday's statement, Dr. Burney offered no new proof but cited results of studies, especially one by a special group organized jointly by the public health service's National Cancer Institute and National Heart Institute and the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association. This group's findings were made public last March.

Referring also to a report made by Dr. E. C. Hammond and Dr. Daniel Horn of the American Cancer Society to the American Cancer Association in June, Dr. Burney said:

"In the light of these studies, it is clear that there is an increasing and consistent body of evidence that excessive cigarette smoking is one of the causative factors in lung cancer."

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

U. S. Blueberry Market Grows

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
There's a good market in the United States, apparently, for blueberries.

Foreign Trade, publication of the department of trade and commerce, says that to meet growing demand for the fruit, the United States must turn more and more to imports.

It adds that given reasonable prices, good quality and assured supply there is little danger of saturating the market—and that an investigation by the Chicago office of the trade commissioner service indicates an almost unlimited market for all the blueberries Canada can ship.

In 1956 the U.S. imported from Canada 1,374,237 pounds of frozen blueberries valued at $327,048 or about 24 cents a pound, and 9,818,131 pounds of fresh blueberries valued at $1,890,113, or about 19 cents a pound.

Simpsons - Sears Ltd., issuing its fall and winter catalogue, says that on the average prices are about the same as in the spring and summer issue—with some slight increases in some lines offset by reductions in others.

British American Oil Company's $4,000,000 catalytic reforming unit is now in operation at its Carleton Place refinery near Toronto, the company announces.

"Cat" reforming units—which use platinum as a catalyst—produce high-octane reformate for the manufacture of premium gasoline.

British American will complete later this year a similar unit at its Edmonton refinery and will include one in its new refinery at Port Moody, B.C., scheduled for completion in late 1958. Installations have already been made at the company's refineries at Calgary and Montreal east.

The Clarkson unit will produce 10,000 barrels daily to high-octane reformate; that at Edmonton 4,000 barrels; and the one at Port Moody, 20,000 barrels.

In addition to the reformer, new crude - processing facilities at Clarkson, scheduled for completion this year, will nearly triple the refinery's capacity to more than 60,000 barrels daily.

The Independent Grocers' Alliance, with more than 600 members across Canada, reports record sales of $93,600,000 in the first six months of this year, compared with $76,000,000 in the corresponding period last year.

John F. Damore, vice-president and general manager of IGA, says that while part of the increased sales is due to opening of new stores, most of it results from increased business.

NATIONALIZED OIL

Mexico's oil resources were taken over by the Mexican government in March, 1938.

satisfactory condition are Azarias Guay, Bertrand Hamel and Ralph Hebert, all of Robertshaw's.

The plane crashed when it tried to land on the lake because of bad flying conditions.

heart lead and took East's eight with the nine.

When declarer played a low spade to dummy's nine, East allowed the trick to win. This fine defensive play by East defeated the contract. Declarer led another spade, East took it, and returned the queen of diamonds.

Declarer should have seen that if he led a heart to the king and set up the spades there would be no way to cross to dummy and cash them. He therefore abandoned this line of play and tried to set up his ninth trick in diamonds, but when he failed to break 3-3 he went down one.

Declarer's failure to make the hand can be traced to his first play. He deprived dummy of a vital entry when he won the opening heart lead with the nine instead of the ace. Allowance should have been made for the possibility the first spade lead would be refused.

Proper play is to win the heart lead with the ace. The assumption is made that West has the queen of hearts. This is confirmed by the Rule of Eleven which indicates East's eight of hearts is the only heart he has higher than the five which was led.

A spade is played to the nine. If East ducks, another spade is led. South wins the diamond return and takes a heart finesse. Another spade lead establishes the suit and makes four notrump.

By B. JAV BECKER
Contract Bridge

South dealer
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 9 7
♥ J 6
♦ 9 4 3
♣ 9 6

WEST
♠ 8 4 2
♥ Q 10 7 5
♦ J 10 5 2
♣ 8 7

EAST
♠ A K 6
♥ 8 4 2
♦ Q J 10 8
♣ Q 8 3

SOUTH
♠ 5 3
♥ A 9 3
♦ A K 7 2
♣ A K 7 4

The bidding:
South West North East
1♣ Pass 1♠ Pass
2NT Pass 3NT

Opening lead—five of hearts.

