

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

VOL. LXV. No. 173

Published as Second Class Mail by the Post Office Department, CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1962.

NOT MORE SEVEN CENTS

12 PAGES

TRADITIONAL CONCERN

Atlantic Premiers Hear Urgent Assistance Plea Transport Problems

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A plea for assistance in transportation problems, a traditional concern of the four Atlantic provinces, was one of the chief items before this year's Atlantic premiers conference.

The Maritime Transportation Commission asked the premiers' support in its efforts "to prevent worsening of the present transportation situation in the Atlantic provinces, and to secure the national policy measures necessary to restore the competitive position of Atlantic producers in central Canada."

The premiers, in an announcement following their one-day meeting Monday, said they have established a cabinet committee to work with the commission.

The transportation commission is calling for an update-

Civil Servants' Salaries Adjustment Deferred

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to defer consideration of civil service salary increases "during the present emergency period."

Armed Force Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's State Department suggested Tuesday the creation of an inter-American armed force as a bulwark against aggression and other threats to peace.

Addressing the Council of the Organization of American States, Ambassador Acheson called for strengthening of the hemisphere system of collective security with that aim.

"Perhaps the time is not far away when it might be desirable to create a new international organization an inter-American armed force under the authority of the Organization of American States," Acheson said.

Killers Lose Trio For Life

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Two men who appealed, lost their case in the killing of a foot store proprietor, and won a new trial, lost their gamble Tuesday when they were sentenced to death in electric chairs.

REGIME IS TOTTERING

ALGERIA (AP)—Algerian officials have announced that government expenditures would be cut by $500,000,000 in a full year, as a result of the measures to overcome the foreign exchange emergency.

Ben Khedid and his ministers approved a proposed meeting of the Algerian revolutionaries' parliament that would vote to power a seven-man political bureau of the Front National Liberation. This is a victory for the dissenting deputy premier, Ahmed Ben Bella.

Crown To Appeal Bribery Sentence

OTTAWA (CP)—Notice has been served on former MP Raymond Brunson that the Crown intends to appeal his two-year suspended sentence for a bribery conviction. It was disclosed Tuesday.

WHERE-TO-FIND-IT

- Announcements, notices 3 11
- Births, deaths, etc. 3 11
- Classified 10 11
- Finance, markets 5 11
- Comics, features 5 11
- Women's page 7 11
- Magazines 5 11
- Editorials 5 11
- Spent 5 11
- Parade 5 11
- Price Co. 5 11

MONEY TRACED TO HIP POCKET

POINT OF ROCKS, Md. (AP)—Money which residents of this city town have been finding along the railroad tracks may have come from a brakeman's hip pocket.

Jack Sutherland, brakeman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said Tuesday he had been carrying a paper sack full of money when his train passed Point of Rocks several days ago.

Residents of the community along the Potomac River had been nurturing a money tree, whose leaves were scattered beside the railroad track. An untold quantity of 10 bills had been found.

"I had the paper sack stuck in a hip pocket—it was a house payment—and when I got home, it was gone," Sutherland said. "I guess the money worked out of my pocket."

Sutherland said he would give a reward of $100 if the money was returned. How much was involved?

"I had seven or eight 10 bills," he replied, "and one $20."

U.S. Identifies Master Thief

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. government Tuesday identified "Mr. X," the man it says masterminded the theft of $300,000 worth of stocks from Beche and Company, a Wall Street investment house.

U.S. Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau named Alan Pomerantz, 33, of Manhattan, as the man who is believed to have collected any exchange of obscene pictures is legal because "Canadian law has a basic freedom of press and read what they like."

The argument was presented Monday during Mr. Cooper's defence of Ernest Blumkin, 26-year-old branch manager for an insurance firm, charged with using the mails to distribute obscene materials.

Mr. Blumkin pleaded not guilty to the charge and not guilty to a further charge of possessing obscene materials for distribution.

Mr. Cooper said it was legal for the mails to be used for obscene materials if the enclosure was in a sealed, plain envelope so that it couldn't offend any innocent person and was directed to "an adult consenting person who had a mutual interest in enjoying the material and correspondence; and who was not likely to distribute it publicly or commercially."

Crown Council Fred Bannon admitted this argument "takes me by surprise and the hearing was adjourned to July 30 to give him time to prepare."

Water Resources Causing Concern

QUEBEC (CP)—Agriculture ministers of all 10 provinces Tuesday were reported greatly concerned with the country's water resources.

A statement, issued by the inter-provincial agriculture ministers' conference said the supply of water in Canada is being heavily taxed by the demands made on it by agriculture, industry and recreation facilities.

Meeting behind closed doors, the ministers are preparing representations to be made today to federal Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton.

The question of water resources was considered by the

Bed Freedom Case Upheld

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A magistrate ruled Tuesday that Newfoundlanders have the freedom to go to bed whenever they want.

Magistrate Hugh O'Neill was considering a case in which the operator of a boarding house complained that one of her boarders refused to retire when the house curfew rang at 11:30 p.m.

But magistrate O'Neill dismissed the case.

"There is still freedom in the province which gives a man or a woman the right to go to bed when it pleases them," he said.

