Easter Beef Show, Sale Slated For Thurs., Fri.

Many top beef cattle breeders and feeders in this province will compete in the 12th annual Easter Beef Show and Sale when they parade their steers Thursday afternoon for the approval of Show Judge J. K. Sibbald, Toronto. Steers will be sold Friday afternoon by Claude Craswell, Winsloe.

Breeders have entered 100 steers this year which will probably be culled down to approximately 85 which experience has shown, show officials explain, is the most desirable number for sale purposes.

The first show was held in March 1952 and it was known then as the Provincial Fat Stock Show and Sale. Dr. J. P. Lantz, Charlottetown was the first president and Neil A. Matheson, Southport the first secretary. Athol Roberts, Southport was president in 1953, and he was succeeded in 1954 by George Kitson, Hampshire who is now in his 10th year in that capacity.

The show and sale idea almost died in its second year. A preliminary survey in 1953 brought the information that there were not enough good steers entered to make a satisfactory show, and the idea was dropped. But a number of breeders called a second meeting a few days later, drummed up enough enthusiasm to keep the event alive, managed to stage a respectable performance, and the show and sale of the Island's best beef cattle became an established part of the annual agricultural features.

Most cattlemen are agreed that they can scarcely break better than even on the sale of an animal, because the highly concentrated feeding required is so expensive, but most agree that the publicity is valuable to their farm herd, and there is always the possibility that the steer might hit the grand champ-

Job Survey Report Due

An interim report on a job survey of provincial government employees is expected to be in the hands of the government by March 29, Provincial Secretary J. David Stewart said yesterday.

The survey was conducted over the past several months by the Toronto firm of Payne-Ross Limited.

Mr. Stewart said the report will be studied carefully by the government before a decision is made whether or not any of its recommendations will be implemented. "It is not likely that anything will be done with it this year," he said.

He said, however, that the government plans to go ahead with the setting up of a civil service commission in the province.

Germination Tests Urged For Grain

The department of agriculture is advising farmers to make germination tests on grain seed to be used for this year's planting, Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae said yesterday.

Recently 100 seed samples taken from Island farmers were tested at the Canada department of agriculture laboratory at Sackville and, according to Mr. MacRae, there was no set pattern to the results and germination percentages varied.

"For this reason," he said, "everyone should do a germination test on his seed or send it to Sackville for testing. Testing can be done at home with a pie plate and wet newspaper. Results will show within a week.

"A germination test of between 60 and 70 per cent is desirable. If tests show that less than 60 per cent of the grain will germinate, the seed should be used for feed and commercial seed bought."

Mr. MacRae said now is the time to test seed, particularly before it is cleaned.
