Liberal-Conservative Convention at Georgetown.

On Tuesday, the 11th inst., the Court House at Georgetown was well filled with the delegates from the Polling Divisions of the Second Legislative Council District of King's County, who met to nominate a candidate to fill the seat formerly held by James Clow, Esq. The chair was occupied by Hon. D. Gordon, President of the King's County Association. The number of delegates present was 130, being ten from each Polling Division.

The following gentlemen were proposed as candidates: W. A. Poole, Esq., Lower Montague; P. Koughan, Esq., Elliotvale; P. J. D. Edmonds, Esq., Summerville; R. W. Sprague, Esq., Montague Bridge; John Jamieson, Esq., Sturgeon; John Livingstone, Esq., High Bank. On the fifth ballot W. A. Poole, Esq., received the highest number of votes, and was unanimously accepted as the choice of the convention.

From the number of delegates who took part in this convention, and the interest manifested in the election, we feel assured that Mr. Poole will be elected by a handsome majority.

The opposition party are to nominate their candidate at Georgetown on Saturday, the 15th inst. We hear that George B. Aitken, Esq., Lower Montague, will likely be their choice.

Notes By The Way.

Mr. John A. McPhee, of Hermanville, lately killed three otters with one shot. Seven of the animals emerged out of a spring, or hole in the ice, on Big Pond, and Mac succeeded in capturing three of them. These beautiful fur-bearing animals are now getting scarce in these sections, and their skins are in great demand.

At Fairfield there is considerable fishing business carried on in summer. The Messrs. Carleton, of Souris, are among the leading fish merchants of that place. A large number of boats, many of them from Nova Scotia, fish out of this haven, which affords good shelter to the fishermen, with nearly all winds, except north-east and easterly. If the breakwater at that place had been built according to plans and specifications, with an L at the water end, it would be of much more value, as it would break off the prevailing easterly winds. The sand obstructions, which are fast filling the cove, could be greatly improved were there an inner tide-way open, so that the waters could have a clean sweep to the Gulf, in carrying away the kelp, sand and rubbish which accumulate there.

The Lakeville postoffice is kept by Mr. Thomas Rose, and the North Lake post-office by Mr. Elijah Morrow—lineal descendants of the early English settlers of that place. They both give universal satisfaction.

Mr. Michael Kickham carries a tri-weekly mail from Souris to and from the North Lake. Mr. Kickham has been in the mail service over two years, and is quite popular along the route.

Colin J. Campbell, Esq., was recently appointed and qualified a Justice of the Peace for North Lake, etc.

Sterns Bros. keep a general store at Lakeville, of which Mr. John O'Hanley is manager. Mr. Patrick McInnis, blacksmith, does a large amount of work in his line, and always employs some help. By the way, there are four of that family blacksmiths. The latter-named gentleman, who also farms. He slaughtered, a few days ago, six hogs averaging 300 pounds weight each.

Mr. John McInnis, sen., is the oldest man living around the lake. He is in his 87th year, and is quite hale and conversable. This old gentleman was in his day the Nimrod of King's Co., and the number of fur-bearing animals which he killed and trapped was enormous. He pursued the business more or less for 70 years. He trapped in one winter five wild cats or lucifers, besides a large number of foxes, otters, sables, etc. Mr. McInnis also trapped a very large number of hares. Bears are not yet extinct in these sections, as one a few days ago was captured with her cubs in a den at the rear of Rockbarra by Mr. McIsaac, and account of which your readers no doubt have heard of ere this.

The lake streams, etc., as well as the lobster fishery, is well looked after by Mr. Allan C. McDonald, fish warden, an efficient and vigilant official.

The Lakeville school is taught by Mr. Wm. O. Rose, a second-class teacher, who is doing good work. The North Lake school is taught by Mr. A. J. McPhee. The teachers are energetic, and the buildings fair, but the average attendance in some of the schools at that place seems to be decreasing instead of increasing. This state of affairs can, to a great extent, be attributed to the fact that many bachelors around there prefer to live in single blessedness (?) and have their sisters or mothers to keep house for them, instead of making themselves and somebody else's sister happy, as they should do.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Rights of Farmer's Wives.

SIR,—For all that farmer's wives share so much of the farm's responsibility, many of them have no acknowledged rights on the farm. They slave in the interests of the farm and family, but the plans which govern everything are dictated by the farmer.

It was so in our own home until a few years ago, when I was struck with the injustice of this one-sided management of our domestic affairs, and I resolved to allow my partner the proceeds and management of the sale of butter, cheese and eggs, which averaged one hundred dollars annually, besides supplying the needs of the family, and since this method has been introduced the greatest interest is manifested.

In no other occupation of men, are women so directly concerned as in farming. Indeed, a well-appointed, prosperous farm is almost an impossibility without the help of an interested woman. In so many ways she advances the farm's interests, she cooks for the hired help, and prevents waste so much of the yearly income of the family.

So the farmer's wife is not only a matrimonial partner, but is really a partner in his business. It is unjust then that the plans which govern the home and its surroundings should be exclusively the wishes of the farmer, while her desires are treated as of little importance.

If the proceeds from the farm are spent in purchasing labor-saving machinery for the farmer, it should be spent in buying the same for his wife. If money is spent in improving the barn and stock, it should also be spent in making the home pleasant and convenient.

This plan of mutual rights and mutual benefits, could but result in much good and satisfaction to both husband and wife.

Eight Lives Lost.

A TERRIBLY FATAL FIRE FIVE MILES FROM MONTREAL.

A Montreal despatch of the 9th says: A dreadful calamity took place this morning at Cote St. Michel, by which almost an entire family was wiped out of existence. Onazime Collaret, a rich farmer, got up at five o'clock, and after making a fire left a kerosene oil can, partly filled, alongside the stove and went out to attend his cattle. While the farmer was in the barn, a hired man came running in and said the house was on fire. Collaret rushed out and found his home in flames. He ran up stairs, where he had left his wife and seven children in bed, but all efforts to save them were unavailing, and in half an hour eight dead bodies were taken from the ruins. The almost crazed father also had to be rescued, being terribly burned, and will probably die. The mother was 40 years of age and the dead children are three girls and four boys from 22 months to thirteen years. The remains were placed in two coffins and carried away amidst the uncovered heads of six thousand people gathered round. The property is valued at $6,000.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. Mar 1 90 dy eod wky
