Presbyterian Moderator Speaks At Summerside

—The Most Reverend William A. Cameron, moderator of the seventy-ninth General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was the guest speaker last evening in the Summerside Presbyterian Church. His subject was "but one thing is needful" (Luke 10:42).

The speaker stressed the need in this day of taking time to allow God to speak to us, showing us the way for us and the way through which his purpose may be realized in our lives, for far too many the things which are material fill the whole of life leaving no place for that direction through which life's unity may be preserved.

The minister, Rev. Donald MacKay, presided. The choir rendered two anthems and led the congregation in the hymns of praise under the direction of the organist, Mr. James Peach.

Following the service a reception was held in the hall when refreshments were served.

Says Royal Couple Will Reply To Inaccurate Stories

LONDON, (Reuters)—The Sunday Pictorial says the Queen will introduce an almost "revolutionary" program next year allowing members of the Royal Family to rub shoulders freely with the common folk.

Her new program, the paper said Sunday, will also seek "healthier and closer" relations between royalty and the press in order to stamp out sheer "rubbish" and outright lies written about royal activities. Some of these reports made her "hopping mad," it said.

Huge headlines in the early edition of the mass-circulation newspaper introduced the front-page article by Rex North. He said he was revealing the two-fold program "with confidence and authority."

To Halt Lies North said the program to be launched upon the return of the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh from their global tour next May can be summarized under two headings: "1. The Queen and the Duke are determined to find a way of stopping the circulation through the world of lies, exaggerations and misunderstandings about the royal family."

"2. The royal couple want freedom for themselves and their children to be nearer the people." "These writers who have been gambling—and winning—on the fact that in the past it has not been the... thing for royalty to comment or complain are in for a shock. The Queen and Duke of Edinburgh, a vigorous and lively couple with minds of their own are not prepared to tolerate lies any more.

Gives Examples "They are avid newspaper readers and react in a very normal fashion when rubbish is written about them."

North quoted several examples of plain "lies"—one which his own newspaper committed and later apologized for. That one was a report of Prince Charles being brought up as a vegetarian.

He said a recent report that Princess Margaret sought the Queen's permission to walk freely outside Buckingham Palace was "utter balderdash" since she has strolled in the park with her dogs many a time.

English Socialite Likes Life As Fisherman's Wife

CALVI, Corsica, (Reuters)—A former English socialite announced Saturday her life with a 54-year-old Corsican fisherman in a crumbling waterfront building here is "everything a reasonable person could want."

"We don't have a bathtub," said the former Jane Stewart-Liberty of Mayfair society, "but who wants one with the Mediterranean at our doorstep?"

Brown-haired Jane, whose brother owns Liberty's department store on London's fashionable Regent street, claims that since her marriage last March to swarthy Toussaint Orsini, 43, she has had to live on her hubby's $14 weekly earnings from catching fish and summer tourist business with their boat.

Stories of the Corsican romance were revived recently when social columns announced in London newspapers she had given birth to a girl, Yvonne-Therese. Mayfair gossips claimed Jane would soon tire of her life in this tiny fishing port and return to the cocktail parties and hunt balls of her earlier life.

Liked Open Air "Nonsense," said Jane. "I have always liked the open air and the natural life—above all the sunshine and the sea to swim in. "Look how beautiful Calvi is in November. It is never cold. Think of London—a pea-soup smog and the commuters' train every night. "Here, life is very simple," said the 34-year-old wife. "Toussaint gets up at 4:30 a.m. and goes out with the nets. I get up at eight, have my pot of coffee and set about the housework. Then I bathe, every day. You can bathe all the year round in Corsica."

Work on New Rink Making Good Progress

—Work on the new Summerside rink is progressing rapidly, and a large number of workmen are busily engaged each day in various phases of its construction.

The concrete foundation supporting the outer walls has been completed together with the concrete foundation which the various supports will rest. The wooden framework of the outer walls has been constructed and good progress has been made by the carpenters working on what will be the front entrance to the rink which faces Notre Dame Street.

