ISLAND SOLDIERS ABROAD.

Two Very Interesting Letters from South Africa.

Mr. Ernest Foster has received a letter from A. R. Dillon, dated Love Dale, Feb. 3, 1900, in which he says:

We have not very good means of writing out here so you must not think I have forgotten you. This is not the best country in the world to live in, and if I were to get the whole of the Transvaal I would not live here.

All the boys are well, though some are feeling a little homesick; and if it were not for the little excitement now and then I think we would be dead. We don't get as much to eat in a week as would feed an ordinary man for two days, let alone healthy Islanders. So we have to buy our grub out of our pay,—£1 18s per month. Everything is dear out here.

I think we are here for a whole year by the look of things. The Boers are tough enemies. But of course we will win in the end. We have had a few scraps, but so far have not lost any of our men. We may some of these days.

I will write you a long letter in a few days as soon as we get into a town.

We have been permitted to make the following extracts from a letter received by Mr. Alfred Pickard from a friend at the front. The letter was written at Richmond:—

I expect my first Boer every minute. "G" Company only is here. We are about fifteen miles from Belmont. Forty-four thousand rounds of ammunition has just arrived for us, and each man carries one hundred extra. This is a farm house. The farm has three thousand acres, and a very nice house well furnished. It has been vacated by the owner. There are none but Kaffirs here, and they are as naked as the day they were born.

We have established a communication with Belmont. I was on duty twenty-four hours in the hills the day before yesterday. It rained nearly all the time. We had no shelter. My eyes are aching yet. It was very cold last night. We have only one blanket per man, and I did not sleep much. We are out in the open all the time. We have canned beef and hard tack for breakfast, also coffee; the same for dinner and supper, except that we have tea instead of coffee at the latter meal. So our bill of fare is getting rather out of date.

I wish I had some of the CharloTTetown condensed milk. We pay six pence for a quart, that is twelve cents. I do without rather than pay that.

We are all on the qui vive for there is a party of Boers, numbering about two thousand, and also smaller parties of from forty to three hundred in our vicinity. The larger party have about four thousand head of cattle. Col. Pilcher has left Modder River to cut them off. Another force has left Oranger River. So there will in all probability be some fun. I expect to be on the way home in March, the war cannot go on much longer.

We have just received an order to be under arms at daybreak in case of an attack.

I had to stop writing last night, on account of transport wagons coming in. We had a hard time today. First I must describe our position. We are at Weyland's Farm, at Richmond. North and south of us are a range of kopjes. [Since starting this part two days ago we have been retired (G Co. only) to Lovedale, seven and a half miles distant, and then returned here last evening, having done the march in two hours. That is considered excellent marching out here.] Those kopjes are occupied by our men day and night. In the day time we occupy the farthest one from camp, and retire to two large ones near the camp at night. We had fortifications of stone on each one so as to protect ourselves, but now they are building a large fort on one of the kopjes and mounting some guns on it.

About 10 o'clock on Saturday the main column retired on our position, and we received orders to prepare to leave at 3.30 p. m. But about 12 a. m. an alarm was given by our outposts. Clouds of dust could be seen in the distance. Shots were distinctly heard. Immediately the bugler sounded the alarm tone could hear, "Fall in No's. 1, 2, 3 or 4 sections, with sidearms, banjoliners, water-bottles, and rifles." There was no confusion. Every man knew where his accoutrements were and they were on him before a person could realize what was going on. Hard tack was then issued and empty bottles filled with water. Scouts were coming in and going out, ambulance wagons were made ready, officers were galloping everywhere, and orderlies were sent out to bring in outposts. All was ready for a half day's fighting. Six men with myself were sent out to occupy North Kopjes. We were in heavy marching order. It was no fun climbing North Kopje with all our harness and outfit on; and when we got there we were completely winded, for it was like climbing a house, with a notch here and there to put your feet in. We remained there until about 2.45 p. m. Troops were out in all directions, but we could see no enemy. We had to retire to camp on the double, and found the rest of the camp ready to march to Lovedale. The cause of all the excitement was a Remington scout, who was out hunting with several companions. The boys were all very much disappointed, at not having a crack at the foe; but I guess they will have that chance before very long.

The Islanders are all in excellent health; and have no intention of returning without plugging a few of the enemy. We are still looking forward to the arrival of our Christmas Box so kindly sent us by our friends at home. Love to all.

Local and Other Items

TONIGHT at 8 o'clock Mr. J. E. McCready will deliver a lecture in the Baptist Church. Subject: "The Transvaal war and its causes." Mr. McCready is an authority on his subject, and his lecture will be in the highest degree interesting and instructive. Admission only 15 cent.

