Retardation Research Centre Is Discussed

By ED WALTERS

HALIFAX (CP)—A proposed retardation research centre in Halifax to serve the Atlantic provinces was discussed here at a one - day meeting of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children.

Robert F. Shaw, president of the national association, said the subject was brought up so the four provincial governments would know what was planned when they were approached for support.

Three of the provinces were represented at the meeting, Newfoundland did not send a representative.

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scoda was the only premier to attend. New Brunswick was represented by William Duffie, youth and welfare minister, and Prince Edward Island by Health Minister H. B. MacNeil and Welfare Minister Henry Wedge.

Mr. Shaw told a press conference following the morning's closed sessions provincial retarded children's associations will engage in pilot projects as a centennial effort.

Mr. Shaw, who also is deputy commissioner - general of the 1967 world's fair, said a research centre would be built "around Dr. William Cochrane, an outstanding researcher in mental retardation." Dr. Cochrane is on the staff of Halifax Children's Hospital.

He said Prince Edward Island will do research into the problems of handling the retarded child in the home. New Brunswick is now building a 200-bed hospital-school which will examine problems of returning retarded children to useful community levels. This experiment will be carried out in Moncton, he said.

Johnson Sends Moon Pictures To 110 Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson expressed the hope Sunday all nations will join together "to place the peaceful realms of space off-limits to the designs of aggressors on earth."

He suggested this be done through the United Nations.

Johnson made the comment in a statement announcing he is sending to the leaders of 110 nations a set of photographs of the moon taken by the cameras of Ranger 7 which hit the moon July 31. Each set includes five photographs taken at disances from the lunar surface varying from 480 miles down to 100 feet.

Johnson said he is sending the photographs in the name of the people of the United States as an expression of the desire that human knowledge be used for human betterment.

He said the success of the Ranger 7 exploration has been greeted with enthusiasm and interest around the world and that men of all nations recognize this as one of the greatest extensions of human knowledge about the lunar surface to occur in many centuries.

Brock Retirement Is Tied In With Integration Move

OTTAWA (CP)—A defence department spokesman said here the retirement of Rear - Admiral Jeffry Brock, flag officer Atlantic Coast and maritime commander Atlantic, is connected with the government's proposed integration of the armed forces.

Retirement of Admiral Brock, 51, one of the country's most distinguished sailors, was announced Friday. He is to be succeeded by Rear-Admiral William M. Landymore, 48, of Brantford, Ont., now flag officer Pacific and maritime commander Pacific.

Rear - Admiral Michael G. Stirling, 49, of Kelowna, B.C., now chief of naval personnel at headquarters here, takes over Admiral Landymore's former duties.

The defence department spokesman said Admiral Brock's retirement "wasn't the first and won't be the last" in the government's policy of saving $100,000,000 in operations and putting it into new equipment.

The spokesman declined to say whether Admiral Brock wanted to resign. He had been told to do so "and that was his duty."

Drugs Control Seen Desirable

HALIFAX (CP)—J. K. Lawton of Halifax, president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association warned here no drugs are harmless and all sales should be supervised.

Mr. Lawton, a native of Bell Island, Nfld., said in his report to the association's 53rd annual convention "we must continue to be concerned about the lack of public respect for the hazards inherent by self-medication."

He said: "No drug is harmless and all sales of them should be supervised by professionally-trained people. We must take on ourselves a greater degree of responsibility over and above simply having these products for sale."

He explained deep concern about public and government mis understanding of drug prices.

Multiple pricing policies of many drug manufacturers "has resulted in creating an image in the minds of the public and the government which suggests that drugs available through other than governments and institutions are unreasonable high in cost."

He urged that steps be taken immediately toward correcting the situation. Otherwise the result could be deterioration of pharmaceutical services in Canada.

TV Cameras May Be Used On Shoplifters

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal shoplifters may soon know that this is an electronic age.

The Retail Security Association of Quebec is hoping to utilize hidden television cameras in many major stores throughout Montreal.

The association reports that 10,217 persons were caught pilfering or picking pockets in its member stores during 1963, an increase of 50 per cent over the previous year. More than 300 persons were prosecuted in criminal courts.

Hidden pockets, false - bottomed packages, and sleight-of-hand methods are used by the professional pilferer in what has become a $1,000,000 enterprise.

The association reports, however, that first-time offenders are the biggest problem. Some are housewives who hope they won't be noticed. But "few steal from actual, physical need," a detective said.

But increased security measures are having some effect. A stern warning to first offenders prevents repeition in the majority of cases, the association reports.

BEATLES IN VANCOUVER UNDER TIGHT SECURITY

VANCOUVER (CP) — For a teen-ager, getting close to the Beatles this weekend will present the same problems as visiting the Canadian mint after hours.

Hotel Georgia officials plan to use barricades of barbed wire and city policemen to ensure that the hotel is a safe refuge for the Beatles, a quartet of shaggy - haired singers from Liverpool who will be here for a one-night stand.

The Pacific National Exhibition, where the Beatles will play, will erect six rows of "hog-wire" fencing between the Beatles and their fans. Each row of fence will be four feet high. This will be supplemented by 200 city police, PNE police and ushers.

J. R. Fisk, deputy Vancouver police chief, would not outline what other measures his force was taking except that their plans have been laid and "necessary precautions" will be taken.

The Beatles arrive here by plane Saturday following their performance in Seattle. A police escort will take an undisclosed route to the hotel.

They will remain in the hotel until that night when they open the two-week exhibition at Empire Stadium.

After the show they will be hustled back to the airport to board a waiting plane.

Mobs have greeted the Beatles wherever they appear from England to Australia, and everybody connected with their visit here is taking heed.

Elaborate security measures are being taken by hotel management to make the 350-room hotel teen-ager-proof.

Here is a tough hand to play. There seem to be ten tricks, but how do you go about cashing them against best defense?

First let's see how the actual declarer played the hand. South won the trump lead in dummy and continued with a trump, East showing out.

South realized that if he now played the third trump and then cashed the ace of spades and ruffed a spade, in order to draw West's last trump, he would be out of trumps himself. A diamond lead to force out the ace would then permit the opponents to cash any spades they had left.

Faced with this problem, declarer played the king of diamonds at trick three. If East had taken the ace, South would have been out of the woods, but East ducked instead, West playing the eight on the trick. East then took the next diamond, gave his partner a ruff, and South lost two club tricks at the end to go down one.

Declarer can make the contract by making a very unusual play. He cashes the K- Q- J of hearts and then plays a low spade from dummy!

Once this play is made, the defense is helpless. One opponent or the other wins the trick, but can make no effective return. Let's say a spade is returned, which is as good as any other play.

Declarer ruffs and cashes the ace of hearts, drawing West's last trump as well as his own. On this trick he discards a club from dummy. Now he forces out the ace of diamonds.

It does not matter what East returns. Dummy has all winners except for the lack of clubs which declarer concedes at the end. South loses three tricks all told — a spade, a diamond, and a club.

What declarer does, in effect is cash his obvious ten tricks, but he can accomplish this only by making the extraordinary play of a low spade away from the ace.