The steel which will form the framework of the building has started to arrive and a large crane is busy daily unloading this steel and placing it in positions on the ground from which it can be assembled and raised into position. The speed with which construction will be completed will depend to a large extent on the weather, but with a reasonable amount of good weather it is expected that the building will be completely closed in sometime in January, so that interior construction can continue without being disturbed by what the weather may be like outside.

The best example of finesse came from Whittlock, which isn't surprising. Just as surely as you get caviar from sturgeon, you get the unexpected from Whittlock. From a face-off in the centre zone Buck took the water over the Halifax blue line with his left winger uncovered by goalie to admission. This boy must have a secret weapon. There's no other way to explain it.

Truman Gets 4,000 Letters After TV Talk

By RELMAN MORIN KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—Harry Truman glanced at a stack of telegrams and letters in his Kansas City office the other day and said, "The score is 96 to 4."

A broad grin crept across his face. The messages, more than 4,000 of them, he said, came to the office following his television statement last Monday on the Harry Dexter White case. Truman said Attorney-General Herbert Brownell "lied" in his description of the ex-president's part in the case.

Meanwhile, the telephone in the office kept ringing. Truman's two secretaries, who were with him in the White House, were working at top speed. "It's like this all the time," Truman said, with a grin. "I'm trying to get something done on the book, but there are too many interruptions." He is writing his memoirs.

Get Photograph of Three Rare Whooping Cranes

NEW YORK, (CP)—A photograph of three rare whooping cranes flying south in Saskatchewan has been published widely in the United States. The Associated Press called it "the most exceptional picture of the week."

The photograph, distributed by The Canadian Press picture service, was taken by F. W. Lahman, a field worker with the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History, who described his luck in getting it as a "one-in-a-million chance."

Mr. Lahman and Museum Director Fred Bard found the cranes—three of 24 known extant—near Francis Lake, 125 miles southwest of Regina. They took movies of the birds feeding from a distance of a quarter-mile.

The naturalists were lying in a ditch trying to work out a plan to approach them when the cranes took to the air and flew overhead at a height of 150 feet.

Mr. Lahman, using an Exakta camera with a 300mm telephoto lens, snapped the birds at 1-500 second at f/6.3 without filter. His photo showed the birds in full flight, one leading a pair flying side by side.

Naturalists are awaiting arrival of the four-foot-tall birds at the national wildlife refuge at Aransas, Texas.

Hard Luck Dogs Freighter Dogye

HALIFAX, (CP)—Hard luck still dogs the Dogye. The 1,816-ton former British coal carrier was back in port today after three attempts to sail to new owners in South Korea.

It was the engine again. From Quebec City, Sydney and Halifax in turn she has sailed for the Far East. Each time engine trouble forced the ship to return. Before she left Halifax on the third try a boiler backfired, sending a fireman to hospital.

NORTH TRYON W. I. The regular and annual meeting of the North Tryon Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Muttart on Nov. 2. Roll call was responded to by 19 members. Next month roll call is to be answered with a trimmed Christmas box.

Sport Echoes From Prince County

We went down to Charlottetown Friday evening to see the Halifax-Islanders game which ended 6-2 for the Trainersmen. We enjoyed every second of it, as did we think, all the 2000 customers present. The "roar of the crowd" is an accurate thermometer to register enthusiasm, and we have rarely seen a crowd with more hoot and holler than Friday night's turnstile clickers.

They had plenty to cheer about. The game produced some spine-tingling action. It had finesse. It had rugged belting at the blue line and in the corners. It had those breathless moments when a team swarms around an enemy net and forces a goal. Chalk up those two last minutes of the game in the loss column, and there was still enough profit for more than satisfy the fustiest customer.

The best example of finesse came from Whittlock, which isn't surprising. Just as surely as you get caviar from sturgeon, you get the unexpected from Whittlock. From a face-off in the centre zone Buck took the water over the Halifax blue line with his left winger uncovered by goalie to admission. This boy must have a secret weapon. There's no other way to explain it.

