Exciting Match Played At Tennis Tourney

An exciting match which lasted until after sunset and on into the dusk took place last night when two evenly matched teams met in the Charlottetown Tennis Club tournament, competing for the right to advance into the second round of the men's doubles. Although Ivo Cudmore and Art Cantwell appeared at times to be on the losing end of the match, they succeeded in defeating their opponents, Ivan Dowling and Elmer Blanchard. Dowling and Blanchard took the first set 9-7, and lost the second 6-1, but they made a strong comeback in the third set, several times holding one game lead. Leading 5-4 toward the end of the set, they succumbed to a renewed effort by Cantwell and Cudmore, to lose out 7-5.

In the other two matches, a strong combination in the ladies doubles, Helen Larter and Nora DeBlois defeated Elizabeth Willett and Suzanne Palmer 6-1, 6-3, eliminating them in the semi-final round. Phil Jardine advanced into the semi-finals by defeating Ted Strain 6-4, 6-2.

Cudmore and Cantwell will go on the courts again today to play Carl Bradley and Fred Coyle in the quarter finals, at 5:45 p.m. In the semi-finals of the ladies singles, Helen Larter will play Elizabeth Willett at 5:00 p.m. A. H. Anderson runs one game lead, leading 5-4 toward the end of the set, they succumbed to a renewed effort by Cantwell and Cudmore, to lose out 7-5.

THE GUARDIAN, CHARLOTTETOWN

AUGUST 14, 1951

It has been noted that Billy Evans, the man who compiled that unique book on baseball, "Knotty Problems" has recently retired from organized baseball. Evans, who was an American League umpire for 22 years, is more prominently known to followers of the game in this quarter as the general manager of Detroit Tigers, presently leading the second division of the American League pennant race.

Following a long career in major league ball, Evans announced his intention earlier this season of retiring from organized ball but said he was going to remain as head man of the Tigers until the end of the season. Since then, however, he decided to make his retirement effective immediately in favor of Hall of Famer's second baseman, the great Charlie Gehringer, who has now succeeded Evans as the Detroit Club's general manager. Now that he is in retirement, perhaps Billy will devote more of his time to authoring such valuable and informative guides on baseball as his "Knotty Problems", a handbook that can give the solution to almost any problem that crops up in America's National sporting pastime.

Evans' great interest in baseball, not only as a man who umpired and managed in the sport but one who set down his own experience in book form so that he could be illustrated by it, can be better explained by his own introduction to "Knotty Problems." Says Evans: "Some three decades back I wrote a book — 'How To Umpire' — in belief that it would be of interest and helpful to aspiring and ambitious umpires. It was devoted mostly to a discussion of the fundamentals of baseball officiating. The intent and purpose was to provide a background for umpires that would give them a start in the right direction.

"The final chapter of the umpire book was made up of puzzling plays, knotty problems, that, in a brief and concrete way, would better explain the rules and fundamentals which made up the previous chapters of the book. The plays discussed proved equally interesting and informative to players and fans. Here was a feature that struck the fancy of the four classes that make baseball the great game it is — executives, players, fans and press.

"The name 'Knotty Problems' was given to the feature. Its immediate popularity was such that 'Knotty Problems' became a part of the annual Spalding Official Baseball Guide. It provided a medium for the umpire, player and fan to get straightened out on the many difficult and unusual situations that baseball presents. It became a clearing house for the baseball world and its problems.

"It wasn't long," continues Evans, "before the feature had grown the chapter set aside for it in the Spalding Guide. To keep pace with the popularity of the feature, it became necessary to publish it in a separate book. No other sport is so controversial in relation to its playing code as baseball. Naturally 'Knotty Problems' could not handle every situation, so it decided to confine itself to the unique, unusual and extraordinary baseball happenings rather than the commonplace.

"Since the initial publication of 'Knotty Problems' appeared, the playing code has undergone two drastic revisions. At other times there have been changes here and there, that in the opinion of the rulemakers would help the game. Since the very inception of the playing rules, the belief has persisted that the wording of the rules could be simplified and clarified in such a manner that the youngsters of the game could more easily and better understand them. After all, nothing is quite so important in baseball as to start the youngsters off in the right manner." In that belief, Evans did exactly that with his "Knotty Problems."

Sweeping Tax Concessions In N. Z. Promised

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 13 (Reuters). Prime Minister Sidney Holland tonight promised sweeping tax concessions if the present government is returned at the polls Sept. 1.

Opening the national party's election campaign with a major policy speech broadcast from Christchurch, Holland said the concessions would:

- Exempt income tax payments on incomes of £308 a year;
- A married man with wife and three children would pay no tax on up to £520 a year;
- There would be a 15-per-cent surcharge-imposed as a defence levy on all incomes—would be cut to 10 per cent, affording relief of about £4,500,000 to 460,000 taxpayers.

There would also be upward revisions in the universal superannuation benefit but it would be subject to income tax.

In attacks on the cost of living, bread would be reduced by one penny a two-pound loaf, flour by 18 pence a 25-pound bag, butter by four pence a pound and tea by three pence a pound.

Reductions would be made in the price of coal gas for domestic use and gasoline would be reduced by two pence a gallon.

All the concessions would operate from Sept. 3.

