REBUILDING NOSES.

Aluminium as a Foundation and How It is Used.

In this era of reconstruction through which New York is passing even noses come in for their share of remodeling and rebuilding. So many people are afflicted with a disfiguring disease which eats away the bones of the nose and face that "plastic surgery" has felt called on to find means to restore broken or decayed noses to their original beauty or even to improve on that.

Dr. Robert Weir was among the first to discover a practical solution. He experimented with some success in transplanting bones of living fowls to the human face. One of his earlier operations was conducted in a stuffy little Harlem flat. His patient was stretched on the table under ether; her face was laid open and streaming blood, but the duck, not receiving due attention, had escaped unnoticed from the assistant. "Now, doctor," said Dr. Weir to a dignified participant, "oblige me by half killing that bird and let me have about three inches from its breast-bone for this girl's nose."

Amid the growsome surroundings there were ten minutes of vigorous exercise in catching the bird and reducing it to a state of insensibility. Since then he has dispensed with live birds and has turned his attention to gutta serena, rubber, silver and gold for nose bridges. All these failed because electric action was generated requiring further operations. Finally pure aluminium was resorted to with satisfactory results. Now the nose bone is made of that metal.

It has a stout hook at the upper end, by which it is secured to the base of the forehead, while the other end is held out from the face by two short legs, terminating in sharp spikes, which are anchored in the bone. There is no necessity for ugly scars, because the operation is carried on entirely beneath the skin. A long incision is made under the upper lip above the teeth, so that the whole flap of the face can be turned back like a mask or an old glove. Then, when the metal framework is secured, the skin is drawn down again, and the nose tissue is shaped into a Grecian, Roman or pug nose, as desired.

Seven years ago Dr. Weir got his first ideas from French publications, but has since made many modifications and improvements. Other prominent surgeons have followed his example, such as Dr. Abbe, Dr. Powers of Denver and Dr. Knight. The operation is comparatively simple, and all have succeeded in restoring noses, which, if they are not of service in distinguishing bad odors from good, are at least beautiful in looking natural.—New York Tribune.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

The Lynching Party Will Not Consider the Shrinking Process.

Western Judge—You are charged, sir, with being the leader of a party which hunted down and lynched a horse thief. The days have gone by when citizens of this great commonwealth can thus take the law into their own hands; hence your arrest. What have you to say?

Prominent Citizen—I ain't guilty, judge. I'll tell you how it was. We caught the fellow and tied his hands and feet. Nothin' wrong in that, was there, judge?

"No, that was no doubt necessary."

"Well, judge, there was a storm coming up, an we couldn't spare him an umbrella, so we stooed him under a tree. That was all right, wasn't it?"

"Certainly."

"Well, the clouds kept gatherin, an the wind was blowin pretty high, an we didn't want him blown away, so we tied a rope around his neck an fastened the other end to the limb above—not tight, judge, jest so as to hold him—an we left him standin solid on his feet. Nothin' wrong about that, was there?"

"Nothing at all."

"Then I kin be excused, can't I?"

"But the man was found suspended from that tree and stone dead the next morning."

"None of us had anything to do with that, judge. You see, we left him standin there in good health an spirits, for we give him all he could drink when he said 'goodby'; but, you see, during the night rain came up, an I s'pose the rope got wety an shrunk an couple of feet. That's how the sad accident happened, judge."—New York Weekly.

A Blind Wonder.

Mlle. Melaine de Salignac, a blind woman, mentioned at considerable length by Diderot, was able to tell by the impression of the air whether it was fine or cloudy, whether she was in an open place or a street, and whether the street was open at the end. Having once gone over a house, she became so well acquainted with the different parts as to be able to warn others of any danger they were exposed to by the existence of a step or the lowness of a door. She could thread the smallest needle with great dexterity and could execute every sort of needlework. She understood music, geography, geometry and wrote with a pin by pricking a sheet of paper stretched on a frame and read what she had written by feeling the pin marks on the other side of the paper.

"CAN A MONKEY SWIM?"

How "The Editor" Decided a Bet For an Anxious Inquirer.

