TROUBLE IN THE GRIT CAMP.

The Grit "machine" in this Province is not moving smoothly. If it were, there would not be so many postponements of their conventions, to the disturbance of the weather and the suspense of the party. Of course, Mr. L. H. Davies, Maritime Leader, and Great Keeper of the Privy Purse, has the matter all arranged. He will run where he chooses to run, and he will place his second-rate candidates in the field just where he pleases to place them. We all know that. The calling of a convention is merely a means to an end which has already been determined. The Maritime Leader is not yet ready to "tip the wink" to his obedient servants. "There is," if we may use in this connection the oracular remark of a forcible preacher, "something wrong somewhere." In the words of a celebrity who has passed away, "the time has not yet arrived." When "the time" comes "we shall see what we shall see." An ingenious effort to "make things come right" was tried at the meeting lately held in this city, in the appointment of Mr. Fred. Peters as President of the Liberal Association for East Queen's, and Mr. H. C. McDonald as Secretary. Neither of these gentlemen is a resident of the riding. Yet they have been made the chief executive officers, under whom the convention will be held and the campaign carried on. There may be "good play" in this happy combination. According to a popular belief—which has been sedulously cultivated in recent years—Mr. Peters "controls Fort Augustus;" and we all know that Mr. McDonald is ever ready to do the bidding of his Local Leader. The result will prove whether or not these non-residents can control a majority of the people of Fort Augustus district—whether or not the descendants of those who carried Coles to victory will be subjects of the "human devices" of Mr. Fred Peters. However this may be, it is certainly remarkable that the Premier of a Province entrusted with the revenues of the whole people, and officially in the service of the whole people—should so far forget that which is due to his high position as to render himself liable to the imputpation of "cooking" a convention and intimidating electors for a Dominion election. We question very much whether the device of importing non-residents to lead the Grit forces in East Queen's will contribute to the relief of the Maritime Leader from the difficulty in which he finds himself on account of the present out-of-order condition of his "machine." Mr. Peters may, perhaps, overawe Fort Augustus—though we mistake the spirit of the electors if he succeed according to the expectatians of Messrs. Davies and Walsh; but we venture the opinion that Belfast and Murray Harbor will not be cajoled by Mr. McDonald, and that independent electors and intelligent electors all over the riding will resent the intrusion of these interlopers.

A DISHONEST THIRD PARTY.

It is a curious fact that wherever the "Populists" have secured control of a State on pledges of "reform," they have outdone the old parties in extravagance and corruption. The new Populist Republican Legislature in North Carolina, whose members were voluble on the stump last fall about the hordes of office-holders, began work by employing a much larger number of door-keepers, laborers and other attendants than was ever known before. Governor Tillman's successor in South Carolina reports that nearly all the officials in charge of dispensaries in that State, under the new liquor law established by Tillman, are behind with their accounts, some of them in considerable sums. The Populist administration in Kansas went out in a cloud of scandals. The new Republican officials in Colorado found that a lot of furniture had been stolen by the Populists, and the Populist Superintendent of Education was forced to confess to petty stealings by false entries in his expense account. Third Parties everywhere have usually made a pretty bad showing for their short existence. The experience of the States ought to be noted as a warning to the Provinces of Canada. Always suspect a man or a party talking about the dishonesty and extravagance of other men and parties; and beware of Third Parties. Two parties are as many as any free state can manage, and a Third Party is usually led by designing disappointed politicians.

A NEW QUESTION.

A new question has been raised by Dr. Dawson, the excellent Queen's Printer of Canada. The learned doctor has lately made an elaborate study of the subject of the Cabot Landfall. It is stated by several of our exchanges that in the course of his brochure he announces that this is not, as we have all along supposed, the original Island of St. John, discovered and named by John Cabot. The name, he maintains, belongs to a small and barren island now known as Scatari; and the prima tierra vista was not Cape North, at the northern extremity of the Island of Cape Breton, but Cape Breton at the eastern extremity of that Island. In his view Cape Breton would be the natural landfall of a vessel which had cleared Cape Race and steered westward in ignorance of the magnetic variation then existing. He contends, further, that the existing cartography of the region previous to Champlain made no account of Prince Edward Island, but did represent Cabot's "St. John" as lying seaward and not in the Gulf. These points are exceedingly interesting, particularly to residents of this Province. We have not yet had the pleasure of reading Dr. Dawson's brochure, which has been reprinted from the current transactions of the Royal Society of Canada; and therefore we are not in a position to criticize his argument. But we know that Prince Edward Island was known as "the Island of St. John" until a comparatively recent date. Perhaps Dr. Dawson will tell us who gave it that name and at what time it was given?

