

Large Barn Lost In Fire

A large barn owned by Alonzo McInnis, Anglo-Tishish, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin last Thursday afternoon. The Tishish Fire Dept. was called and poured seven thousand gallons of water on the building but was unable to save the barn. A quantity of fishing gear had been removed by neighbours before the arrival of the firemen. Sections of the building were hauled away from their foundations as it was feared the blaze might spread into a nearby wood-secion. The home was not in danger at any time.

Queen And Prince Philip Make History At Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Queen Elizabeth opened the first session of her 23rd Canadian Parliament Monday in a scene of splendid color and historic significance.

The opening — first in Canada by the monarch — was the high point of the visit of the Queen and Prince Philip who himself made history Monday by becoming a member of the Queen's Privy Council of Canada, the highest honor that this country can bestow.

History came to life for Ottawa when the Queen entered a horse-drawn landau beside her husband and drove off to her Canadian Houses of Parliament.

RELAXED COUPLE
She and Philip, who wore the uniform and decorations of Colonel-in-Chief of the Royal Canadian Regiment, both wore the blue sash of the Order of the Garter.

Besides her coronation gown, a diamond tiara glittered in her soft brown hair and miniatures pinned to the Garter sash.

Relaxed and smiling they drove in bright sunlight through crowded Ottawa streets, escorted by a mounted guard of RCMP horses and red-jacketed riders with gaudy flutters.

Monday she was to entertain the top-ranking members of government, the church and the bench at a state dinner in Government House, followed later by a state reception for still other persons on the official lists.

BUSY SCHEDULE
Today the Queen and Prince Philip visit nearby Hull; inaugurate construction of the Queensway, a six-lane expressway-by-pass for through traffic; and attend a government reception in the stately Chateau Laurier hotel. In the evening they are to dine at the official residence of Prime Minister and Mrs. Diefenbaker.

Streets throughout their route to Parliament were lined four, five and six deep. Confederation Square was jammed to capacity and thousands crowded upon Parliament Hill to see the royal couple enter and depart.

For both the Queen and her consort it was a busy day. Prince Philip was up at dawn to go duck hunting at a hunting lodge on the Ottawa River at Thurso, Que., about 30 miles northeast of the capital.

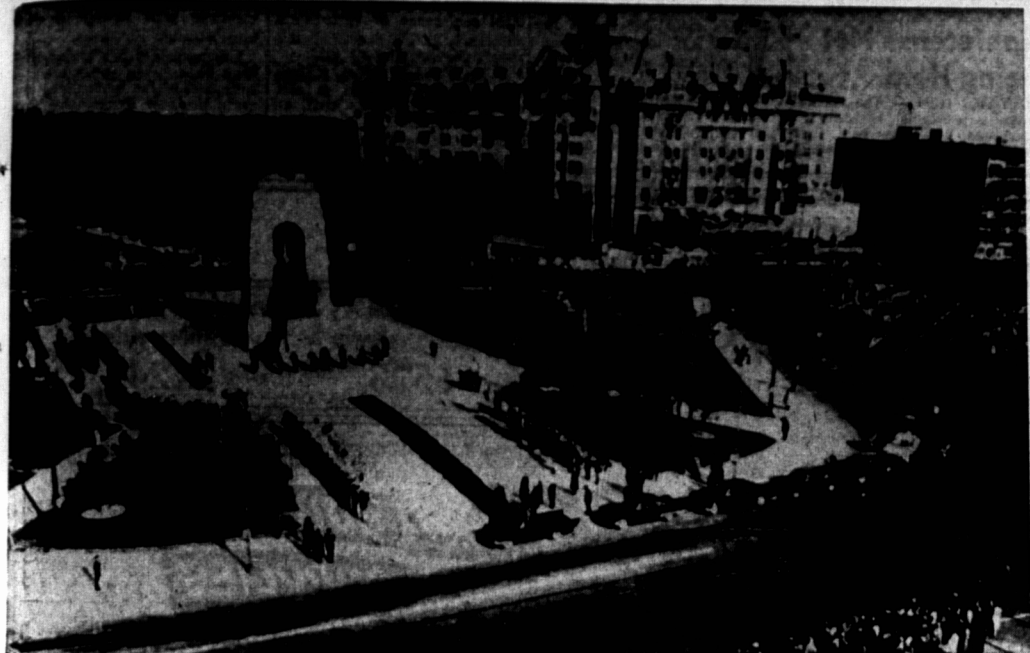

Wearing a green canvas hunting jacket, the prince bagged his limit of eight ducks before breakfast and was back at Government House by 9:30. His companions were his private secretary, James B. Orr; Montreal stockbroker W. L. S. O'Brien; and Air Commodore Joe Stephenson, the RCAF's chief of personnel services.

On his return his appointment to the council was formalized.

AGREEMENT WITH BELGIUM
Government business was transacted, and the Queen among other things signed an order authorizing her Canadian government to sign an agreement with Belgium to avoid double taxation. The measure extends the application of a principle already in effect between Canada and a number of other powers.