LaChance, Gignac and Carver put on one of the most thrilling raids on an enemy citadel we have ever seen. They had McKeen doing the buck-and-wing for what must have been a near record of elapsed time before Gignac scored. He doesn't understand English, they tell us, but hockey he does understand. (Bienvenue, LaChance comes in costume de nuit, du chat!) Gignac looks good. Apparently not the pop-off type, he nevertheless seems to like being around where the going is rough. Carver fits in well. We like Bucko Trainor's policy of giving Island fans a chance to see a major home products sale possible. Not too many of them are ready for major hockey as yet, but we believe, if the policy is continued, the percentage of Spuds' in major hockey would increase. Bucko's plan may fall, but we believe the fans should back him to the hilt in this encouragement of local talent.

The going has been rough for the Islanders management but they are putting up a courageous fight. Frankly, we don't believe Island fans are fed up on import hockey. We get a chance to get boys who some day may make the big time, and others, hockey luminaries on their way down from the top. Personally we like to follow the fortunes of the boys who have played down here as they play in the various professional circuits. It seems to us in with the national hockey scene.

There should be more interest in developing juniors, however, with the import club, probably a Charlottetown Summerside combination now that we're up-and-coming Rome breaks to shoot at. If we lose our franchise this year it may be difficult to get back in. So let's put our shoulders to the wheel, join the Boosters in their crusade, and get Bucko and his boys over the hump.

Going Ahead

Continued from page 1 "I want respectfully to urge the thinking people in Allied lands to adopt a more understanding attitude toward the U. S. congressional investigations of subversive activities in our government," Wiley said. "I hope they will understand that the American people have been shocked by disclosures of Communist penetration of high offices of our land and laxity in failing to clean out Soviet agents."

"The fact of the matter is that whether or not foreign reactions improve or worsen, our U.S. investigations are not going to be stopped by anything," Wiley said. "Foreign critics are not justified in attempting to portray U. S. actions as 'witch hunting' or 'hysteria.'"

"I for one would like to convey to Allied peoples that the United States has not for one moment lessened its deep devotion to constitutional liberties to our traditional philosophy that a man is innocent until proven guilty," he said.

Royal Couple

Continued from page 1 lon, Aden and Uganda. The final stage of the global tour will be by way of North Africa, Malta, and Gibraltar in the royal yacht Britannia. They are due back in Britain May 15.

Saturday the Duke went shooting in Windsor forest while the Queen attended Sandown races with her mother and sister. Sunday they attended a private service in the chapel royal where the royal couple prayed for the nation. After the service the Queen said goodbye to the congregation, mainly workers from the royal estate. They drove back to Buckingham Palace Sunday night.

In the airport lounge today many cabinet ministers will be on hand to say goodbye. Among them will be Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden.

Safety Watch The specially-refitted "Canopus" will cruise at about 300 miles an hour. British and Canadian detachments will be stationed on the route to Gander to provide a "safety carpet".

For the second stage from Gander to Bermuda, Canadian naval ships will be on watch. On Nov. 27, she and the Duke will go aboard the Gothic for their long sea journey. Ahead of them are 50 state balls, luncheons, garden parties and dinners and more than 100 receptions. There are to be 11 investitures.

In New Zealand the Queen will stop at 44 cities in her 39 day tour. In Australia, she will visit 54 cities covering the vast continent in 35 flights.

Representing P.E.I.

Speaking with a Guardian representative, Mrs. Inman said she had been delighted at the tribute paid by Prime Minister St. Laurent to the new women members of the House of Commons and Senate. "It is a very decided incentive to women both in Prince Edward Island and Canada at large to hear public recognition of their services in the highest quarter," Mrs. Inman said. "There is no doubt that in our Province there is greater appreciation of the work being carried on by women in the realm of public affairs, and other delegates tell me the same situation exists in the nine other provinces."

Mrs. Inman said she was confident that the new feminine members of Commons and Senate would make a very worthwhile contribution to the present Parliament. The president debate but in presenting the women's viewpoint on such matters as welfare and education to members of the cabinet and to committees. They may also be of great assistance in dealing with the housing problems.