W. M. S.

The annual District Convention of the W. M. S. of the Methodist Church of P. E Island met in the Second Methodist Church yesterday morning.

Mrs. R. Johnson, President, occupied the chair; Mrs. A. Wright of Bedeque, led the devotional exercises. A goodly number of delegates from various parts of the Island answered to the roll-call.

After the committees were appointed Mrs. Thomas Pickard, President of the Second Methodist Auxiliary, cordially welcomed the delegates, to which Mrs. Wright fittingly responded.

The President's address was earnest and encouraging. She asked all present to take as their watchword for the coming. Be strong and very courageous, the Lord of Hosts is with us.

A very excellent paper on "China" was given by Miss M. Wisner, of Alberton. A short paper followed, entitled "Woman's Responsibility."

Miss Alexander's paper on Japan was brimful of information. Home and social life at the Orient was touched upon, while encouragements and discouragements of the Missionaries were dwelt upon at length. In closing the writer urged all Christian women to take a deeper interest in Foreign Missions. A short discussion followed. Convention adjourned to meet at 2 p.m.

In the afternoon the session was opened by Mrs. A. Mutch, of Mount Herbert. Mrs. Turner read an interesting paper written by Miss Vickerson, of Bedeque. This was followed by a duet given very well by two little girls. Miss Durant, of Margate, then read an excellent essay on Mission Band entertainments. This was followed by a discussion, after which a very interesting paper was read by Miss Annie Mellish, sketching in a lively manner some aspects of Mission Band work. Mrs. Lawson, of Montague, being called upon, gave a telling address, full of facts, arguments and appeals on behalf of the objects of th Society.

The church was well filled at the public meeting in the evening. Mrs. R. Johnson presided. The Rev. G. M. Campbell delivered the opening address referring to the benefits of the organization. Miss White read a good paper written by Miss Wadman urging enthusiasm in the work, and Miss Bertha Hyde of Cornwall read an admirable paper on our indian work in British Columbia. Miss McRae read a short report showing that there are thirty branch societies on the Island, 18 Mission Bands embracing a membership of two thousand, while the amount raised on the Island last year exceeded $2000.00. During the evening the choir led by Miss Duchemin, who presided at the organ rendered several selections in fine style; and Miss Howard's solo way really very fine. A collection was taken up amounting to $14.00 The Rev. Mr. Palmer gave the closing address.

This forenoon (Thursday) considerable routine business was transacted. Most of the delegates left for their homes this afternoon.

THAT HOCKEY MATCH.

Sir,—I was rather amused to read in this morning's Guardian what purported to be a report of last night's Hockey match, in which the writer makes these extraordinary claims: (1) that "the Victoria's proved the last goal to be theirs according to the rules of Hockey," and (2) "nearly everbody at the end of the Rink also admitted that it was a goal, as it was made before the whistle sounded."

Now, sir, as to the first statement, it is false, and I would very much like to see any rule shown now that will prove it. I wonder how far Sec. 15 will go to support their claim. It reads as fellows: "All disputes on the ice shall be settled by the referee, and his decision shall be final."

As to the second statement, I think no one has or had any other opinion than that the puck went b tween the goal po-ts; the matter in dispute was that the puck was not properly in play at the time, and therefore was called back by the referee.

I consider, sir, that matters of law in Hockey are generally settled by the refree and not by the audience, nine-tenths of whom never even saw the rules of the game. His decision was Charlottetowns, 4 games; Victorias, 3 games.

In the heading the correspondent or reporter says the game resulted in a draw. He must be about as much at sea in regard to the "laws of hockey" as those members of the team who proved the game to be theirs, or he would know how sec. 3 reads, which says in part: "After playing the specified two half hours, in case of a tie, play will continue until one side secures a game, unless otherwise agreed upon, before the match, between the captains."

It would be well in future for the persons in authority in the Guardian office to know that their reports are correct, and if they are unable to have one of their own officials on the scene, to get someone who knows enough about the game to write events up for them; and who will take the decision of the referee as to the result, and not the private opinion of the gentleman who wrote for this morning's issue.

Fair Play.

VERNON RIVER BRIDGE NOTES.

The diphtheria, which for the last two months has kept the inhabitants of this place in a state of anxiety, has, we think passed on; the school has been re-opened and things are fast resuming their old shape.

The smelt fishing industry has been earnestly engaged in by several of our moving men, and we are glad to know that they have been well repaid for their efforts.

Mr. James Lewis has opened a new grocery store, and is doing a fair business. Mr. Lewis is an enterprising man, therefore we wish him success.

The firms of Forbes and McDonald Bros. also keep up a good trade, considering the time of year.

