Among The Farmers

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

BENSON AND THE FUTURE

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Benson in speaking to the semi-annual Board meeting of the C. F. A. at Regina took a look at the future and noted that many experts in Canada and the United States believe that the next 50 years will put the agriculturists of both our nations to the test.

We are currently in an era of rapid population growth, and by the year 2,000 the population of the United States may well exceed 250 million. I have seen estimates that the population of Canada may then be about 35 million.

If these projections prove fairly accurate, demands for food and fiber—even at present per capita rates—will be more than doubled in Canada. In the United States, demands on agriculture will be up more than 50 per cent.

In the United States especially, the best agricultural lands are already in use. Additional acres now available for economical production are limited. In both our countries, we need to move forward toward a better balanced and permanent type of agriculture.

The flow of U. S. capital to the north and U. S. purchases of Canadian raw materials have helped Canada maintain a strong reserve position, and a unit of currency that sells at a premium in terms of U. S. currency. The economic stand that our ability to produce abundantly is a great blessing—provided we use common sense, practical methods of dealing with it. We must use our abundance for the good of our people and of mankind.

In agriculture I firmly believe we are on the threshold of what is perhaps the most revolutionary development of all time—the use of fissionable material for power. Nuclear energy may some day make deserts bloom by desalting sea water, and transporting under cheap nuclear power to coastal cities. We may some day be able to retain for agriculture the inland water those cities now require.

People in the dairy industry generally agree that some of their problems can be solved by increasing the consumption of milk in the fluid form—used in this way it is disposed of but when manufactured into butter and cheese it is stored and remains around still further to aggravate the surplus situation. Dairy people had looked with some envy upon the soft drink industries' ability to merchandize their products in automatic vending machines but now such machines are being used for dairy products and are proving that the public will buy milk in substantial quantities when it is offered in this way. These machines cost approximately $1200 and are equipped to accept nickels, dimes and quarters and give change in nickels. Here in part may be the answer to the solution of the dairy surplus problem.

WHEAT QUOTAS
U. S. farmers voted on June 25th by 77.5 per cent in favour of marketing quotas for the 1956 wheat crop. This means that the acreage will be held at the fifty five million level and the support price of $1.81 per bushel will be guaranteed. This represents 76 per cent of parity. This year's crop will return the farmer $2.06 or 82.5 per cent of parity.

THE HIGHLAND SHOW
The Scottish Highland show is famous in agricultural centers far beyond the boundaries of Scotland and curiously shifts its location annually from place to place with Edinburgh being the site this year. The Duke of Edinburgh opened the show this year and spent a whole day moving around in the crowd. He is said to have delighted the Royal College of Surgeons when on being presented with a bleeding cup, replied "this is bloody good of you". The word is not one held in very good repute in Great Britain but has become very popular—thanks to the Duke, among the young fry. All this to the consternation of their more proper elders. Our correspondent Archie Johnston notes that Lord Lovat's Burdon Bankbook was the grand champion shorthorn bull. Lord Lovat will be remembered as the Simon Fraser who visited the Island two years ago. The description of the Fair remarks upon the fact that despite the huge crowds in attendance, dykes, each type of which has a name. "Watchers" are the big ones standing in the sea to fend off the first assaults of waves. "Sleepers" are the second lines of defense behind the "watchers". The "dreamers" are last resort defenders of individual farms. Although they don't speak a word of English, Native women in French Equatorial Africa are warm admirers of Britain's pretty monarch, Queen Elizabeth II. Her portrait forms the decoration on female attire worn by these natives.

BANDIT BOOBY-TRAP
TORONTO (CP)—Trapdoors have been advocated as an antidote for bank bandits. Controller Archie Johnston notes that Lord Lovat's Burdon Bankbook was the grand champion shorthorn bull. Lord Lovat will be remembered as the Simon Fraser who visited the Island two years ago. The description of the Fair remarks upon the fact that despite the huge crowds in attendance,

No Rebate For Automobile Dealers Under Excise Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Harris says auto dealers, like other merchants, must take any loss on goods in stock resulting from a federal budget reduction in excise tax.

That was his final reply in the Commons Wednesday to repeated demands that car dealers get a rebate for new cars in stock on which they had paid the higher tax. Mr. Harris said the auto excise tax reduction, to 10 per cent from 15, was an estimated $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 on cars in dealers' hands at budget time.

There is no doubt dealers suffered some loss, he said. But it did not follow that they lost the exact amount of the tax cut and he could not depart from the general rule against rebates. NO REBATE AT ALL

Mr. Harris gave his verdict on an issue that arose over the budget announcement that no requests for rebates of any tax reductions would be allowed. Commons members from both sides of the House had subsequently added that appeals to those of car dealer associations for an adjustment.

Bills amending the income and excise tax laws were passed Wednesday. Another measure dealing with various tariff changes was approved, all but the final reading. The main budget tax change ising

INSTITUTE CONVENTION

Welcome visitors to the City on Institutes who are holding their gates from the branch Women's Institutes who are holding their Annual Meeting. It would almost appear superfluous to remark at any length upon the work which has been done over a long period of years by the rural women in their organization. Education, health, recreation and rural life in general have all benefited from the untiring energy of the Institutes. In fact, it would perhaps be very difficult to visualize what the rural situation would be today had not the Institutes appeared on the scene. This annual convention brings together a most public spirited group of citizens. The delegates find the experience a valuable one from both the educational and social standpoint and go back to their own communities inspired with new determination to do even greater things on behalf of rural society.

The poets who remarked on the sweet odor of new mown hay were likely never called upon to fork the stuff under a hot barn roof or to put up with the annoyance of dust and small particles. Haymaking has traditionally been an operation involving a great deal of hard physical labour. It has, in addition required some instinct as well as scientific knowledge if a top quality product is to be produced in the face of weather conditions which in many cases are far from being ideal. For years labour saving devices in storing have come slowly. The most important advance being the change from the scythe to the mower. Next, the use of hoisting gear to store the crop in hay mows really eliminated a back breaking operation. For a long time, nothing followed these two developments a labour saver of considerable value it did not become very popular in this province. It is only within the past decade that the full forces of mechanization have been unleashed on the hay crop with the swathers, side delivery racks, forage harvesters, blowers and balers, to say nothing of the escalators, bale loaders and stem crushers.

Coal pays the Butcher, the Baker...

The $50,000,000 which the Maritime coal industry distributes annually in wages affects the well being of all of us. The butcher, the baker, and even the candlestick maker all share in it through the daily purchases of employees.

In addition, the coal industry annually spends $15,000,000 for stores and supplies and provides $8,000,000 in business to the transportation companies.

A healthy coal industry is essential to Maritime prosperity. Buy Nova Scotia coal.