All sorts of funny questions come over the telephone into a newspaper office. Somebody is always making a bet on some queer proposition or other, and the decision is left in many cases to some of the papers. No sooner is the bet made than the men who have put up money or promised to do so hit themselves to a telephone and ring up "the editor" of the paper to which the decision has been left.

Some of the propositions advanced are enough to make a man laugh, and some are sent over the telephone just to worry the man who answers the ring and possibly to catch him with some trick. The other day, for instance, some fresh boy rang up a newspaper to ask for a decision on this proposition:

"Is it legal for a man to marry his widow's sister?"

The young man who answered the phone refused to "bite" and told the inquirer that his question would be answered through the columns of the paper if he would write it out and forward it with his name and address. That is the rule in most offices. This particular question never came, of course.

But the other night there came one that was too good to lose, so the young man who received it answered it on his own account.

"We've made a bet," said the fellow who rang up the office, "and we want you to decide it."

"This paper doesn't decide bets," was the answer.

"Never mind the bet then. Just decide the question, will you?"

"Well, what is your question?"

"It's this," came the answer. "Can a monkey swim?"

What an easy one! The young man at the phone smiled happily as he put his mouth down close to the transmitter and softly whispered:

"Just go down to the lake and jump in. Then you'll find out all about it."

And then he gently rang off and went on with his work.—Chicago Times-Herald.

How Monotypes Are Made.

One of the most interesting of all the minor forms of the graphic arts is the monotype, which, by reason of the element of accident in the result, sometimes reveals an unexpected beauty of effect. The process is simple. It consists in painting a picture with plate printers' ink on a metal plate. The plate is then put in a press, a sheet of moistened paper is laid upon it, and the roller is applied. The ink painting is directly transferred to the paper, and the print gives the artist's drawing reversed. Unlike essays in etching, or any of the processes of engraving, mezzotint, or lithograph, a painter may work with the tools he is accustomed to—brushes. He may vary his methods by taking out lights with a rag, with his fingers, or with soft wood points, but he is not hampered by new tools or by difficulties concerning the preparation of the plate or the printing from it. There are no acids, no bitings, no first, second or third states, no expert printer to be depended upon, as in etching. It is in no sense a reproductive process, for the painting is entirely transferred to the paper in printing, leaving the plate blank.—William A. Coffin in Century.

Foreign Flags in America.

The first flag to float over American soil was the royal standard of Isabella, emblazoned with the arms of Castile and Leon. A white flag with a green cross was its companion. Some years after Columbus landed at San Salvador the Cabots planted the banner of England and of St. Mark of Venice on the eastern shore of North America. In the 400 years that have intervened since a variety of national flags have waved where now only the stars and stripes is the accepted emblem. Over Texas have floated the French, Spanish, English, American and Confederate; in Louisiana, the Biles of France, the Spanish flag, the tricolor, the American and Confederate flags; in California, Spanish, Mexican, Russian and American.—New York Journal.

Padrewski, it is said, can play from memory over 500 compositions. He needs to read or play a composition new to him only twice in order to memorize it, and frequently after reading it over can sit down at the piano and play it without referring to the notes.

They Do Not Despair.

An utter loss of hope is not characteristic of Consumptives, though no other form of disease is so fatal, unless its progress is arrested by the use of Scott's Emulsion, which is Cod Liver Oil made as palatable as cream.

The National Zeitung, an inspired organ; publishes an article on the Transvaal situation, in which it says that in view of the fact that Great Britain is sending reinforcements of troops to South Africa, Germany will watch developments with the closest interest.

A Puny and Fretful Baby. This is now quite unnecessary! Like many others, you may have your baby fat, laughing and happy if you give it Scott's Emulsion. Babies take it like cream.

The exports of Canada for the eight months from July 1st to March 1st, show an increase of $6,000,000 over the same period in the previous year. The figures are: 1896, $87,616,000; 1897, $93,192,000.

The Best Advertisements. Many thousands of unsolicited letters have reached the manufacturers of Scott's Emulsion from those cured through its use, of Consumption and Scrofulous diseases! None can speak so confidently of its merits as those who have tested it.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, March 22 (Special)—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and gloriing in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows:

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else as I find them. If a medicine cures me and if I think it will cure others, why not say so? "It is true I have been suffering for some time with bladder trouble, and learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them."

In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them.
