

HAPPENINGS

On Saturday, December 8, Sherwood Hall was beautifully decorated for a Christmas party sponsored by the Girl Guides. Individual card tables were decorated with lovely homemade candle holders of Christmas greens and red and green candles.

A bazaar table held articles and baked goods made by the guides.

During the tea a box of warm, useful, clothing was presented to Mrs. Fred Osborne for the Tullaghan Service Committee and the highlight of the afternoon was the presentation of gold pins by Mrs. Gordon Avar, provincial commissioner of the Girl Guides, to Kathy Ayers and Rosina Ross.

The following girls, all patients at the Rehabilitation Center at the Provincial Sanatorium in Charlottetown were enrolled as members of the Girl Guide extension program recently: Gloria Herlihy of Cornwall; Minerva MacDonnell; Kelly's Cross; Debbie Gallant, North Rustico; Rose Mary Bontle, Charlottetown.

Mrs. Gordon Avar and Mrs. Fred Osborne presented the girls with the gold pins and the tenderloin pin. Guests at the event were Anita Gauthier and Meredith Gammie of the Cerebral Palsy school, who will be enrolled in the movement in the near future.

After games, a treat of fudge was enjoyed and "laps" brought off at the afternoon to close.

Mrs. Carl Burke entertained the girls at a party at the Campbell Charter, Beta Sigma Phi at the Kirkwood Motel in the home of Mrs. Ivan Kenzie.

Mrs. George Rogers was in charge of the program and Sunday afternoon on "Life in the Victorian Era."

Lunch was served by Mrs. Louise Dew and Mrs. E. A. Taylor, assisted by the hostess.

The regular meeting of XI Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was held at the home of Mrs. John Hodgson on Thursday evening last. Following the reading of the minutes

Stella Maris Church Is Scene Of Pretty Wedding Ceremony

Stella Maris Church in North Rustico was the scene of a very pretty wedding recently when Mary Elizabeth Gallant of Rusticoville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Gallant became the bride of Daniel Allan Maceachern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Maceachern of Charlottetown.

Rev. L.J. Ayers officiated at the ceremony. Miss Gaudin of North Rustico accompanied the bride and the groom. The church was decorated with bouquets of red, white and yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her floor length gown of white satin, featuring lily-point sleeves and bateau neckline embroidered with sequins. A tara of pearls and rhinestones held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

Miss Priscilla Gallant, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Mrs. Yvonne Somers, sister of the bride. They were gowned in street length dresses of velvet. Miss Gallant's in blue. Mrs. Somers in red, with bateau necklines and l'length sleeves. They wore matching accessories, white flower headresses, and carried bouquets of red and white carnations.

The flower girl, Miss Mary Patricia Murphy, niece of the groom, of Kentville, N.S. was gowned in blue velvet and carried a basket of white and yellow carnations.

The best man was Mr. David Gallant, friend of the groom of Charlottetown, and the ushers were Mr. Benny Gallant, brother of the bride and Mr. Gerald Murphy, brother-in-law of the groom, Kentville, N.S.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Can-

CATTLE TO RUSSIA

EDMONTON (CP) - Alberta rancher Tom Hughes says he expects Russia will order 400 head of purchased Alberta hereford cattle in the next two years.

He hopes a Russian delegation selected 300 head of purchased herefords exported to Russia from Alberta earlier this year.

He said Tuesday that breeders should start now to get their cattle in shape so they will be in prime condition when the next Russian delegation comes.

MARY HAWORTH

Bachelor Claims Women Treat Him Very Unfairly

Dear Mary Haworth: I read your column, respect your views and, though I may not always agree, I find them worthy of consideration. This is possible only by posing a problem of my own, argued pro and con by my friends.

I am a bachelor and for 13 years have befriended a boy who will be 16 next April. His father is dead, his mother re-married and the boy stays with grandparents, due to the stepfather's dislike of him.

Though we live some distance apart, I buddy with him and my devotion to him would be as if I buy things for him as I can afford and as the grand parents permit, have grown quite fond of him.

When I try to have women friends, however, many become resentful of my fondness for the boy. Indeed, some demand that I give up the friendship, which I can't see. Perhaps they want marriage in mind and feel that in romance I am due to unpleasant past experiences with females.

My idea is this. I like to socialize with both women and men as I see fit and still keep my friendship with the boy as it is an honorable friendship in all respects.

Is it fair to ask me to give up this friendship? Or am I right in taking the attitude "Love me, accept my friendship as is with the boy?" - L.Y.

Dear L.Y.: Your writing brings two proverbs to mind, each suggesting a different angle of consideration. One: "Mach ado about nothing." The other: "Where there is smoke, there is fire."

Perhaps your own attitude to Ellen's Diary will appear again early in the new year.

ELLEN'S DIARY

ISON VACATION

While Mrs. George Dixon is enjoying her annual vacation her regular column Ellen's Diary will not appear in the I's usual place on The Guardian's Women's Page.

St. Pius CWL Holds Meeting

The December meeting of the St. Pius X parish council of the Catholic Women's League was held on December 6. Mrs. J. Lee, the president, chaired the meeting and the minutes of the correspondence were read by Mrs. Scott Coffin.

Conveners for the various committees gave their reports and it was decided to purchase a set of holy pictures for the rooms of the Catholic children at St. Pius.

It was decided that material on the social teachings of the church be sent for and a half hour on meeting night. It was also decided to send for a course in public speaking. This course is provided by the national office and several members are looking forward to starting it in January.

A pantry sale will be held during December if a suitable place to it can be obtained in Charlottetown.

Mrs. MacKenzie explained briefly what the study of the social teachings of the church would consist of.

The meeting closed with the League prayer.
