HONESTY TO BE TESTED

Some Election Strategy Unveiled By PC Leader

By KEN KELLY
BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker said Saturday night the Nov. 8 election will show whether honesty and integrity are out of date in Canadian public life.

He said in his first major address since the election was called that the reason Prime Minister Pearson is unable to govern with a minority of Commons seats is his "failure to insist on integrity in high places."

The Opposition leader mixed his attack on the Liberal government with brief glimpses on the Conservative platform. He promised to set up a ministry of youth affairs, federal grants to universities of 75 per cent of the cost of buildings and equipment, and deductions for the home owner of municipal taxes in calculating income tax.

He spoke to a standing-room-only crowd at the annual banquet of the Ontario Young Progressive Conservatives in a motel dining room here. Four hundred persons sat down to the meal.

While Mr. Diefenbaker's election campaign will be formally inaugurated later, probably next weekend, his speech and an earlier press conference unveiled some of the things he will discuss in the campaign.

ALLEGE RACKET
He said at the press conference that one reason Mr. Pearson "rushed to the country in an election" was a bankruptcy racket. He said Quebec Revenue Minister Kierans has said honest people were fleeced of millions because Ottawa failed to take any action.

Mr. Pearson had not wanted Parliament to know the details of a pledge by six former Social Credit MPs after the 1963 election to support the Liberals.

He said Moise Darabaner, "a Liberal organizer" who faces fraud charges in Quebec arising from a bankruptcy, was present when the six Social Credit members made their pledge.

Mr. Diefenbaker read extracts from a document prepared, he said, for Liberal campaign workers before the election was called advising them to avoid the issue of honesty in government.

"Calumny and scandal-mongering will end up where they belong in the gutter," Mr. Diefenbaker read.

"I didn't know Chief Justice (Frederic) Dorian had been guilty of calumny," Mr. Diefenbaker said referring to the Dorian report on attempted bribery and coercion charges in the Lucien Rivard affair.

HINTS AT BRIBES
He said Rivard, now on trial in Laredo, Texas, on narcotics smuggling charges, "wanted to line the pockets of the Liberals." Two or three executive asstants had tried to help get him out of a Canadian jail.

He said the Liberals also had produced a booklet on 34 ways the Liberal Party has made history. Living costs were rising so high that people could afford only hamburger and a better booklet would have been 34 ways to cook hamburger.

He charged that between 40,000 and 50,000 students living on university campuses will be denied the right to vote unless they return to their hometowns Nov. 8.

He said that in pre-election campaign training Liberal party workers were told that a major area of weakness of the party was disenchantment of youth, especially at universities, with the Liberals.

He said Mr. Pearson promised in the 1962 and 1963 election campaigns to provide 10,000 university scholarships.

"He never did one thing about it, not a thing."

A first responsibility of a Conservative administration would be to call a conference of federal and provincial governments and educational institutions to implement a program line to university capital construction and equipment.

Canada Can't Be Neutral Macquarrie Tells Legion

MONTAGUE — Heath Macquarrie, MP for Queens in the last parliament, Saturday told Legion members here the present era was "the most sensitive the most dangerous and the most demanding in so far as international politics is concerned."

Mr. Macquarrie was guest speaker at a banquet in the Legion Home here at the 34th annual convention of the provincial command.

He said the modern era had brought both the military and diplomatic operation into the public realm. Foreign policy and the responsibility to question it, "but in the final analysis, we are on the side of the U.S. Canada will not, cannot and should not be a neutral."

SIDE OF RIGHT
"We stand by the USA not because they are rich and powerful but because on the vital issues which grip our world and decide its future, the Americans stand on the side of right and we stand with them."

Mr. Macquarrie expressed the hope Canada would "continue to play its full part in solving the world's problems."

The speaker was introduced by former Kings MP John Mullally.

Other guests at the banquet included Senator Elsie Inman, Mayor B. H. Yeo, Opposition Leader M. L. Bissell, Douglas MacGowan, M.L.A. and Rev. Russell Burns, Trinity United Church, Montague.

OFFICERS ELECTED
During business sessions, F. Pius Smith of Charlottetown was elected president of the provincial command, replacing Mercier Mullin, who had filled the position for the past two years.

Other officers elected were: honorary president, Lieut. Gov. W. J. McDonald; first vice-president, Cyril Williams, Ellerslie; second vice-president, Ron MacKinnon, Alberton; provincial chairman, Bruce Stewart, Souris; vice chairman, Alex Arsenault, Georgetown; honorary treasurer, Andrew MacEachern, Charlottetown; honorary chaplain, Rev. Donald MacLennan, Charlottetown, and dominion representative, J. Hamilton Douglas.

The two-day convention, which concluded Saturday, dealt with 15 resolutions and heard over a dozen reports from committee chairmen.

Resolutions included financing of the Legion curling, in which it was decided to procure a sponsor at the provincial level to the national convention; help for widows of service men; support for Red Cross blood donor clinics, and appointing of a third vice-president to the provincial command.

Ron MacKinnon of Alberton was chairman of the Saturday business sessions.

REPORTS PRESENTED
In his report, the retiring president Mercier Mullin outlined events of the past year and commented on work of the various committees.

A. C. MacEachern presented the honorary treasurer's report, and the financial report showed the provincial command to be in a favorable financial situation.

represented by Pius Smith received considerable attention, as the command had won the trophy for having a higher increase in membership than any other command.

Freeman Miles gave the poppy committee report and Bruce L. Stewart the dominion representative's report.