At the meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women, Mrs. Inman will be called upon to report on the activities of the Provincial Association and to advance any recommendations that the Association may make. She is accompanied by Mrs. L. H. Poole, president of the Montague Women's Liberal Club.

However, all Mr. Pearson would say, at a press conference Saturday, was that the reply was being prepared and would not go forward until Monday or Tuesday.

At the same time the ministers are seeking to track down the identity of the "high placed" Canadian cited by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover before the Senate committee in Washington last Tuesday. Mr. Hoover read the committee a letter he wrote the White House in February 1946 stating that such a Canadian official had advised him against permitting the appointment of Harry Dexter White, then assistant secretary of the treasury, to a high position on either the International Bank or International Monetary Fund.

Anglican Youth Hear Rev. Thomas Harris

Sixty-five Anglican young people A Y'er's and Sunday School teachers, met Nov. 11 at the church centre, Crapaud, to welcome and to be addressed by Rev. Thomas Harris, M.A., Eastern Field Secretary of the General Board of Religious Education.

The opening prayers were taken by Canon G. Moffatt. Rev. T. Harris was introduced by Rev. A. E. Piercey, Deaneary organizer of the A. Y. P. A.

In his address Mr. Harris emphasized some of the thinking going on in the A.Y.P.A. from coast to coast.

(a) Relationship between the parish branch, Deaneary, Diocesan and Dominion.

(b) Value in individual branch having a close tie with the Dominion council which represents the 10,000 young people in the A.Y.P.A. from St. John's to Victoria.

(c) Program releases sent to president; A.Y.P.A. paper, Wider Horizons; projects supported—Sunday School by post and radio.

He referred to the new interpretation of the 4-fold program of work, worship, fellowship and education. These are not only items of program for the weekly or monthly meetings, but are principles of life, which can have real meaning if the members are expressing those principles not only in the A.Y. fellowship but throughout their lives, he said.

The A. Y. said Mr. Harris, does not exist for itself. It exists of course for young people but to say that is not to state fully its purpose. It exists for young people to bring them into the fellowship of the church and to send their lives into everyday service of Christ. Its aim, he says, must ever be to bring its members to a faith in Christ that will change the spirit of their work and their play, transform their fellowship and bring them to the living worship of God.

Several relevant questions were answered by the speaker. The appreciation of the audience was ably expressed by Rev. George Ebsary, Deaneary A.Y.P.A. chaplain. Canon J. T. Bobott pronounced the Benediction.

The enjoyable social hour which followed was directed by Mr. Bill Ives, president of St. Paul's A.Y. Lunch was served by the Local Council. The young people are grateful to three Charlottetown merchants for their generous donation of cookies. Parishes represented were Port Hill, Summerside, New London, Crapaud, Milton-Rustico, St. Paul's and St. Peter's.

NORTH BEDEQUE W. M. S. The November meeting of North Bedeque W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Hogg in Summerside on Nov. 12. Mrs. Wilbur Stavert conducted the devotional service; it was based on the theme, "The Church—The Body of Christ."

The opening hymn "All Praise To Our Redeeming God" was sung, followed by scripture readings by Erna Baker and Catherine Wood and meditation and prayer by the leader.

Mrs. Robert Hogg read an article on Christian Stewardship, followed by the members repeating Psalm 23rd in unison. The president took the chair for the business period, and the roll call was answered by 15 members; one visitor was welcomed.

The study book "Where's the Sun" was under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Campbell with Mrs. Stuart Carruthers, Mrs. Ella Smith and Mrs. Wilbur Stavert assisting. An interesting playette was presented by Mrs. Norman MacMurdo, Mrs. Eric MacMurdo and Mrs. Charles Wright.

It was decided at our last meeting that each member give a donation of $3, instead of having a pantry sale as was previously arranged.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Campbell and it was decided to invite other societies to also meet at this Christmas worship service. Myrtle Stavert will be the leader.

The meeting closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The halberd, still carried by Yeomen of the Guard in Britain, dates from 15th century wars.
