

Western Assumptions On Disarmament Outdated?

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
PARIS (CP)—External Affairs Minister Percy Spender today suggested that Western assumptions on disarmament may be outdated.

Addressing the North Atlantic Treaty Association council, Pearson said that perhaps neither East nor West now is prepared for 100 per cent inspection as a means of actually disarming.

He also wondered whether the United Nations remains the proper instrument for disarmament discussions when countries such as Germany and Italy are outside it.

On the question of inspection, Pearson is understood to have been thinking of the fact that in the atomic era it is well nigh impossible to make an airtight check on disarmament.

EAST-WEST DIFFERENCES

It is not known whether Pearson made any specific proposals himself but it is believed his purpose was merely to stress the importance of having another look at disarmament.

Canada has been a member of the UN sub-committee studying disarmament. Other countries on it are Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union.

While Russia has recently come closer to the Western position, there are still important differences between East and West.

The NATO meeting at which Pearson spoke was called so that the foreign ministers of Britain, the U.S. and France could give other members of the Atlantic alliance details of the policy they plan to follow at the Geneva conference beginning Monday.

SPECIFIC PROPOSALS

Pearson warned the Big Three against letting Russia get the jump on the West at Geneva.

Russia, he said, might open the talks by tabling a series of detailed proposals. This could put the West on the defensive unless it was ready with specific proposals of its own.

It just isn't good enough to go to Geneva and talk pleasant generalities designed to lower tension, he said. On the other hand he agreed with other speakers that all that could be reasonably expected from Geneva is a favorable beginning for later talks by foreign ministers on concrete problems and creation of a friendly atmosphere.

REAL ISSUE

Apart from disarmament, Pearson listed three points that should be borne in mind in any bargaining.

1) The indispensability of NATO.

2) The importance of swift and effective retaliation. This meant defensive strength could be reduced as tensions were reduced, agreements made and controls established.

3) The importance of Germany's association with the West.

On the latter point Pearson said the real issue was how to reconcile the German need for reunification with the Russian desire for security. It would have to be ascertained how far the Western powers could go to meet Soviet requirements without sacrificing vital interests or betraying principles.

SQDN. LDR. AND MRS. RUSTON

—Among the senior officers and their wives present at a reception given in their honor by the officers of R.C.A.F. Station Summerside on Tuesday, July 12th, were Squadron Leader and Mrs. G. J. Ruston.

The couple, along with four other senior officers, their wives and families, are leaving within the month to take up duties in other R.C.A.F. stations.

A veteran of 13 years in the R.C.A.F. S/L Ruston obtained his navigator's wings during the war but remustered to the telecommunications branch in 1950.

His new duties will take him to Air Force headquarters in Ottawa where he will be employed in planning operations.

S/L Ruston, his wife Dorothy, and their two children, who have made many friends on Prince Edward Island during their stay here, will be missed by all who knew them.

Acadian Celebrations At Mont Carmel Yesterday

A parade of seven floats and about 75 gaily decorated private cars moved away on a two mile parade route at the Acadian centennial observances at Mont Carmel yesterday afternoon before an audience of several hundred persons.

The activities were centered on the church grounds where several speakers were heard following the parade which began at 2:30 Standard Time.

Marshalling the long column of decorated vehicles which moved away from and returned to the church grounds, were two men on saddle horses. The Miscouche band which provided music during the festivities accompanied the parade in the vicinity of the church grounds in the area where the spectators were gathered.

Colorful floats included those representing the Acadian fishermen, the founders of the parish, Evangeline and Gabriel, 50th anniversary of the Mont Carmel exhibition, Acadian abstinence society, patron saint of the Acadians and Acadian girls choir.

Following the floats were the cars and light trucks, variously decorated with green boughs, flowers, ribbons, flags and banners.

At the conclusion of the parade the activities centered around a platform beside the church, where the presiding chairman, Rev. J. F. Buote, outlined the theme of the program which he said was to cherish the traditions enjoyed by the Acadian people.

Following his remarks the band was heard in a stirring number, followed by the girls choir in the beautiful song, "Evangeline."

Mr. Dollard Savole of the Assomption National Society, and representative of the central committee of the bicentennial celebrations, was the guest speaker and gave a most inspiring talk in which he sketched the historical record of the Acadian people, and recalled the period of suffering, poverty and hardship which their ancestors had passed.

He said that the bicentennial celebrations were not for the purpose of recalling by-gone animosities.

Weekend Rain Re-opens Woods

FREDERICTON (CP)—Weekend rain enabled crews to check all forest fires in New Brunswick and permitted re-opening of woods to normal travel. They were closed at noon last Monday.

Lifting of the ban was announced by Hon. Norman B. Buchanan, minister of lands and mines, who thanked the people for the "understanding they showed."

Rain began Friday in northern New Brunswick and spread northward, falling intermittently Saturday and Sunday.

