Husband—We must be more economical in the use of coal. Wife—, a Vassar graduate—There are untold billions of tons of coal just beneath the earth's surface, and— Husband—And one or two big corporations just above.—New York Weekly.

Magistrate—Prisoner, what do you do for a living? Bunco Man, from Boston—Your honor will pardon me if I seem to take undue liberties, but your honor's grammar is much at fault. What can never be a synonym for whom.—Philadelphia Record.

Miss Mildmay—I am sure that there is good in Mr. Spooner. He certainly is very tender-hearted. Miss Frost—Yes, he has a heart that has been tendered to about every unmarried woman in town, if that is what you mean.—Boston Transcript.

Lieutenant (in Miss Emily's private sitting room)—Emily, I cannot find expression for the feelings which agitate my breast—I love you! (dropping on his knees). Behold me lying here in the dust before you! Emily—I beg your pardon, lieutenant; that is an insult. I dusted everything myself only a minute ago.—Geillustreerd Zondagsblad.

Landowner (to party bobbing in the stream)—Hallo, there, don't you see that sign, "No fishing here?" Angler—Yes; ain't it ridiculous? Fine fishing here; just look at that for a string (holding up a dozen or twenty big fellows) beauties, ain't they? The chap who stuck up that sign evidently didn't know what he was talking about.—Boston Transcript.

LIGHT, BUT NO HEAT.

A Young New Jersey Inventor Claims That He is Able to do This Little Trick.

A young New Jersey electrician, D. McFarlan Moore, claims to have discovered the secret of the firefly. In other words, he insists that he can make light without heat, in accordance with a new principle of muscular vibration.

He proposes to emulate the glowworm, and, instead of having the present red-hot, hairpin filament in the ordinary incandescend light, he will make the whole surface of the glass glow with a brilliant illumination.

Mr. Moore's experiments have been directed along the lines of a new principle in electricity, which he claims to have discovered. He maintains that, theoretically, there is no more reason why we cannot have light without heat than there is why we cannot strike a chord on the piano without striking all the keys in order to have music. He claims to be able to separate the several divisions of energy and employ only illuminating elements. He employs the ordinary current of 110 volts, and from this gets a light that compares very favorably with sunshine, so far as obtaining a good photographic negative is concerned. Indeed, he asserts that a one-volt current is enough to accomplish illumination.

He expects one of these days to sell sticks of light, about the size of a stick of candy, that will burn for 48 hours. They will be a sort of storage battery that a man can carry around in his vest pocket. At night all that is necessary to be done is to press the button and you have a bright light.

His laboratory is in Harrison, N. J., and recently a party of electrical experts examined his new apparatus for producing light without heat. The machinery employed by him is said to be very simple, and the present commercial current of 110 volts will be enough for nearly 100 lamps.

Under the present incandescent lamp lighting the heat amounts to 99 per cent. of the energy; under Mr. Moore's system nearly all this is saved, so that the cost of his lamps is reduced very much. When the current is turned on and the lamps become phosphorescent the bulbs are as cold as if they had been in an ice-box. The whole surface of the lamp is illuminated, and not merely the filament or hairpin, as in the present incandescent lamp. The effect of the new light is said to be something exceedingly brilliant. He proposes to use tubs in big halls and churches.

Quite a Surprise.

He—Will you be my wife?
She—Oh, this is such a surprise!
He—I can't help that. It isn't my fault that you've never heard anything like it before.—Life.

Desperate Itchings of the Skin Allayed by Chase's Ointment—The Recognized Skin Specific.

It is only a few months since Dr. Chase's Ointment was brought prominently before the public, principally by its cures of stubborn and long standing cases of Itching Piles that had defied all other treatments. To day it is recognized from ocean to ocean as an infallible cure for Itching Piles, Eczematic Eruptions and all Itching of the Skin. Its cures have rendered its sales larger than those of all other preparations for such ailments combined. People use Dr Chase's Ointment with confidence, because in every community someone has been benefitted like Mr. Simpson, Berlin, Ont., who, under date of Feb. 8, '95, writes that for a number of years he was troubled with Itching Piles; they caused intense suffering, and although dozens of advertised remedies were used, none of them did any good although some of them had long and thorough trials. Here are his own words quoted from his letter. "Last fall I got a box of Chase's Ointment from Mr Laudreth's drug store, Berlin. I applied according to directions and soon found it was what I wanted. Only used part of one box when I was well as ever in my life. Once in a while since I have felt slight symptoms of its return, but one application of the Ointment and all is right again."

Such expressions as this from those who use Chase's account for its popularity.

FORCE OF HABIT.

London People Have Become USED To The Great Specific Remedy.

LONDON, Aug. 19—The despatch from Detroit with reference to the cure from Brights disease and blood poisoning of Mr. Langley, of this city, by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, has recalled the wonderful facts of the case to the citizens, among Mr. Langley is well known. It has reminded them that Mrs. Langley among others also made an equally wonderful recovery. The use of the pills however has become so universal here, and there have been so many instances in which they have been used with beneficial results that a similar case would hardly excite as much interest now as it did then when the medicine was less known.

The Children's Enemy.

Scrofula often shows itself in early life, and is characterized by swelling, abscesses, hip diseases, etc. Consumption is scrofula of the lungs. In this class of diseases Scott's Emulsion is unquestionably the most reliable medicine.
