

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD JOSEPH HANDRAHAN

Wedding Of Interest Solemnized At Tignish

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Simon and St. Jude Church, Tignish, on Wednesday morning, July 22, 1959, when Mary Doreen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aldric Doucette, Tignish, exchanged marriage vows with Leonard Joseph Handrahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Handrahan, Ascension.

The marriage ceremony was performed and Nuptial Mass celebrated by Reverend Floyd McGaugh, at eight o'clock. To the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal March, played by Leonard Handrahan, the winsome young bride went up the center aisle of the Church, to the altar, on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. During the ceremony appropriate hymns were sung by the Girls' Choir.

For her marriage, the bride chose a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon net. The fitted bodice of lace featured a square neckline, a bolero of lace with Peter Pan collar was taffeta lined and long fitted sleeves came to points over the hands.

Extending from the bodice, was a bouffant skirt-ballerina length, in tiers of Chantilly lace and nylon net, over nylon net and held in place by a taffeta underskirt. Her elbow length circular veil of tulle illusion had a border of acetate and nylon lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book with a bluish pink rose on top from which fell streamers of pink and white ribbon with pink rosebuds caught up in the ribbon.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Miss Gloria, whose gown was of nylon organza and lace over taffeta in a dusty rose shade. The fitted bodice featured a high neck line with Peter Pan collar and long tapering sleeves, the bouffant skirt ballerina length was of organza and had lace insets, repeated in front and back. Her headpiece was a feathered bandeau in white and she carried a nosegay bouquet of white feathered carnations with a frill of rose carnations.

Mr. David Harper, Christopher Cross, nephew of the groom was best man.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of arnel jersey in Turquoise with white accessories.

Mrs. Handrahan's dress was systema Crepe in navy and she wore white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white roses.

Following Mass, breakfast was served to the bridal couple by the groom's sister, Mrs. Bradford LeClair, at the LeClair home in Ascension.

At noon a delicious dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents to about one hundred guests.

At six o'clock in the evening, one hundred and fifty guests sat down to supper at the home of the bride's parents. The dining-room was decorated for the occasion with blue and white streamers and white wedding bells. The wedding table attractively set with a white linen tablecloth, was centered with a three tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and was flanked with bouquets of summer flowers in crystal vases and tall white tapers in silver candle holders.

Following the dinner the bride and groom cut the cake in the traditional manner.

This popular young couple received many and beautiful gifts from relatives and friends and good wishes for abundance of health and happiness through life.

SHOWERS HELD

A pre-nuptial affair was a party given for Leonard Handrahan and his bride-to-be Miss Doreen Doucette at the home of one of Miss Doucette's girl friends Isabel Gallant. Forty young people attended this party and when the guests of honor arrived they were escorted to the living-room by Miss Gloria Doucette, who seated them in chairs decorated in pastel shades of pink and blue and she then pinned a corsage of red roses with white rose buds on the shoulder of the bride-to-be.

A well worded address was then read by Isabel Gallant and on behalf of all present a gift of four pieces of furniture were presented to the guests of honor by Joseph P. DesRoches, Marie Doucette, Paul Richard and Judy Gaudet.

Leonard and Doreen thanked everyone for their gifts and thoughtfulness after which dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by Carl Perry, violin Franklin Perry, guitar and Leonard Gallant, organ.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Gloria Doucette, Judy Gaudet, Sylvia Gaudet and Marie-Doucette.

Another party given in honor of Miss Doucette was by the Manager and Staff of the Tignish Co-operative, Ltd., of which the bride is a valued employee.

Miss Doucette was presented with a piece of furniture and a set of dishes, refreshments were served and a social hour spent, before Miss Doucette departed a mad shower of good wishes for happiness from her fellow employees.

ELLEN'S DIARY

August Wildflowers Lend Enchantment To The View

A day this was to make a first apple pie of the season for James, gathering the fruit for it from the ancient Transparent tree in our remnant of orchard. "I believe I miss most of all the orchards of the long ago" a man from our young years who makes odd summer-pilgrimages from Western Canada to revisit scenes of his boyhood commented when we chanced to meet him recently.

"And the fine shade trees from the lawns, lost in improving the roads. I can remember so well those at home—the wide-spreading chestnuts and acacias and the rowan trees. And at one side of the lawn, this time of year, were the tall and colorful hollyhocks bright against the white-washed pickets. We had a chair-swing, I recall, there and..."

What changes and vacancies such visitors find in these the long-after years!

One of August's loveliest days this... mellow, like September—and all blue and gold. Blue of cloudless sky. And against it on a far summit we saw the pasturing cattle go down streamward to drink. And the horses canter down there free as the little breeze that roved the fields and then return to stand idly dreaming we fancied beneath the shade of a tree.

Gold of sun on the valley, gold of the wildflowers that shine in pasture and hedgerow... August gives us now her prettiest pictures: harvest-apples ripening, amber or red-checked against the green-leaves; pictured cucumbers on the vines, emerald of tomatoes, corn in the silk, pumpkins rounding out for the children's Hallowe'en. So full a time it is—and will continue to be for folks of the farms.

"I always find the first of September a lonesome time" one remarked in our hearing the other day speaking of the days ahead. "Schools reopen, students leave for college, vacationists go home, and the summer that has been so cheerfully full is all at once empty."

"But" a practical lady present smiled, "your gardens and your fields are full!"

And many a nicely of the farm remains to us.

"Let us not discount too heavily the little pleasures of living on a farm" the August letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, which treats of the occupation reminds us "like the drink of living water from the spring, the rows of jars of home-canned fruit and pickles, the crock of buttermilk in the spring-house, the heaps of potatoes, squash and apples, the stove to sit around, the clear unsmoked sky, the chickens scurrying up the path to beg scraps, the airwaves washing over the fields of grain."

A blue and gold day this. And James coming in through the night from some last chore with bell. Textword will be "Stewardship."

Mrs. Ray MacLeod will give a reading on Stewardship. Offering amounted to $8.85. Penny-a-week offering was 75 cents. There was one membership fee paid.

The meeting closed by singing hymn 376 and repeating prayer in unison.

NEW LONDON UNITED W.M.S.

The regular meeting of New London United Church W.M.S. was held in the church vestry on Thursday evening, August 6th., with Mrs. Edward MacMurdo as devotional leader.

Opening hymn was No. 252. Scripture readings by Mrs. C. B. Goss and Mrs. Sterling MacKay were Psalm 104: 1-3, 10-28, and John 15: 9-12. Dedicatory prayer for missionaries was offered by Mrs. James Cole.

The Secretary reported six hospital calls and 18 home calls made during the month; also 25 cards and 15 letters were sent, and five books read. Roll call was answered by 11 members with a verse containing the word "Unity."

Minutes were read and approved. It was reported the box for the Port Worker in Halifax had been sent. Plans for Autumn Thanksoffering were discussed. Correspondence consisted of a letter concerning the World Friends.

The final Chapter of the Study Book was presented by Mrs. Louis Campbell.

The September meeting will be held in the Church vestry when the leader will be Mrs. Louis Campbell. Dedicatory prayer will be offered by Mrs. J. M. Camp-