The sports committee report presented by R. D. MacKinnon congratulated the command for its contribution to physical fitness program in the province, and outlined the part played in the branches in curling, cribbage, darts, golf and baseball.

LEGION PROPERTIES
Judge J. S. DesRoches reported on the study now underway on command property, which is estimated to be worth more than $2,000,000. It was pointed out that, in the advent of no war in the future, Legion members would become extinct and their property would have to be disposed of.

Appointed to a committee to deal with such matters were Don Stewart, Bruce Stewart, Mercier Mullin and Judge DesRoches.

Other speakers included Leslie Stuart, correspondent for The Legionary; Stan Thompson of the Liquor Control Board; Keith Johnston, WVA representative; Lawrence Doucette, VIA representative; and Jack Tattier and Wendall Firlott, presidents of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick commands, respectively.

Kensington branch invited the command to hold the 1966 convention at Kensington.

He leaves to mourn besides his wife, the former Darling Poole of Lower Montague, one brother Edward in western Canada and one brother thought to be living in France. One sister Irlie also survives. Several sisters and one brother predeceased him.

Mullally Names Areas To Benefit

Information that the Atlantic Development Board has approved expenditures for building paved roads to fishing harbors, is welcomed by John Mullally, MP for Kings in the last parliament, who said that contracts have already been let for pavement linking the fishing harbors at Murray Harbor and Beach Wharf.

He expressed the hope that work on most of the roads to other fishing wharves will be completed this fall, so the fishermen will have the benefit of the pavement for the start of next spring's fishing season.

Paving action is also indicated on roads linking present highways to harbors at North Lake, Naurage and Fortune, Mr. Mullally said.

Other fishing harbors for which paving treatment is planned include those at Launching, Graham's Pond, Poverty Beach, Machon's Point and Beach Point, Mr. Mullally said.

bor and $6,936 for the paving link to the wharf at Poverty Beach, he said.

DREDGING CONTRACT
There is also the contract for some $47,680 to the J. P. Porter firm of Montreal and Halifax for dredging at Georgetown. This involves the removal of some 15,000 cubic yards of material in connection with the provision of a marine railway slip for Bathurst Marine Limited.

The fact that the money has been made available by the federal government, through the Atlantic Development Board, for paving roads leading to fishing harbors will mean a great deal to the fishermen officials here. That is particularly true for the lobster fishermen who often have trouble getting their traps and gear over the roads in the spring, Mr. Mullally observed. With paved roads to their fishing harbors, this serious difficulty will be overcome, he observed.

In addition he said, the people who reside in those communities MacMillan for $6,900 for the paving to the wharf at Murray Har-

HALIFAX (CP) — The weather office says that with light winds, and generally clear skies throughout the Maritimes late Sunday, temperatures in most regions were falling rapidly. Before dawn, many localities were expected to experience near freezing temperatures and there was a risk of frost in most counties of all three provinces.

A large high pressure area is moving slowly across the district, resulting in another sunny, cool day today. A small disturbance southwest of New England had been expected to spread cloud and rain over some regions, but it now appears that this weather will remain just south of Nova Scotia.

Regional forecasts:
Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick: Clear and very cool overnight, with risk of frost in valleys. Today sunny except for a few cloudy periods. REV. DON Waldron, left, of Dalhousie, N.B., chats with Roger Flumerfelt of Montreal and Donald Hood of Halifax at the close of the Stanhope Men's Conference of the United Church yesterday. The 10th annual conference began on Saturday. Mr. Flumerfelt, a Montreal insurance executive was one of the major speakers at the conference.

Best Attendance Yet At Men's Conference

Stanhope Men's Conference of the United Church closed yesterday with the largest attendance yet recorded in its 10-year history. Over 120 men were present for full or part time sessions.

Rev. Dr. George Johnston of Montreal United Theological School divided the theme, "Man in Many Worlds" into three sections: "Man the Thinker", "Man the Manager" and "Man the Believer".

As manager of the God-given resources under his control he said man had not used these resources in a prudent manner. Emphasizing that management is "the stewardship of natural resources", Dr. Johnston said man cannot continue to live on this planet unless he learns the proper uses of it and everything that is in it.

He took for example the proper conservation of water, the shortage of which is causing grave concern in many of the major centres of population. He also pointed out that industry is experiencing a loss of craftsmanship as seen in many consumer products and services.

As a remedy for the deficiencies noted, Dr. Johnston urged a more meaningful acceptance of the secular world and its technological methods; that man's work may be a kind of praying and men and women of the Christian faith must take more seriously their responsibility to participate in politics, trade unions and professional organizations.

Roger Flumerfelt, Montreal businessman who was the special lay-speaker at the conference, emphasized the need for a more definite purpose in men's work. He said this purpose should go hand in hand with dedication and a large measure of enthusiasm.

He felt that lines of communication between parents and children must be strengthened. He also stated that clergy and laymen must work in the closest harmony to see the most effective effort is accomplished in their church and community.

During the conference the men enjoyed the singing of the Fredericton Capital Four. The song leader for the weekend was David Hall, Dr. A.E. Ings of Montague was general chairman. Rev. Bruce Roberts of Nashwaakasis, N.B., conducted a period of sharing in which he made reference to the faithful service of the late Lester Keizer who was a past chairman of the conference.

The weekend was brought to a close with the celebration of Holy Communion by Rev. C.R. Webber of Summerside, assisted by Rev. George Johnston.