Announcing his defence proposals, Holland said it had been decided to advance New Zealand's military training program and increase the age for compulsory draft service from 18 to 20 years.

The Premier hinted that New Zealand would have to strengthen its laws against subversion to deal with Communism in the country.

The election was called last month after the government decided to dissolve parliament and stake its life on its handling of the lengthy waterfront strike. Communists were blamed for the labor strike in which the government triumphed.

Holland's government, which turned out the Labor Party in 1949, had 46 seats to the Labor opposition's 34 in parliament at dissolution.

MacFadden Plans Jump Over Falls

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Bernard MacFadden, 82-year-old physical culturist, plans to make a parachute jump over Niagara Falls "within the next 10 days," a spokesman said today. The spokesman added that MacFadden plans to end his leap into the water below the falls.

New Treatment For Blood Clots In Heart Patients

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Pills that dissolve in your mouth may be a new way of fighting blood clots in heart patients, or saving frost-bitten soldiers from amputations.

The new pills contain heparin, a blood-thinning drug. Heretofore, heparin has been given only by injection for heart patients, to dissolve potentially fatal clots in blood vessels.

In frostbite, a major winter hazard of soldiers in Korea, tiny blood vessels in toes or fingers may become clogged, and the tissue dies, necessitating amputations. Heparin thins the blood to prevent clogging, but soldiers usually can't get it until they reach a hospital. Someday they may be able to carry the pills for emergency use.

The first human experiments with the new form of heparin was described in the proceedings of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine by Drs. Joseph Litwins, Jefferson J. Vorzimer, Leon N. Sussman and A. David Eless, and a chemist, Samuel Appelzweig, of Beth Israel Hospital here.

Only a small amount of the heparin tablets have been produced for experimental studies.

DECLARES SHOW

The judges were experts in their line and fully qualified to place the exhibits in the positions they merit.

He said the factors which make an agricultural show a success are the arduous work of the directors, the efficient and courteous staff chosen by them and the efforts of all exhibitors. In mentioning the building program of the past he expressed the hope that in the near future it would be possible to have a covered judging pavilion so that the shows could go on regardless of the weather.

Hon. Mr. Baker extended a blanket invitation to all island residents to "Come and see for yourselves the basic industry of the economy of your Province; even if you are not farm folk, you cannot help but realize that directly or indirectly, farm production is responsible for the economic stability of all our people whatever may be the nature of their business, profession or vocation."

All speakers were warmly applauded by the large gathering who listened with interest to the brief remarks. While waiting their time to speak the guests were comfortably seated on the stage. The furniture for the occasion was kindly donated by Holman's Ltd.

More Than 3,000 See New Records By Miss Knox, Abner The Great

Old Home Week racing got away to an auspicious start at the Exhibition Raceway last night when well over 3,000 spectators saw some thrilling racing and fast times in a big 10-dash card that was the opening feature of five nights and three afternoons of harness racing.

It was a performance that came up with some driving track duels and was not without its thrilling upsets, when long shots came roaring home at the wire in photo finishes to unseat the favourites on the betting odds.

Speed was also a prominent feature of the meet with winning times ranging as low as 2:08 3-5, for all while two other horses, Abner The Great and Miss Knox, set new record times for themselves.

Dick Ebra, a brown gelding owned by Norman Acker of St. Stephen, N. B. and driven by Creamer, was a big double winner in one of the feature events, the second division free-for-all over such top entries as Argot Pointer, Jerry Lynn, Vella La Vella and Mannister Direct, taking the event in straight dashes.

In the other free-for-all event, the second division, Miss Knox, owned by Commander C. H. Burnett, City, clipped 3:55 of a second off her old mark to set a new record of 2:09 2-5 in winning her opening dash of the class, while Lock Hanover, a high favourite on the betting board, finally came home a winner in the second dash after placing second in the first.

Setting a new record of 2:11 1-5, Abner The Great, owned by James Heffel of Summerside and driven by George Sobey, was the only other double winner of the night. Placing third in the first dash of the 2:25 first division pace, the black pacing gelding came through on top by going to the front and staying there in the second dash to clip 2:11 off a newly made mark of 2:12. It is the third time this year that the plucky little pacer has set a new record. Abner came driving in from behind to take the final dash for the double win.

Bad Accident
 In the opening dash on the card, the second division 2:26 trot, a bad accident occurred at the bottom turn going to the five-eighths pole that saw two drivers thrown to the track and their charges running loose with the rest of the field, one later crashing through the fence into the centre field at the upper turn coming to the top of the stretch.

Winnie's Last, driven by Len O'Meara, took over the lead going into the turn past the half from Anyway, but went into a break near the 3/8 pole that entangled Tartan, driven by Eric Moreside, causing both drivers to be thrown and the horses continuing on driverless. Bunched up with the rest of the field at the 7/8 pole, the runaway Tartan, crashed right through the wooden rail into the infield, suffering sufficient injuries to cause being withdrawn from any further racing. Driver O'Meara, although badly shaken up and suffering bruises to his face, an arm and leg, was not considered to be seriously injured but was apparently bad enough to prevent him from any further driving during the night. Moreside was uninjured but did not appear again due to the fact that his charge, Tartan, was drawn from further