After the cabinet meeting, the Queen and her husband received heads of Commonwealth missions in the capital, and the rest of Ottawa's diplomatic corps.

S'ide K. Of C. Council Marks Columbus Day With Parade

Members of the Summerside Council of the Knights of Columbus observed Columbus Day with a church parade on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, followed by church services at 3:00 o'clock in St. Paul's Church. At 9:30 Mass in the morning all the members received Communion in a body, the Mass being celebrated by Rev. Justin MacDonald.

The parade in the afternoon moved off from the home under the direction of Warden Jerry Doucette and preceded by the Drum Corps of the Sea Cadet Band. A guard of honor of the Fourth Degree Knights, under direction of Pilot Percy MacDonald of Charlottetown followed and the Catholic Girl Guides and Brownies completed the lineup.

On arrival at the cenotaph in the public square a short religious ceremony was conducted by Rev. Justin MacDonald, a wreath laid by the Grand Knight of Summerside Council with Last Post being sounded by Bugler Alban Gallani.

The parade moved off to Spring Street up to Notre Dame thence to St. Paul's Church where Rosary and benediction was held.

Rev. James Kelly of St. Dunstan's University was the guest preacher and delivered an inspiring sermon of the place of Catholicism in the present day world. The social observance of the Columbus Day was held on Thursday night with a banquet and dance for the members and invited guests at the Summerside Golf and Country Club.

At the banquet the toasts to "The Order" was responded to by Past Grand Knight J. El-liquors.

Government House declined to give the names of the wines or their vintage. However, Canadian wines have been served and still are to be served during the Queen's residence at Government House.

The Ontario Grape Growers' Marketing Board complained earlier this month that it had heard that only imported wines were to be served to the Queen. The Queen sat at the head of the table. Governor-General Massey sat to her right, and Prince Philip to her left. Prime Minister Diefenbaker was at the Prince's left and Mrs. Diefenbaker to the right of Mr. Massey.

PRESENTED TO QUEEN
Before the dinner, the guests were presented to the Queen and Prince Philip at the entrance to the ballroom.

After being presented the guests stood at their places around the horseshoe tables, and when the Queen was seated the guests took their places. Grace was said by the Most Reverend W. F. Barfoot, Anglican Primate of Canada and Archbishop of Rupert's Land.

Prince Philip wore white tie and tails, the Order of the Garter and decorations.

A single reporter from an Ottawa newspaper stood behind a "potted palm" in the ballroom to report the proceedings for the press.

The meal was prepared by Jean Michel Zonda, head chef at Government House. Mr. Zonda is 48 and was born in Antibes, France.

The dinner opened with Le Consomme Flavigny—a chicken consomme flavoured with curry and enhanced with mushrooms.

LOBSTER AND DUCK
The next course was lobster with creamed rice sauce. Le Homard a la Creme le Ris Pilaw. The duckling from Brome Lake, Que., was prepared with oranges and served with small fried potato waffles—Le Cannelles Pommes Gauffrette.

The main vegetable was artichokes with asparagus tips and hollandaise sauce — Les Fonds d'Artichauts Princesses. Desert—La Timbale a Pompadour les Petits Fours Secs — was ice cream served in drum-like shapes with fancy cookies served in gaily decorated baskets.

Alexander MacKinnon, butler at Government House, served the Queen and Prince Philip. Others were served by 34 footman, including Government House employees and some hired especially for the dinner.

The toast to the Queen was proposed by Mr. Massey. The Queen did not reply as is customary.

Opposition Leader St. Laurent was seated about half-way down the long curved table to the Queen's right. Mrs. St. Laurent was seated directly opposite her husband.

The seating of the guests was of precedence for Canada. This table starts with the Governor-General and is followed by the prime minister, cabinet ministers, ambassadors, provincial lieutenant-governors, privy councillors, members of Parliament, justices and high churchmen. It covers about 1,000 persons.

Prominent Richmond Man Passes Away In His 81st Year

The death occurred in the Prince County Hospital early yesterday morning of Mr. John Peter Gaudet of Richmond in his 81st year.

The late Mr. Gaudet was one of the most prominent businessmen of Prince Edward Island, having for many years owned and operated at Wellington a large general store which served a wide section of the county. The deceased was born in Miscouche, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaudet.

As a young man he was employed with a number of firms in Summerside including R.T. Holman, Ltd. and Sinclair and Stewarts (now Smallmans). About 40 years ago he took over the management of the firm of Arsenault and Gaudet, Wellington, and when this firm was burned out in 1934 it was then rebuilt and since that time owned and operated by Mr. Gaudet. His health forced him to retire from active business about a year and a half ago.

He was twice married. His first wife was Lydia Larkin and of this union there were four sons, Desmond of Summerside, Maurice of Miscouche, Alden of Toronto and Alexander who passed away in 1954; and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Gaudet of Moncton.

His second wife was the former Mary Catherine Condon who survives him. Three daughters were born of this union, Gertrude, Mrs. J.J. DesRoches, Yuk-
