The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	Dble.	2 ♣	3 ♣
Pass	3 NT

Opening lead—ten of spades.

There are times in the play when you must have the courage of your convictions. It does not matter that a particular play is highly unusual, or that it seems to be suicidal—what does matter is that if the play makes sense and can be justified on logical grounds, you should make it.

Take this case, for example. East opens the bidding with a diamond, which you double, and West makes a preemptive bid of two spades, over which North freely bids three clubs.

After you then bid three no-trump, West leads the ten of spades. When dummy comes down, you begin to doubt the wisdom of the three notrump bid. Things don't look good at the moment because nine tricks seem far away.

But faint heart ne'er won fair lady, so you play the four of spades from dummy and when East follows with the six, you play the deuce!

West may be surprised to win the trick with the ten, but he is doomed to eventual disappointment because, regardless of what he plays next, you make three notrump. The only tricks you lose are two spades, a club and a diamond.

But if you had won the spade lead with the queen, as would seem to be natural, you would wind up going down three, losing five spade tricks, a club and a diamond.

Your first play, though hard to think of, is easy to justify. There is no hope of making the contract unless the spade suit can be blocked. Both the bidding and the play strongly indicate that West has six spades to the A-10-9. If the situation is otherwise—let's say West has only five spades—the contract cannot be made.

It therefore becomes proper to play West for his actual spade holding and East for the ace of clubs and ace of diamonds, which are a necessary part of his opening bid. There is no other hope.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Revision Seen In Air Traffic

EDMONTON (CP)—The Journal says a major revision of Canada's commercial air policy is imminent.

It says the revision is designed to ensure that regional air carriers make a profit. One of the changes would be the end of the Edmonton-Calgary run by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The newspaper says the new policy will involve concentration by TCA and Canadian Pacific Airlines on Trans-Canada and overseas routes, leaving regional routes to smaller regional carriers.

The newspaper says steps will be taken to enhance Canada's position in the international air scene by negotiating "realistic" bilateral air agreements with the United States.

The Edmonton - Calgary run now is flown by TCA and Pacific Western Airlines.
