

FOUR CHARTER MEMBERS

The Hazelbrook W. I. Has Its 30th Anniversary

Mrs. James C. Wood, Mrs. Holden Wood, Mrs. Vernon Wood and Mrs. Kent Jones pictured here are charter members of the Hazelbrook Women's Institute.

Hazelbrook Women's Institute which was organized on April 17 1928 recently celebrated its thirtieth anniversary. Of its present membership of fifteen, four have been active members since its organization.

Fourteen members and eight visitors gathered at the home of Mrs. Kent Jones and following a brief business session a special anniversary program was carried out under the direction of Mrs. Reginald Jenkins and Mrs. Henry Jones.

The first item was a history of the Hazelbrook Women's Institute by Mrs. Holden Wood who also read the names of deceased members in memory of whom two minutes silence was observed. This was followed by a poem of eulogy read by Mrs. Reginald Jenkins.

Next the four Charter members; Mrs. Kent Jones, Mrs. James C. Wood, Mrs. Vernon Wood, and Mrs. Holden Wood were honored by an address and the presentation of P.E.I. W.I. Pins and corsages.

Pictures were taken and a lively period of games and contests followed. Lunch was served and a special feature was a delicious birthday cake beautifully decorated in keeping with the occasion and lighted with thirty candles.

The charter members very kindly expressed their appreciation and heartfelt thanks, and a vote of thanks was extended to the committee in charge of the celebration. A most enjoyable and memorable evening was brought to a close by singing "The Queen."

The following is an excerpt from the address:

C stands our Creed which you did so oft repeat,
H is for your Homes where frequently we meet;
A is for Achievements you worked hard to attain,
R for Roll Call you've answered again and again,
T for Thirty Years service, duty and hard work,
E is for your Efforts, not once did you shirk,
R stands for Right 'tis the goal you have set
Dear Charter Members. Let us not forget.

People Occasionally Like An International Dinner

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN
"Here's a letter, Chef," I was saying, "from the president of a woman's club in Maryland."
"She writes: 'Our members are much interested in international dishes. They would appreciate an occasional menu in your column for an international home dinner.'"

"It is always a pleasure to oblige the ladies," observed the Chef. "So for today I suggest a three-course menu containing dishes from three countries, one for each course."
"The following menu is very simple, but tasty and easy to prepare."

Tomorrow's Dinner International
Antipasto piccolo,
Weiner schnitzel,
Parsiled new potatoes,
Baby carrots,
Prune compote Parisienne,
Coffee, tea, milk.
Atipasto Piccolo: This means individual servings on salad size vinegar for dressing to taste.

Here are two for choice:
Salami Plate: Centre each plates. Pass olive oil and wine! plash with a mound of cloeslaw. Top with a sardine fillet. Surround with 2 half slices salami. Cellulose covering removed, and 1 pimiento cut in quarters. Garnish with Greek olives.
Herring Fillet Plate: In the centre, put a mound of tossed, fine shredded salad greens, surrounded with 2 small sections herring fillets, strips of sweet green pepper and pickled sliced beets. Use young onions for the garnish.

Weiner Schnitzel: This is a famous Vienna specialty: Order 2 lbs. veal steak or cutlet sliced 1/2 in. thick. Cut into 6 portions. Pound well with a meat mallet. Dash with 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. monosodium glutamate, 1/4 tsp. powdered mixed herbs, 1/4 tsp. pepper and 1 1/2 tbsps. flour.
Slightly beat 1 egg with 1/4 c. milk. Dip in the weiner schnitzel. Then cover with fine dry bread crumbs mixed with celery salt.

Fry in deep fat at 35 degrees F. or hot enough to brown a cube of bread in 1 min.
Drain on crumpled absorbent paper towels. Garnish with lemon wedges.
To transform this dish into Schnitzel Holstein, top each serving of weiner schnitzel with a poached egg. Garnish with 2 anchovy filets arranged to form a "v" and, in the centre of the egg yolk, put 4 capers.
Suggestion of the Chef: Here is a very good way to cook prunes that is favored in France. Instead of water, use 1 1/2 c. medium strong tea and 2 tsp. grated lemon rind to 1 lb. tenderized prunes.
When almost cooked, stir in 1-3 c. sugar and a few grains nutmeg. Simmer about 1 min. cover and cool.

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian foreign office announced Monday that 10 small Norwegian whalers seized last Friday by Russian warships have been released and will leave Russian territory immediately. The ships were captured about 10 miles off the Soviet coast west of Kola Bay. There have been a number of Soviet-Norwegian disputes over fishing waters.

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian weather bureau reported Monday that radioactivity in Belgian air increased by five times from January until April. The Russians tested nuclear weapons during at least part of that period. But the bureau said that radioactivity remains below the "maximum permissible concentration in the atmosphere."

MARY HAWORTH This Woman Behaved Well

Dear Mary Haworth: Jim and I have been married 14 years and have two children, not yet in their teens. A few months ago I got an awful shock when a woman called and asked for Jim and, as he was out, she told me she was his former wife, and they had been writing and telephoning. I learned that they have a teen-age daughter in college, whom Jim hadn't seen since she was a baby.

