—Mr. W. H. H. Murray (Adirondack Murray), now of Montreal, has sent a very elaborate article, accompanied by a chart, to the Boston Herald on the fishery question. The Herald remarks editorially: "Many of the best fishing grounds lie close to the shore line, and other things being equal, it would certainly be desirable to have our fishermen placed in a position to fish wherever they please, if we are to continue admitting Canadian fish free to the market."

The Appeal Cases.

The fact that, at one sitting, the Supreme Court of Canada reversed the decisions of the Supreme Court of this Province in no less than three important cases, is the occasion of much comment; and people are now beginning to speculate as to whether or not it wouldn't be better, as well or cheaper, to toss coppers as a mode of settling their disputes, rather than hazard the chances of the law and its exponents. One thing is evident: there is something wrong somewhere; and the fault must lie either with the law itself, or with the Supreme Court of this Province, or with the Supreme Court of Canada.

We shall not discuss the matter; but, having already given an outline of one of the cases, now furnish the particulars of the other two:—

(1) The Queen appellant, and the Bank of Nova Scotia and other Liquidators, respondents. The Bank of P. E. I. at the time of its insolvency was indebted to the Government of Canada in the sum of $93,494.20. There was also a further sum of $30,000 due on a Bill of Exchange drawn by the Receiver-General on the Bank of P. E. I., in favor of the Bank of Montreal, but whether this sum is due to Her Majesty or to the Bank of Montreal, depends on the result of a suit pending in the Court of Exchequer. The respondents admitted the said indebtedness of the Bank of P. E. I. at the time of its insolvency, but denied that Her Majesty was entitled to be paid that sum in full before ordinary creditors. Two dividends of 15 per cent each were paid, leaving a balance of $55,426.95 over and above the $30,000. On the 28th of February, 1884, Mr. Hodgson, acting for the appellant, notified the respondents that Her Majesty intended to insist upon Her Perogative Right to be paid in full. The respondents objected to this claim that Her Majesty had no prerogative right to receive from the Liquidators the whole amount due to Her Majesty, and that Her Majesty had only a right to receive dividends as an ordinary creditor. Upon this objection, issue was joined, and on the 27th August, 1884, the respondents made an ex parte application to Mr. Justice Peters for an appointment to hear the matter of the said claim, and having obtained such appointment, gave the appellants' solicitor notice for the hearing of the claim and the objections against it. The objections were allowed, and from the order allowing them an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of Prince Edward Island, where the decision of Mr. Justice Peters was sustained. Permission to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was granted in November last, and the case was argued in February before the full Court by Mr. Hodgson, J. C., for the appellants, and Messrs. Fitzgerald and Peters for the respondents, with the result that the appeal was allowed with costs.

(2) Previously to insolvency of the old bank it had drawn a check or draft in favor of the Union Bank upon the Bank of Nova Scotia for $5,600. After the old bank suspended payment, R. F. Quirk owed the old bank a sum of money, and he made arrangements with Mr. Ings to pay the same, which he did by giving his own note to the old bank for the amount, namely $8,000, which fell due 30 days after date. Before the note fell due, Mr. Ings purchased from the Bank of Nova Scotia the draft which the old bank had previously issued to the Union Bank for $5,600, and Mr. Ings on his note falling due tendered this draft in payment, claiming a right to set off the old bank draft which he held against his own note.

After the Liquidators were appointed they made a fresh demand for payment against Ings, and on his refusing to pay, sued in the Supreme Court. The jury in the first trial, under the direction of Judge Peters, found a verdict in favor of Mr. Ings. The Liquidators applied for a new trial, and after argument, the Judge set aside the verdict, and directed the cause again to be tried. On the second trial the facts were precisely the same as in the first, but the jury in this occasion, under His Lordship's changed opinion in regard to the law, found a verdict against Mr. Ings in favor of the Liquidators. Against this judgement, Mr. Ings appealed to the Supreme Court, and the case was argued before the full court at Ottawa in February last, by Mr. Davies' counsel for Ings, and Messrs F. Peters and R. R. Fitzgerald counsel for Liquidators, and after considering the questions involved the Appeal Court reversed the judgement of Judge Peters, and in effect decided that Ings had a perfect right to set off against the note given by him the draft issued by the old Bank.

A Divided Party.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette writes:—"An Opposition caucus was held this morning, (June 22) at which it is said serious disagreements developed themselves. Several members complained bitterly of the delay to public business caused by the policy of obstruction adopted by the leaders and a few others, and declared their determination not to submit to a continuance of it. They urged the abrogation of the rule which prevented pairing, so that those who wished to leave might do so, by preparing pairs from the ministerial side. So strong was the feeling that the caucus broke up without coming to an agreement."

A Fatal and Heartrending Accident.

A most heartrending accident occurred at Cow River, King's County, which resulted in the death of two bright and promising children, the particulars of which, so far as we have been able to learn, are as follows:— On Friday last, as two children of Mr Angus McCormack of Selkirk—a girl and a boy, aged respectively 12 and 10 years—were returning from school, they stopped at Cow River Bridge that the boy might have a spell fishing in the stream near by. After getting his hook and line ready, he scrambled out upon a longer or log that lay floating in the river, and commenced fishing. His sister also climbed out upon the same log, and when attempting to come in again, the outer end of the log on which the boy was sitting went down, throwing him suddenly into the water. The sister in trying to rescue her drowning brother, lost her own life in the attempt. One of their school mates was present and witnessed the accident. He gave the alarm, but before assistance could be obtained, the brother and sister sank for the last time. The bodies were recovered shortly after. They were side by side in about six feet of water. The melancholy occurrence has cast a gloom over the community; much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents in their sad affliction.
