Doctor Tells Jury Made A Mistake

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—A doctor testified Tuesday a woman patient would not have died eight days after he removed her gall bladder if he had noticed that he had made a surgical error during the operation.

Dr. Robert K. Graham, 38, of nearby Palmerston, told an inquest into the March 7 death of Mrs. Ina Noer, a 54-year-old widow, he was not aware during the operation that he had sewn up the wrong abdominal duct.

"If I had noticed that the wrong duct had been sutured things wouldn't have turned out as they did," said Dr. Graham, son of Ronald Kingsley Graham, Canada's ambassador to Sweden.

Dr. Graham also testified he was not aware at the end of the operation at Palmerston General Hospital a surgical clamp had been left inside Mrs. Noer's body.

Earlier, pathologist Dr. F. L. Barnes, who found the clamp during an autopsy, testified death was not caused by the clamp but by peritonitis—inflammation of the abdominal cavity's inner lining.

He said Dr. Graham had sewn up the common bile duct instead of the cystic duct, closed in all gall bladder removal operations. This mistake had permitted bile to enter the abdominal cavity, causing the peritonitis.

Youth Goal 'Important'

By HAROLD MORRISON

TORONTO (CP)—Robert F. Kennedy said Tuesday night youth in the developing countries will achieve their idealistic goals even if they have to pull governments down over their heads to win a share of "a better, cleaner world."

"This affects us: Canada and the United States, and you and me," the United States attorney-general added in a speech to The Canadian Press annual dinner. "We must recognize that the young in many areas of the world today are in the midst of a revolution against the status quo. Their anger is turned on the systems which have allowed poverty, illiteracy and oppression to flourish for centuries."

Canada and the U.S. form part of this revolution of the young, said the 38 - year - old brother of the late president John F. Kennedy, "and I believe we must encourage them."

"For if Western powers do not help them, these revolutionists will make common cause with some other system to achieve their immediate goals.

"If this means that the future is perilous, I must admit that I think it is. But it is also exciting. If the odds seem long, then, as Edith Hamilton said of Aeschylus, 'to the heroic, desperate odds flinc a challenge'."

FIRST CANADIAN SPEECH

This was the attorney-general's first speech in Canada, a country which, he noted, reacted with deep sympathy when President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex., last November. The family was "profoundly moved" by this response, Mr. Kennedy said.

Introduced by Stuart Keate, president of The Canadian Press and publisher of the Victoria Times, Mr. Kennedy was thanked by R. L. Curran, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association and president and managing editor of the Sault Ste. Marie Star.

The attorney-general said the late president was deeply involved in the struggle to win the hearts and minds of youth everywhere.

"In the unsettled atmosphere of the world today, there is a premium on the qualities of young people. They are more important to themselves, to their nations and to the ideas that they espouse than ever before."

In Pakistan, 60 per cent of the population is under the age of 25, he said. In the Congo, the figure is 54 per cent; in Tanganyika, 62 per cent. Many around the world were students who had initiated uprisings in such places as Budapest, Warsaw and in Japan and Venezuela.

KEY ROLE PLAYED

Students, said Mr. Kennedy, played a key role in the overthrow of the Ngo Dinh Diem government in South Viet Nam last November. The young were gaining positions of political power.

"Current history suggests the leaders of the developing nations throughout the world for the next few decades will come from the young intellectuals, the students, the young labor leaders and politicans of today. These are the ones with whom we should be primarily concerned."

EFFORT MUST BE MADE

A conscious effort must be made to seek out the young, for "it was the natural course for nations and diplomats and those who publish newspapers to speak to the established order."

While the future was perilous, the West had a lot on its side, because "we of the Western tradition are all heirs of revolution."

From the Magna Carta through the American revolution and Canada's Confederation, "our people have achieved the changes that were the felt needs of the time."

Canada and the United States were good examples of the tolerance of ideas and diversity "and they are strong enough to admit errors."

"This type of free expression is contagious. It has a sparkling attraction for the young, inquiring minds, an attraction that no Communist system can match."

ADVANTAGES STRESSED

Mr. Kennedy said he emphasized the democratic advantages because "too often in the past we have relied on a negative response to communism and left the world with the illusion that only Karl Marx had a philosophy.

"We have not been as tough, aggressive or articulate as we might have been in the war of ideas.

"Beyond that, we must acknowledge the temptations of self-satisfaction, indulgence and complacency here at home. Unless we resist these temptations in our own countries, we cannot speak with the ringing voice that will be heard by the young struggling for progress throughout the world."

India House Is Adjourned

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—The Indian Parliament's lower house was adjourned Tuesday 20 minutes ahead of time after disorderly scenes in which members ignored attempts to restore order.

It was the first time in the history of the Indian Parliament that it had to be adjourned because of disorderly scenes.

The trouble arose when Independent member Frank Anthony accused the government of failing to check the revival of reactionary forces in the country.

Several members interrupted Anthony and some asked Deputy Speaker S. V. Krisnamoorthy Rao not to allow a member to continue speaking in that manner.

Commotion broke out when the Deputy Speaker refused to do so. After members refused to heed the chair's repeated attempts to restore order, the Deputy Speaker adjourned the House for the day.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three Ls, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♦

Opening lead—Jack of clubs.

This hand occurred in the match between Ireland and Lebanon during the European Championships played in Palermo in 1960.

When the Lebanese team held the North-South cards, they reached five diamonds on the bidding sequence shown. Two clubs was an artificial game-forcing bid, and two diamonds was the artificial negative response.

North should probably have bid two spades at this point, in which case the best contract of four spades might have been reached, but he chose to bid three diamonds instead. North then bid four spades over three notrump, but South unaware that North had a six-card spade suit, corrected to five diamonds.

The Lebanese declarer went down when East found the best line of defense to defeat the contract. West made the natural lead of the Jack of clubs, which East took with the ace.

East could see two tricks on defense—a diamond and a club—and realized that the only chance of acquiring a third defensive trick depended upon West's having a singleton or void in spades.

So at trick two he returned a spade. Declarer won the jack with the queen and played the ace and another diamond, but East took the king, led another spade, and West ruffed to defeat the contract one trick.

When the Irish team held the North-South cards, they also got into trouble with the bidding, but likely they came out all right. The bidding went:

North	East	South	West
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	5 ♠

North, playing Acol, jumped to five diamonds over two notrump and South made a preference bid of five spades, which became the contract.

Declarer lost a club and a diamond and made five spades to bring the Irish team a net gain of 300 points on the deal, but he would have gone down one quite unnecessarily if the trumps had not been divided favorably.
