A SOMNAMBULIST'S FATE.—A wealthy farmer named Steve Haven, living at Otis, near Fowlerville, Mich., was found dead a few days ago in front of his barn with his neck broken. He had left his room in his sleep, gone to the stable and fallen out of an upper story door. Haven's career as a sleepwalker has been a remarkable one. Two years ago he was found one morning at the bottom of a deep well. Two months later he was found wading up to his neck in Silver Lake. About a year ago he fired his house while asleep, and only a few months ago, while asleep, he tried to hang himself in his room.

THE CASE DISMISSED.—The enquiry into the charge preferred against policeman Warren by Mr. Theo. L. Chappelle was resumed before the Stipendiary Magistrate yesterday afternoon. The witnesses examined were Edward McLeod, James E. Anderson, L. J. Sauter, Joe Wright, Walter Kinsman, Henry Piggott, Matthew Allen, Michael Hennessey, Wm. Brehaut, Marshall Cameron and policeman Warren. Nothing new was brought out, the evidence being pretty much in line with that given in the forenoon. His Honor dismissed the case, saying that there was not one tittle of evidence that officer Warren had ill-treated Clarke at the time of his arrest. If the charge had been proven, instant dismissal from the force would be the penalty. Great care should be exercised in making arrests for drunkenness, and no man should be arrested who is capable of taking care of himself.

THE durability of Kid Gloves depends upon how they are put on the first time. If you want a Kid Glove to fit, buy it leisurely and with judgment, and put it on slowly, taking care to fit every part. It is better not to use a stretcher. Choose gloves, the fingers of which correspond with your own in length; work in the fingers first, then the thumb, and finally smooth them down until they fit in every part. A glove that fits well generally wears well. If the ends do not come down well, or if they are so long as to wrinkle, they will chafe out easily. When fingers are so small as to need the stretcher, the body of the glove is strained out in drawing over the hand.

To-morrow we will tell you how to obtain gloves at less than usual prices. 49 CENTS made a number of ladies happy to-day, or rather the Corsets made them happy, and only cost 49 cents. It's about the same thing, isn't it? We believe no such bargain in Corsets was ever before given in Charlottetown. A few pairs still remaining. Call early and secure them. Watch this corner daily. We will make it worth your while doing so.

Opposition Merchants in this City are taking advantage of our Low Prices, and sending boys to buy our Reefers and putting them in stock and selling them at a profit. Now, we claim that such transactions are unfair. If we sell goods at cost, in order to give the poor people a chance, competitors should be charitable enough to let the poor people buy them from us, and not put the price up 25 per cent.

We are determined to undersell all selfish competitors, even if we have to sell goods at half what they cost.

Our trade has increased very much the last two years by doing the fair, square thing by our customers; and we know that if the people knew as much as we do about the way some people do business, they would trade with us every time for Clothing, Gents' Furnishings, Hats, etc.

We don't want the Earth, but we want people to buy good goods cheap; so come along and buy Reefers, Overcoats and Suits at never-to-be-forgotten prices.

If opposition men in the city want to buy Children's Clothing from us they can do so if they come themselves, as we can sell much cheaper than they can buy.