MAYFLOWERS IN MARCH.—The Pictorial Advocate says: Miss Lowden, Beaches road, has placed upon our table a bunch of beautiful Mayflower blossoms, picked by her a few days ago. This is unusually early to hear of the Mayflower being in bloom, but is no doubt due to the mild, bright weather we have had.

THE DRAMA.—On the evening of March 26th "The Irish Agent" will be played in the Hall at Kelly's Cross, varied with select interludes and orchestra. This promises to be a most interesting and exciting play, even surpassing, according to those who saw rehearsals, the one presented last spring. The characters are almost the same, with the addition of Messrs. McMahon, Emerald, and Mr. J. A. Ready, B. A., Kensington. Keep the above date in mind. Programmes in a few days.

HIT HIM AGAIN.—A small church was sadly in need of repairs, and a meeting was held in it for that purpose. The minister having said five hundred dollars would be required, a very wealthy and equally stingy member of the church rose and said he would give one dollar. Just as he sat down, however, a lump of plaster fell from the ceiling and hit him on the head, whereupon he rose up hastily and called out that he had made a mistake, he would give fifty dollars. This was too much for an enthusiastic member present, who, forgetful of everything, called out fervently: "O Lord, hit him again!"

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE.—Like wine, the National Magazine improves with age. It has a dash, go and spirit about it that is refreshing, and the strong flavor of originality which permeates its pages holds the reader irresistibly. The number for March, which has just come to hand, maintains the high character of the publication. There is, among other good things, an interesting article by Editor Chapple giving some glimpses of affairs at Washington, and another writer of ability gives a pleasing view of life at Porto Rico. Other articles deal with Chamberlain's visit to America, the Monroe doctrine, matters pertaining to the Transvaal, and live topics of interest. There is also an interesting article under the caption "News From the Future," in which there is an interesting forecast of the great world movements during the next forty years. The rest of the articles are in keeping with those to which reference has been made, and there is an overflow of good things in the regular departments. The illustrations are of the best kind. The National Magazine is published at 91 Bedford Street, Boston. Copies may be obtained at local news dealers.

THOSE SOFTWOOD FLOORS.

Six.—At the formal opening of the new Prince of Wales College, Premier Farquharson took a great deal of credit to himself for having the plans altered and making certain alleged improvements in the structure. Perhaps he will tell us if it was his idea to have the floors of softwood in a building intended to be used for years to come.

ANXIOUS ONE.

OUR OF SEASON.—Miss Gladys Merritt, of Smith's Cove, presents us this week with a bouquet of pansies and a branch of cherry blossoms which were picked from the garden on Saturday last. This has certainly been a great winter for out of door plants.—Digby Courier.

ATHLETICS.—One of the important features of the Pan-American Exposition, to be held at Buffalo in the summer of 1901, will be a complete and comprehensive athletic carnival. For this purpose an immense stadium will be erected, covering about 400,000 square feet, in the centre of which will be a quarter mile track. It will accommodate 25,000 persons. The suggestion was some time ago made that the world's great athletes could be brought together in a grand sport tournament. This suggestion was voted good. The crack racing men of America, France, England, Holland, and Italy will attend.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Tailor Made Suits. Remember our tailor made suits this spring before you place your order. We have something nice to show you as soon as the carpenters go. 300 yards costume tweeds and skirting showing for spring wear at Paton & Co's.

Two Thousand dollars worth of new spring ready made dresses, skirts and jackets on exhibition this week at the Big Store will be pleased to have a call from the ladies of Charlottetown. The skirts are correct, the jackets are right and no two alike and the price is right. Jas. Paton & Co. inc.

Twas But a Step.—The following appears on a tombstone in an English burying ground: "Samuel Gardner was blind in one eye and in a moment of confusion he stepped out of a receiving and discharging door in one of the warehouses into the ineffable glories of the celestial sphere."

THE EXPECTED HAPPENED.—At a recent local option election in Cloverport, Ky., women and preachers crowded the entrance to the polls and sang hymns, while the church bells were ringing. The temperance advocates won.

THE READY MADE DRESS MAKERS.—We know it is an well-earned accomplishment to put two hundred (200) ready made dresses and spring skirts on sale this early in the season at prices of 1-4 to 1-3 less than they will sell for in a few weeks; but this is a store that makes precedents rather than follow them. These ready made dresses and skirts were contracted for last October; we left the order open as regards style for we wanted the latest. The quality is at last October's value, today; value at the head fountain is 25 per cent to 33 1-3 more. Come, and see our ready-to-wear everyday skirts, walking skirts and costumes. Jas Paton & Co.