The youth and beauty of the Bridge and vicinity have started a dancing class, for the better enjoyment of the balmy evenings. Mr. T. Murphy has kindly lent them a room in his yet vacant new house, and if the little move proves a failure it will not be owing to any lack of proficiency in the teacher, Mr. John A. McDonald, Jr.

We have pleasure in welcoming home our genial friend, Mr. John McGillvray, who was overtaken by the late great storm and detained in Pownal for three days.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

MR. DAVIES' INCONSISTENCIES.

Sir,—The grit organs continue to refer to the "Southern Railway" as an "election dodge," "Mercierism," etc. They have evidently received their inspiration from a recent study of the political record of the Hon. L. H. Davies, which teems with election dodges. We have been wont to look upon Mr. Davies as a highly honorable man. We now consider him the very essence of inconsistency personified.

We find him in 1890, on the eve of a general election, standing on the floor of the House of Commons and advocating a branch railway to Murray Harbor. In February, 1891, we find him at a meeting at Caledonia definitely and decidedly promising the electors that he would, if elected, continue to use his influence in favor of this branch railway. Did he keep his promise? Not he. he has been silent on the subject ever since. It was evidently an election dodge, eh?

Contrast with this the conduct of Hon. Senator Ferguson, who, unfortunately for the people of Belfast and Murray Harbor was defeated at the polls on that occasion. As soon as he took his seat in the Senate, though no longer dependent on the people's suffrages, like a true patriot, he at once directed the attention of the Government to this matter and eloquently pleaded our cause.

Again we find Mr. Davies pledging himself to support the "Tunnel Scheme" should it be found feasible.

After its feasibility had been proved beyond a doubt he tried to ridicule the scheme. He set his own opinion against that of Sir Douglass Fox, and greatly exaggarated the cost of construction. He also claimed that the smaller gauges given by that eminent engineer would be of no practical use after being constructed. "It would" he said "be a Tory tunnel. Was Mr. Daavies keeping his promise. We trow not. Another "Election Dodge.

Mr. Davies may be good authority on law, but we refuse to take him as such on engineering. Before the last election he emphatically denied that Mr. Blake had repudiated "Unrestricted reciprocity," while we have every reason to believe that he knew it to be the case. An "election dodge," and so on ad infinitum.

Now, the grit orator will soon again come before the people with a record of broken promises and unpardonable inconsistencies, with an uncertain "trade policy," which is as liable to change its form as the "witches" of ancient tradition. He has nothing now to recommend him to the electorate but his eloquence, and we have had enough of that. We now want a practical man who will press our claims for the railway.

Sincerity

Murray Harbor District, Feb. 19, 1895.

A VOTER'S VIEW.

Sir,—In Tuesday's Patriot I observe an article headed, "A Disgusted Tory," and signed E. R. M., finding fault with the leaders of my party (?) for bringing the proposed branch railway through the southern section of this Province before the public, because a general election is expected to take place sometime this year, and adds, that as an "honest man," he cannot support his party at present. Well this is a free country, and every man can exercise his franchise as he feels disposed. The Patriot correspondent, if he be an elector, cannot be in sympathy with his fellow-countrymen of Belfast and Murray Harbor, or he would never think of leaving his party because they have taken action to secure for the people of these districts their rights by electing men who will urge upon the Dominion Government the justice of constructing a branch railway to tap the main line wherever most practicable.

To be even with the Patriot writer, I may be allowed to inform him, that I have supported the so-called Liberal party since the first Dominion election; but believing that their policy of late years, and at the present time, is extremely visionary and uncertain, I intend, if spared, to vote for the Liberal-Conservative party. I am utterly opposed to empty pretensions, and to parties straining at gnats, and at the same time swallowing camels. The Patriot and other Grit organs may hold up Mr. Laurier and our own Mr. Davies as the great Demosthenes and Cicero of the Dominion. Such polished orators naturally draw a crowd to be tickled by their eloquence, But the people are beginning to find out that flowery speeches are very little benefit to a young country like ours. Mr. Davies was once before at the head of affairs in this Province, and I don't think he distinguished himself very much in that capacity. Is it not a fact, Mr. Editor, that the great majority of those learned and eloquent speakers are the most useless men in creation for carrying out practical results.

There have been in our own day, it is true, a few exceptions to this rule, such as the late Hon, Edward Whelan who possessed the singular gift of eloquence, and of applying it for the effectual good of the community.