European Terror Is Seen Likely in Algeria

A Tunisian European terrorist squad a "concentrated, organized" attack against Algerian policemen and soldiers in the shooting.

Four Europeans and three Moslems were killed and seven Moslems were wounded in the shooting.

STEEL IS STRESSED FOR DOUKHOBORS

Steel at Agassiz, in the Fraser Valley 70 miles east of Vancouver. The emphasis is on a steel in the maximum security prison to discipline anyone who helps or aids them.

U.S. Dollar, Pound Strong After George By Kennedy

PEGGY McQUAID ROBERT JOHNSTON HELEN MCCARDLE

St. Dunstan's Scholarships Announced This Morning

THE WINNERS of the first Annual Scholarships were announced this morning by St. Dunstan's University. The top scholarship is awarded to Peggy McQuaid of Southport and the second to Robert Johnston of Central Bedouque and Helen

Dollar Exchange Rate Increases

By SYDNEY GEMPEL, LONDON (Reuters)—President Kennedy's telegram transmitted policy to maintain the value of the United States dollar strengthened both the dollar and the pound sterling Tuesday while gold shares took a drubbing in European markets.

The gold price was officially "fixed" in London at the same rate as Monday—$35.14 a fine ounce—but there were few takers as the recent heavy demand dropped off.

The dollar exchange rate rose sharply in continental Europe, particularly Switzerland. It was up almost everywhere.

Normally, devaluation denials arouse some cynicism in financial circles and can even be self-defeating. But in the fact the American president used his dramatic telegram press conference Monday to reassure the largest television audience in history about the world's intrinsically soundest currency gave credence to his statement.

The losses in gold shares went largely to speculators who had gambled that the recent dollar difficulties and big outflow of American gold would force the U.S. to raise the dollar price of gold.

LONDON GOLDS DROP

On the London Stock Exchange, about $100,000,000 worth of the market value of two leading mines, and prices fell by up to 15.6%.

Speculative operators against the dollar have regularly lost money for the last 20 years and could not ignore Tuesday's categorical statement that they were going to lose again.

Reids Suggest Cancer Is Caused By Viruses

perennial evidence suggests that viruses, while seemingly responsible for triggering cancer after growing their dirty work, thereby accounting for the fact that cancer has been isolated from a human cancer.

At the same time he told an audience of several hundred scientists at the cancer conference that recent progress in his controversial field justifies optimism that the cancer problem eventually will be solved.

The Russian said work in his laboratory shows that while animals develop cancer after being exposed to certain viruses, no evidence of the virus could be found 60 days after the cancers appeared.

This, he said, supports his concept that viruses can, under certain conditions, transform a normal cell into a cancerous one—and then play no further part in the future development of the cancer.

Mac Tackles Salvage Job

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan, his celebrated "unflappable" tactics in two-phase salvage operation starting Tuesday.

He addressed a luncheon meeting of a Conservative parliamentary committee today, reminding of the cool reception his supporters have given his recent sweeping cabinet change.

Thursday he is to make a major speech in the Commons. The occasion will be the resignation calling for the government to resign and call a general election.

Doctors Resume Service Charges

SASKATOON (CP)—Doctors start charging for medical service in Saskatchewan today on the college board's decision on the medical care dispute.

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons said most doctors who boycotted the provincial government's comprehensive, prepaid medical care plan for three weeks will be back at work by the end of this week.

Dr. Sam Landa, co-ordinator of the emergency services operated out of the college and the Canadian Medical Association during the boycott, said many doctors have already reopened their offices.

Emergency service was provided free of charge since July 15 about 41 of the province's 154 hospitals.

In Regina, Mr. Justice D.C. Dabney of the Queen's Bench refused an application for an interim injunction which sought to suspend the Medical Care Insurance Act until its validity could be tested in court.

The application, made by Hans Taal, provincial vice-president of the Keep Our Doctors' Association, was opposed by Brand of Saskatchewan and Ralph J. Purdy of Regina, was heard last night.

In Regina, Mr. Justice D.C. Dabney of the Queen's Bench refused an application for an interim injunction which sought to suspend the Medical Care Insurance Act until its validity could be tested in court.

Premier's Illness Said Not Serious

Premier Walter R. Shaw, who entered the Prince Edward Island Hospital yesterday morning, was reported as doing very well by his physician, Dr. Angus MacLeod, Bonshaw, last night.

Dr. MacLeod said that the Premier's illness was not serious and that he was mostly in hospital for "investigation" for a few days.

Reports indicate that the Premier got well about 10 days ago and that he was mostly in hospital for "investigation" for a few days.

Last week it was reported the premier declined an invitation to a meeting of Atlantic P.E.I. members in St. John's, Nfld., because of illness. Provincial Secretary Stovall and Provincial Treasurer John MacLeod were representing him at the conference.

During the latter part of May and in early June he withdrew from the federal election campaign because he reported ill health but returned for the final week of campaigning.

Addressing a meeting of the Canadian Teachers Federation last week, Premier Shaw said he had had a few days of the cool reception he had had the Summerdale Lobster Carnival, greeted two visiting ambassadors, and the salute from the visiting RCMP Band and laid the cornerstone for the new Sherwood Hospital.

"Just think what a good man I'd be, if I wasn't ill," the premier remarked.