Council Given Housing Blame

TORONTO (CP)—Neglect by city councils past and present was given as the main cause for shocking housing conditions in this city in a report by Judge Robert Forsyth released here.

The report by the senior York county judge was on an inquiry he conducted earlier this year into charges by Alderman June Marks that city slums had developed either through the ignorance or connivance of city officials.

Judge Forsyth reported that blame for the city's housing crisis "if blame there is, rests entirely on the city of Toronto." He emphasized he was not saying the present city administration was at fault.

Mayor Philip Givens later defended the city's record in public housing at a press conference and said: "We don't deserve all the blame."

He said there was no doubt the political aftermath of the inquiry will be considerable and predicted: "The more embarrassed the aldermen are, the more likely they are to do something."

Judge Forsyth reported there was no evidence to support Mrs. Marks' charges that the city building department is "soft on absentee landlords."

BREADALBANE

Young Canada Book Week, November 15-20, was observed in Breadalbane library with a party for the school children on Thursday, Nov. 18. The younger children dramatized a story entitled, "Mr. Mushroom" by Slobod Kin. John MacLeod, represented "Mr. Mushroom" and Janice Snowie was the other leading character. "Mr. Mushroom" shared his wedding feast of marshmallows with all the children present. Other items on the program were choruses, "Mary Had a Little Lamb" by the junior pupils and "Marching to Pretoria" by the seniors, several book quizzes, and a game. The librarian, Mrs. Pomroy Murray treated the children with a variety of candy and popcorn. Prizes will be awarded later for the best book reviews.
