

DAILY MARKET QUOTATIONS

10. The Guardian, Charlottetown, Sat., May 2, 1959.

BRISTOL

Visitors to the city from this vicinity recently were George Phalen, Peter Phalen, and Joe Phalen, all farmers on a big scale who were in the city on separate business of their own.

Miss Margaret Findley, who spends the winter months in Boston, with her sister Lottie, Mrs. Walter Munroe and Mr. Munroe, has returned to her home here for the summer months.

Several fishermen have taken up residence at the shore to be near their work of getting the hundreds of lobster traps in readiness for the opening day, that's only two weeks away.

Friends are pleased to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Anselm Lapierre, will again operate the cookhouse at Red Head this spring and summer, where meals will be served at all hours. In the busy season more than a hundred fishermen and other working crews eat at the cook-house and Mr. and Mrs. Lapierre, are first class caterers. They will move to the shore in another week's time—around 20th. This will be good news to those who carry lunch cans now, and eat cold meals while working hard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted McEwen were business visitors to the city this week. Mr. McEwen following the footsteps of his father is busy painter, both contract and otherwise. Mr. Jack Rossiter, Irving agent here, was a business visitor to the city last week. The condition of Mr. Reuben Drake, who has been ill for quite some time, remains about the same we understand.

SUMMARY