Forestry officials said it provided the needed "dampener." The two most serious fire areas, in Albert and Gloucester counties, regarded as still dangerous in the sense that another hot, dry spell might cause them to break out again.

End Prison Riot

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—A face-to-face conference between Governor Milward N. Simpson and convicted spokesmen early Sunday ended a 15-hour riot at the Wyoming state penitentiary.

Three guards seized as hostages were released unharmed at 12:45 a.m. by the 75 rioters who, armed with butcher knives, held control of the main cell block and dining hall.

For the hostages' safe return the governor fired two guards accused by inmates of brutality and promised there would be no general reprisal in the state's first prison riot.

Jose Bracho, held the Leafs to three hits, as the Sugar Kings took the second game. Nino Escalera's two-run homer in the fifth was the big blow.

Buffalo lefthander, Bob Schultz, also uncorked a three hitter to shutout Syracuse in the second game. A double by Charley Kress followed by Steve Demeter's single in the second inning produced the winning run. Lynn Lovenguth got the loss.

In the opener, three unearned runs in the seventh inning gave the game to the Chiefs. Jim Owens got the win while Ben Flowers was the loser.

Rev. Fr. Patrick Gallant, P.P. from the Rimouski diocese, whose grandparents came from P. E. I., gave an interesting talk in which he traced the history of the Gallant name before and after the year 1755.

In a final word the chairman, Rev. J. F. Buote issued a plea for Acadian unity, and expressed thanks to everyone who had participated in making the observances so successful.

Appreciation of the parishes was expressed, also to electrician Louis Gallant and radio technician Vincent Gallant for their work in providing the excellent sound system used at the observances at Egmont Bay and Mont Carmel, and which will be used also at Rustico.—S.

Mr. Campbell, the director, lectured on missions, while Mr. Currie gave a course on the Ten Commandments.

Both leaders conducted the Bible study in groups, the study being based on the Gospel according to St. Mark.

Campers this year included Don Moore, Fay Hickox, Roddy Hickox, Freddie Hickox, Arlene Larler, Mary Farquharson, Marion MacDonald, Davida MacEachern, Isabel Farquharson, all of Charlottetown; Thelma Moore, New Annapolis; Marjorie MacLennan, Hartsville; Barbara Kerwin, Peters Road; Margaret Kennedy, Breadalbane, and Alex Fox, Toronto.

Girls' camp begins on July 19 with Miss Mary MacKenzie as director. This camp is already full, with some later registrations being refused.

Boys' camp begins August 2nd, and there are still some vacancies for next year's camp.

Rev. E. H. Bean of Kensington is camp manager and registrar.

THE OLD PARLOUR ORGAN

How well I remember the old parlour organ
That stood in the corner when I was a boy.
The dear family organ, the sweetly toned organ;
How many the hymn-sings that we did enjoy.
Time cannot diminish my fond recollections
Of dear ones encircled, united in voice
To sing the Lord's blessing in alto and tenor,
In bass and soprano—how they would rejoice!
The old parlour organ, the high, mirrored organ,
That stood in the corner when I was a boy.
When Mother played softly while twilight was falling:
Oh God, in whose presence my soul takes delight,
His great benediction seemed resting from us,
And over the organ a halo of light.
Then Father, what magic his fingers invoking,
Played capricious tunes with a flourish and sway,
But dearest of all were the sweet, cherished moments
When Mother played softly at close of the day,
The old parlour organ, the dear family organ
That stood in the corner when I was a boy.
In Heaven I know I shall hear those dear voices
Again as they sang in the dear long ago.
And Mother, still hear her once more softly playing
The old, beloved hymns in the warm twilight glow.
I hear the great organ within the cathedral,
But as its deep notes fade and echo away,
I hear, as in childhood, the old parlour organ
My Mother played softly at close of the day—
The old parlour organ, the sweetly toned organ
That stood in the corner when I was a boy.

Columbus Jets

and then took the second game 12-9 in a seven-inning slugfest.

The double setback left Montreal half a game back of the Sugar Kings and five back of the Leafs. Toronto edged Havana 3-2 in the opener but dropped the second 5-1. In the other twin bill Buffalo dropped a first game to Syracuse 5-3 and then took the second 1-0. Richmond at Rochester were rained out.

Columbus and Montreal traded runs in the opener but Rocky Nelson's homer in the sixth appeared to be Royal's margin of victory. But catcher Hal Lakeman's two run homer in the ninth gave Columbus a one run edge that Royals matched in the bottom of the ninth. Then Frank Verdi singled home second baseman Forest Jacobs for Jets winning run in the 12th inning.

In the second game Jets scored seven runs on seven hits in the first inning. Russ Sullivan slammed three homers for Columbus in the second game while Nelson hit another.

Winning pitchers were Jake Thies and Charlie Haag while losses were charged against Ken Lehman and Tom LaSore.
