BROWNIE DRESS FOR A BOY

Refreshing Departure from "Lit le Lord Fauntleroy" Velvets.

Here is a real brownie—a little boy with a touch of the brownie nature, as one can readily see, clad in a becoming suit of russet brown cloth for September wear.

Rich in tone and well in harmony with nature's dress at this season, the jacket and trousers are simply trimmed with stitching, while the cut of the jacket reveals a white linen shirt waist, which has broad collars and cuffs, edged with Irish linen.

A neck scarf of yellow silk lends an artistic dash of color to this early autumn fancy. Its qualities, both in tone and durability, are recommended, while its very plainness is a refreshing departure from the Little Lord Fauntleroy velvets, which have been used too long to be any longer interesting.—New York Herald.

THE EDUCATED NURSE.

An Interview With a London Authority on the Subject.

Mrs. Bedford Fenwich, says London Queen, can speak with authority upon nursing matters, for she has climbed the professional ladder to its topmost rung, beginning as a probationer in the Children's Hospital at Nottingham, proceeding thence to the Manchester Royal Infirmary. In due course she received promotion, and was offered the post of sister at the London Hospital, and in eighteen months from her arrival in the metropolis she was appointed to be matron of St. Bartholomew's. Her marriage with Dr. Bedford Fenwick some six years later led to her abandonment of public hospital work, but she has since established a private nursing home, the superintendence of which occupies much of her time. It was, however, at her own residence in the medical quarter that I found her one day.

Mrs. Fenwick is of the opinion that no nurse should be allowed to take private nursing cases at all who has not had three years' hospital training. She is, therefore, strongly in favor of registration. If a nurse's name is on the register, the doctor who recommends her, and the family who engages her, will know that she has had three years' hospital training, and that she has satisfied the authorities of her training school of her efficiency.

"Well, but Mrs. Fenwick," said the Queen representative, "we hear the objection urged that nurses who are upon the register may have the requisite knowledge, but may lack the highest practical or moral qualities. How do you meet this? I suppose you would say that the medical register does not guarantee that every man on its list is strictly sober, of high moral character, and the rest; but it does guarantee a certain standard of ability and knowledge."

"Precisely; and, moreover," continued Mrs. Fenwick, "we must look to the matrons of hospitals to discourage nurses from completing their course of training if they are manifestly unsuited for the profession; and in that case they certainly should not receive the hospital certificate that they are efficient, upon which they would be entitled to be registered. I am convinced that registration will immensely raise the self-respect of nurses by raising their profession in the eyes of others."

"Are hospitals satisfactorily governed at present?"

No; Mrs. Fenwick thought the whole system, or want of system, most unsatisfactory. Any rich, well-meaning gentleman, however, unacquainted with hospital matters, could, on payment of a certain sum of money, become a life governor. The result of this plan was that the average governing body was entirely in the hands of the officials, who could manage the whole institution autocratically. "I dislike extremely," said Mrs. Fenwick, "all that tends toward institutionalism or the growth of a close corporation. When I think about this subject, I am often reminded of the ancient hospitals of the Knights Templar, where it was the rule that a stream of clear water should run through every ward. It is just such a stream," she added, speaking with intensity, "the wholesome stream of public opinion, that we need to flow through our hospitals. But the opinion must be educated. And that is why I wish so much to see women upon hospital committees. Women have the leisure to give to the study of hospital management which the average man of business lacks, and if we could encourage some women to do for hospitals what Miss Louisa Twining has done for workhouse infirmaries, many petty abuses would be swept away.

Get a move on you. The fall trade will be late but large for those who have faith.—Cincinnati Tribune.

The Elliott Case.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 4.—Many citizens of this city are willing to vouch for the truth of Frank Elliott's statement that he was cured of kidney disease of six years' standing by the use of Dodd's kidney pills. Everyone is astonished at the rapidity of thoroughness with which these pills do their work. As one who had tried them says: "A man feels, after using them, as though he had never enjoyed life before." The Rymal case, in which a paralytic was cured by Dodd's kidney pills, opened the eyes of the people in this vicinity to the virtues of this remedy.

The Test of Time.

William Holder, sailmaker, St. John, writes: "This is to certify that for nearly a year I suffered with dyspepsia, indigestion and severe bilious headaches. I lost flesh and became very weak. I was recommended to use Hawker's Tonic and Pills, and am pleased to say that they completely cured me. I gained flesh very fast, and became hearty and stronger than I had ever been, and have never suffered since, now over one year." .....

"An ounce of prevention, &c. Do not neglect that cough! One bottle of Putner's Emulsion (the cough medicine par excellence) taken now, may save you weeks of illness, and a long doctor's bill. Large bottle, only 50 cents.

A Druggist's Story.

An Ontario druggist, doing business in a large and flourishing city, recently remarked to one interested in Paine's Celery Compound, that the sale of that medicine with him was something extraordinary. He asserted that the combined sales of all other regular remedies could not equal the demand for Paine's Celery Compound. When asked for a reason for the great demand, he said: "Paine's Celery Compound gives more general satisfaction and better results than any other medicine I handle. People are influenced by results and cures, and will not spend money the second time for worthless preparations. I am firmly convinced, from observation and experience, that Paine's Celery Compound accomplishes all it promises. The great remedy is at the head of all others and must prove the most popular with sufferers. I recommend it to my customers every day."