The struggle between declarer and the defenders is frequently a one-sided affair. Declarer may have such overwhelming strength that the play period becomes a mere formality. Likewise, defenders may have enough strength to automatically defeat declarer.

The most interesting deals are those where the fight to make or break a contract is so close that the result of the contest depends more on the participants and their skill than on high cards and distribution.

Here is a hand where the outcome hinged on the skill of the players. Declarer played low from dummy on the opening

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAV BECKER
Contract Bridge

South dealer
East-West vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 9 7
♥ J 6
♦ 9 4 3
♣ 9 6

WEST
♠ 8 4 2
♥ Q 10 7 5
♦ J 10 5 2
♣ 8 7

EAST
♠ A K 6
♥ 8 4 2
♦ Q J 10 8
♣ Q 8 3

SOUTH
♠ 5 3
♥ A 9 3
♦ A K 7 2
♣ A K 7 4

The bidding:
South West North East
1♣ Pass 1♠ Pass
2NT Pass 3NT

Opening lead—five of hearts.

The struggle between declarer and the defenders is frequently a one-sided affair. Declarer may have such overwhelming strength that the play period becomes a mere formality. Likewise, defenders may have enough strength to automatically defeat declarer.

The most interesting deals are those where the fight to make or break a contract is so close that the result of the contest depends more on the participants and their skill than on high cards and distribution.

Here is a hand where the outcome hinged on the skill of the players. Declarer played low from dummy on the opening

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

By JACK VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The beauties of Canada brought out the artist in warrior-scout Lord Baden-Powell. The South African War hero and founder of the Boy Scout movement drew sketches of the places he saw and even wrote a poetic essay about Canada's autumn in a personal diary.

The combined diary-scrap book has been turned over to Canadian headquarters here by former chief executive commissioner Dr. John A. Stiles.

PENS SCOUT HISTORY

It was sent to Dr. Stiles, first Canadian head of the movement and former dean of engineering at the University of New Brunswick, by Lady Baden-Powell when she learned he was writing a history of the movement in Canada.

Dr. Stiles is nearing completion of the book. It contains hundreds of photographs and an 1898 Canadian Bill.

"B.P." as scouts affectionately called their founder, was so impressed with Canada that he visited here several times before his death in 1914 at the age of 84.

Clippings from papers across the country describe his visits to

GRANDMA
MICKEY MOUSE
TILLY THE TOILER
HENRY
MUGGS & SKELTER
EITA KETT
SECRET AGENT X-9
JOE PALOOKA
THE LONE RANGER
L'L ABNER

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTRETH on your plates. This medicine (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, sticky, pasty taste or residue. Does not sour. Checks "pliss odor" (denture breath). Get FASTRETH today at any drug counter.

Skinnymen, women gain 5, 10, 15 lbs.

Get New Pop, Vim, Vigor

What a thrill! Boy lumps fill out; ugly bodies fill up; necks become strong; backs become half-starved, sickly "pan-pops" back. Thousands who never could gain before are now proud of their bodies. They look like boys again. They look like girls again. They look like men again. They look like women again. They look like themselves again. They look like the way they were when they were young. They look like the way they were when they were beautiful. They look like the way they were when they were happy. They look like the way they were when they were loved. They look like the way they were when they were free. They look like the way they were when they were whole. They look like the way they were when they were true. They look like the way they were when they were real. They look like the way they were when they were alive. They look like the way they were when they were human. They look like the way they were when they were God's children. They look like the way they were when they were made in His image and likeness. They look like the way they were when they were created for His glory. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His blood. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glorified by His presence. They look like the way they were when they were saved by His mercy. They look like the way they were when they were redeemed by His love. They look like the way they were when they were forgiven of their sins. They look like the way they were when they were justified by His grace. They look like the way they were when they were sanctified by His Spirit. They look like the way they were when they were glor