When I asked Jim about all this, he said casually that he had not wanted to upset me; but he didn't explain further or say he was sorry. It hasn't been mentioned since, and I truly have tried to forgive, and hide my hurt.

We are a Christian family and take part in church and community activities. Jim is a good provider, and doesn't smoke, drink or gamble. But he isn't attentive to the children or me, and never has helped me, not even when they were babies. I am sure he would say I am a good wife and mother.

DOES WHAT HE WANTS
He does only what he wants to do, and goes where he wants to go. Last week he made a trip to his home state, not inviting me, and when I suggested going too, he said he didn't think I would feel up to it. I had been ill the week before.

When he came home, he spoke of visiting still another daughter in college; and now he wants us to visit her, and move there. I want to do the right thing, but the shock of finding he has two former wives and two daughters has broken my heart. That's all he had told me, and I haven't questioned him.

I feel his duty is to his present family, as our children are small. I love Jim and he says he loves me. Please advise me soon. F. V.

lived through, the bad with the good, the right with the wrong, and can admit to himself and the world, without flinching, "this is my story," he is pulled together. He has found himself. And he can do this, only if secure in somebody's love. So don't be afraid; and do be as loyal as you were before Jim's past kicked up. M. H.

led by Mrs. Elmer Inman with Mrs. Windsor Bell, Mrs. George Dunsford and Mrs. Clayton Morrison taking part.

The talking-it-over session was led by Mrs. M. K. Charman with several members taking part. Mrs. John Dixon then led in prayer for our special missionary. The Presbyterian report was then given by Mrs. Windsor Bell.

The minutes were then read, approved and signed, followed by roll call.

The Friendship Calls were taken by Mrs. Windsor Bell who reported 20 home calls, 17 cards, 4 treats. Christian Stewardship's Secretary, Mrs. John Dixon read a poem, entitled "Pray, Give or Go."

Next meeting Mrs. Mack Dixon on with Mrs. George Dunsford devotional leader. After the Mizpah Benediction, lunch was served.

BEHAVED VERY WELL
Dear F. V.: I think you've behaved very well, thus far, in respecting Jim's reserve about his tangled past. It is good that you haven't tried to pry into the story of his marriages and divorces.

I doubt that you could learn anything by probing, that would help the present situation. More likely you'd simply feel more miserable, if you had succeeded in getting him to speak freely about the former wives. In a sense, that would be dragging skeletons out of the grave, and bringing them into the intimacy of your life with him.

In all probability the former wife who telephoned and broke the story was slyly intent on making trouble—whether or not she knows or admits it. She probably has often wondered what is the secret of your 14 years' Christian teamwork with Jim—who couldn't stay harassed by other women. She probably has not found anchorage, and resents the fact that he has—with you.

BE OPEN-MINDED
As for what to do about Jim's wish to move back to his home state, I think it advisable to be open-minded about the idea. Now that parts of the past are coming to your attention, gradually, he will feel encouraged to pull the life together, into one piece, as it were.

Possibly he has been hiding out in the past, figuratively speaking, by living in this community, and trying to establish roots here, by buying a house. The fact that he wants you to meet and know his first-born daughter, and to settle with him in his native town, indicates that he cleaves to you as his "better half."

By remaining steadfastly his wife and going back with him to his home place, you may be greatly instrumental, indirectly, in helping him to surmount the past and take profit from it. When a man accepts all that he's

HAMPTON W.M.S.
The Hampton W.M.S. met in the hall on Tuesday evening, May 5th with 14 members present. Mrs. M. K. Charman led the worship service which concluded with the singing of Hymn 380 followed by prayer.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLOTTETOWN
Without consultation, notification or complaint to the recently elected Commissioners of Sewers and Water Supply of any lack of service or co-operation or failure to carry out the duties of their office in an efficient and economical manner, the City Council has decided that a committee of the Council can handle the technical and engineering problems of the Commission more satisfactorily than has been done in the past and have called for the decision of the citizens by plebiscite to dispense with the Commission and make this possible.

In order that the continuity of the Sewer and water services could not be altered by some passing fancy of the Mayor or Council, the framers of the Sewer and Water Act were wise enough to insert a clause in the Act stating that no Mayor or Alderman could be eligible for the office of Sewer and Water Commissioner.

The present Water Commissioners take the stand that the record of the past years of service by the Commission shows continued economical and efficient operation and that at all times the Commissioners have been ready and willing to co-operate with the Council, within the limits of the Act granting their authority.

The Commissioners would respectfully remind the citizens that in spite of sharply rising costs of labour and material over the years there has been only one increase in the water rates since the establishment of this service in 1888, that after paying interest and sinking fund on outstanding bond issues this year the Commission paid to the Council for their uses the largest surplus yet recorded, and if continued in office shall endeavor to continue to provide economical and efficient service to the citizens. The present Commissioners respectfully suggest that they be continued in office and would welcome your vote and interest.

Commission of Sewers and Water Supply,
H. R. BEVAN, Chairman,
E. E. CLAWSON,
W. I. MCKENNA.