You remember the late Hon. George Coles, whose plain and homely speeches were often jeered at as being almost offensive to the ears of our refined and fashionable orators of the day. Where will you find nowadays, such political heroes among our silver-tongued orators who aspire to the leadership of public opinion? Let the electors choose plain matter-of-fact men to represent them at Ottawa in the next Parliament, men who know the actual need of the country at large, and whose interests are most closely identified with those of the hard working classes who materially assist in building up this new Canada of ours for the Canadians.

Yours Truly,

HOME MISSION TO FOREIGNERS.

Sir,—We all have been much interested in the recent meetings of the Foreign Missionary Society in this city. The excellent work they are doing among the heathens abroad must meet the highest commendation of all reasonable persons. How would a similar organization for home missions to foreigners work? We have in our city one or two heathen Chinese and also a flourishing colony of Arabian Mahometans who ought to be easily brought to the true faith, more especially when they see around them daily proofs of the benefits of Christianity. En Avant.

Dress goods may have intrinsic merit, and yet lack the possibility of perfect draping. Without perfect draping it is in vain that the goods be costly, or the modiste Parisian. The draping is the charm which gives grace to a woman. This is one particular in which Priestly's famous dress fabrics stand unrivalled. It is universally known that they wear better than other fabrics, but they drape with a grace which endears them to the æsthetic sense of every fastidious woman. Ladies should remember the trade mark "The Varnished Board" on which each piece of Priestley's dress goods is rolled.

NOTES FROM WORCESTER, MASS.

Sir,—On my arrival in Worcester five years since, I wrote a leiter to The Examiner, which was duly published, giving my first impreesion of the city of Worcester.

Worcester has now a population of over 100,000 inhabitants, and perhaps there is not a city in New England where fewer Provincialists can be found, more especially P. E. Islanders. Boston, Salem, Lynn and Brockton, in Massachusetts, are the abodes of most Islanders in the state.

Notwithstanding these facts, Provincialists are sufficiently numerous here to carry on successfully, a well organized Maritime Province Association." The annual re-union of this association takes place in Horticultural Hall on Tuesday next. A large delegation from nearly every city in the state will be entertained. Among the distinguished men who will speak on the occasion is Hon. A. R. Dickie, of Nova Scotia. Several other Canadian gentlemen will answer the invitation.

One of the local papers of this morning contains the following paragraph. I cannot place this gentleman. Perhaps Mr. editor you can enlighten me:

MEMBER OF CANADIAN PARLIAMENT.

Hon. Thomas Prowse of Charlottetown, Prince Edward's Island, is in this city visiting friends previous to a trip across the Atlantic. He is accompanied by his wife and they are staying at the home of her sister, Mrs. John F. Donahue, 3 Lynn street. Mr. Prowse is a member of the Canadian parliament. Mr. and Mrs. Prowse were on their way to the States during the blizzard, last week, and the boat had a rough voyage. The officers and the crew were apprehensive of the safety of the boat part of the time.

Sometime since I had the pleasure of hearing an address delivered before the teachers of Worcester by President J. G. Schurman, of Cornell, University, N. Y. It was an able discourse, and it made an impression upon the Worcester School of Pedagogics. Several weeks ago Rose Coughlan appeared before an overcrowded house at the Worcester theatre. She is undoubtedly one of the strongest drawing cards on the American stage.

Within the same week, this season, Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, and Col. R. G. Ingersoll spoke from the platform of Mechanics' Hall. The great diversity of opinion expressed by these men is demanding advanced thought. General Booth, founder and commander of the Salvation Army, is here. One of our local ministers spoke thus of him in his sermon:

"The name of General Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, and its acknowledged head, is known all over the world. He must be recognized as one of the most extraordinary men of the age. Without money or civic influence, and in the face of religious indifference and even ridicule, he has organized an army which now belts the globe."

Gen. Booth is at present on a visit to this country. He has already visited the chief cities of the land. Everywhere he has been received with respect and unbounded enthusiasm. Governors of states, mayors of cities, distinguished judges and noted clergymen have most cordially welcomed him as a man worthy of honor because of the extraordinary beneficent results achieved through his instrumentality. The largest halls in the places visited by him have been taxed to their utmost capacity by audiences eager to hear and see him.

A Comfort Sometimes.

When health is far gone in Consumption, sometime only ease and comfort can be secured from the use of Scott's Emulsion. What is much better is to take this medicine in time to save your health.

"I have spent thousands of dollars and been in the best hospitals of Europe and America under treatment for catarrah." said a gentleman recently, "and have never received so much genuine relief as I have from a twenty-five cent box of Hawker's catarrah cure."

Gentlemen who care for being well dressed are asking for the "Tyke" serge which has become so popular. It is a cloth of the very highest character and especially sound colors. The registered trade mark "Tyke" is stamped on the back of every 2¼ yards.
