

New London Annual Parish Meeting Held

The New London Annual Parish meeting was held in St. Mark's Hall, Kensington, when the rector, Rev. W. Eric Ingraham presided and led in the devotions.

The minutes of last annual meeting and treasurers report were read by the secretary, Mr. Keith Harrington. William Thompson, Parish Chairman reported on the Every Member Visitation Campaign, which met with reasonably satisfactory results.

The rector's report followed, when he said "increased missionary giving is a healthy sign in any church." This year the parish went over the top by giving 175 percent of its missionary apportionment. In addition envelope giving is up, special appeals have been met. St. Thomas' Church, New London has raised the building and are having the interior re-decorated.

The property at St. Stephen's, Burlington is in good condition, and St. Mark's is reducing the debt for improvements made on church and hall property. At each church meeting, a moment of still prayer, followed by prayer by the minister, had been observed in memory of those who had been laid to rest during the year. At St. Mark's, Kensington, Mrs. Layton Rogers, Mr. David L. McInnis and Mr. William Graham; at St. Stephen's, Burlington, Mr. Roy Hiltz, Mrs. Annie Sudbury, Mr. Maynard Bryanton, Mrs. Margaret Ella Simmons, Miss Della Adams, Mr. James Duggan and Baby Jennifer Gail Adams; and at St. Thomas' New London, Mr. J.B. Fayter. In concluding his address, the rector said, "We pray that the parish may flourish in faith and press on with vigor in the Lord's work."

The next major project confronting the parish is the renovation of St. Marks Rectory. After a great deal of discussion on ways, means and when, a resolution was passed to the effect, that the parish work on the finances, with the repairs to the rectory being the primary objective after necessary expenses have been met.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham were asked to retire and Mr. William Thompson took the chair while the matter of a raise in the rector's stipend was discussed by the meeting. A motion by Elmer Paynter, seconded by William Pidgeon and passed unanimously, authorized a raise of $300 in stipend and a heated rectory.

With the rector again presiding, a parish vestry was elected. This is composed of the wardens of each church: Robert Jollymore, William Pidgeon Orville Adams, Leigh Paynter; Joseph Harding, Gordon Cooke, and the following: Borden Campbell, Arnold Meek, Leslie Cole and Athol Cotton. C. F. A. Delegate Pays Warm Tribute To Late Dr. E. C. Hope

Mr. Colin B. Waugh, president of the Maritime Federation of Agriculture returned home on Saturday evening from Montreal where he had attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

Commenting last evening on the death of Dr. E. C. Hope, farm economist with the C.F.A., Mr. Waugh paid the following tribute to Dr. Hope.

"It was with profound shock that we learned, as we gathered for our Thursday morning meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture of the passing of Dr. E. C. Hope a few hours before. Dr. Hope had been with us for the three previous days and had given his annual report and had been of great assistance with his sound advice at the largely attended meeting.

"He was the farm economist of the Maritime Provinces through his various speaking tours in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

No longer can we keep exclusively to ourselves the wealth that has produced on this continent and in Western Europe the highest standard of living yet known in this world. Citing Professor Blacket, president of the Advancement Association for the Advancement of Science, he said that the average individual income in Eastern Europe was about $60 a year in 1949 while the average in North America and Western Europe was about $900.

If India, for example, could experience an increase in national income that would be twice the average of Western Europe—and this was said to be most unlikely—it would take 50 years before the living standard of India would climb from tenth to one