It is proposed to strengthen and unite the colonial party in Great Britain from among the peers, and invitations to attend the next meeting have been sent to those who have lately returned from the colonial service and are fresh from contact with the colonies. Among those invited are the Earl of Jersey, who retired from the governship of New South Wales; Lord Carrington, his predecessor in the same office; Lord Stanmore (formerly Sir Arthur Gordon) whose last post was in Ceylon; and the Earl of Onslow. The next meeting is convened for November.

A Big Mistake.

The moulting season, or the season when the hens shed their feathers will soon be at an end. The process is one that in certain respects debilitates and prevents hens from laying. The reason of this is that the growing of new feathers requires all the nitrogen and phosphates contained in the food and there is none left to form the egg. A curious fact about the hen, and one that illustrates the foregoing statement, is this, if a hen's leg be broken during the laying season, she will lay her eggs without shells until the break is mended. The reason for this must be that all the lime contained in the food is required to unite the broken bone, there is therefore none for the formation of egg shells. The formation of new feathers does not require any carbonaceous or fat producing food, consequently well fed hens get very fat during the moulting. Many farmers and poultry raisers not understanding all about these things kill off their old hens because they think they have stopped laying and are fat. This is a great mistake, because if the proper material be furnished them with their food to supply the increased demand for nitrogen and phosphates before mentioned the old hens will be through shedding feathers much sooner and will begin laying on the approach of cold weather and will continue to lay vigorously all winter, while the young pullets, reserved to take the place of the old hens, may not begin to lay until much later in the season. Very many people have learned from experience that Sheridan's Condition Powder mixed once daily with their food will supply the extra material needed to strengthen and invigorate their hens, enabling them to grow new plumage quickly and commence laying early. Those who commence now to use Sheridan's Powder, will find that their young pullets will commence to lay at from four to six months old, and will lay continuously through the winter. The Farmers' Poultry Raising Guide, published by I. S. Johnson & Co., at 22 Custom House Street, Boston, at 25 cents, contains a vast amount of information on this subject. Johnson & Co. will send, post paid, two 25 cent packs of powder and one Guide for 60 cents, or a 2½ lb. can of the powder, postage or express prepaid, for $1.20 and a guide free.

Principal Grant, of Kingston, responded for the Dominion of Canada to the addresses of welcome made at Chicago on Monday last to the foreign participants to what is called the World's Parliament of Religion. Judging by the reports of Dr. Grant's patriotic speech, which appear in the various Chicago papers, his response was literally for Canada itself, rather than for the creeds represented in the population of this Dominion. If reported accurately, the eloquent Presbyterian professor must have been weighed down by the consciousness of this particular fact that, whilst politically and materially Canada has progressed and extended her Dominion in all directions except to the south, our religious development has not been the manifest outcome of mutual charity, benevolence and the love of common humanity. But he is not without hope now, for he concluded with the following words: "We recognize the cost of our failure; we confess it with humble, lowly penitent and obedient hearts, and with the usual western courage we now come forward to do otherwise."

W. H. ROGERS.

AMHERST, N. S., May 27, 1893.

THE GRODER DYSPEPSIA CURE CO.

GENTLEMEN:—I am 71 years of age. Have been afflicted with sick headache most all my life, which developed into Dyspepsia of a mild type about twenty years ago, and has continued to grow worse until during the past seven or eight years I have not been able to take a drink of cold water or milk, as they would produce severe pains and sometimes vomiting. I have been subject to severe pains in the chest, with dizziness, which have been more frequent during the past three or four years. My mouth was furred up in the mornings, accompanied with bad breath. My case was yearly growing worse.

During all this long period I have tried many popular medicines, as well as prescriptions from the regular medical practitioners, but without producing any improvement.

In the fall of '92 I concluded to try a bottle or two of your medicine and such were its effects that I continued it and now I can drink cold water or milk without any inconvenience. Those dizzy pains are all gone and my mouth is as sweet as a baby's. In short, your medicine has cured me and I am sure that all Dyspeptics can be cured by its use.

(Signed) W. H. ROGERS,
Late inspector of Fisheries for Nova Scotia.

HEART FAILURE, FAINTNESS, ACUTE DYSPEPSIA, with Complete Nervous Prostration,

Cured by Using HAWKER'S NERVE & STOMACH TONIC.

A LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Wm. Thompson of Musquash, N. B., says: "For 2 years past my wife has suffered with Acute Dyspepsia accompanied with complete nervous prostration and a smothering sensation about the heart which frequently produced an attack of faintness. She became weak and nervous, lost all energy, and had a constant feeling of dread. She suffered with intense pain in the stomach after eating, which was usually followed by the smothering sensation about the heart and fainting spells. She tried a great many remedies and was treated by the doctors for some time, but obtained no relief. She became so discouraged that she gave up all hope of ever getting better, when our pastor suggested that she try HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC and LIVER PILLS, which had produced remarkable cures in several cases he knew of. We did so and she obtained immediate relief from the distress after taking the second dose, and has continued to improve ever since until to-day she is as well as ever, and can enjoy her food without fear of suffering. I cannot speak too highly of these valuable medicines which have restored my wife to health and strength and saved much suffering and expense."

Rev. Henry M. Spike, Rector of Musquash, N. B., says: "I am personally acquainted with Mrs. Tompson's case, and am greatly pleased that the medicine which I recommended to her produced such remarkable results."
