

An Editor's Substitute.

Colonel Bagshot runs a weekly newspaper called the Union, up in Chodunk. Recently the Colonel was called away to New York on business, leaving the Union in the hands of an assistant who had been in his employ some little time.

Now the Colonel knew that said assistant had the cheek of a brass statue, and the audacity of a New England fly, both indispensable attributes of a newspaper man; but still after being in the city about a week, he began to grow uneasy, and telegraphed to Chodunk:—

'How's things?'

Back came the answer from the Union's whilom editor:—

'Bully! Circulation of the old thing's gone up a thousand. Been getting up a red hot paper, and there's a gang outside that are weeping because they can't hoist the shingles off the roof and knock the whole concern to thunder. Stay away as long as you like.'

Bagshot did not waste a moment after receiving this encouraging despatch.

He started home in the first train, and reached home before night.

The first man that struck him was the ticket agent.

'Look here, colonel!' he cried, excitedly, 'I've a darned good notion to punch your head, you brazen faced old liar.'

'Why?' asked Bagshot.

'Read that?' and the ticket agent shoved a crumpled Union into his hand.

There was a paragraph, marked as follows:—

RAILROAD NEWS.—The bandy-legged idiot who robs the railroad company at this village has purchased a new pocket knife. More knocking down from the cash drawer.

Bagshot bit his lips.

'Bill,' said he, 'that's a calumny, and I'll see it righted in our next. It's my cussed assistant's work.'

'I don't care whose work it is,' growled the agent, 'but if it ain't contradicted, somebody's got to die; that's all.'

Bagshot did not reply, but sailed down the street to the Union office.

He had not gone half a block before he collided with Deacon Marsh.

The deacon seized him by the shoulder and exclaimed:—

'What do you mean, Bagshot, by insuring that scandalously untrue item about me?'

'Didn't insert any item,' replied the colonel.

'Don't sneak out of it in that way. You know you did. Why, I just cut it out of the Union—listen:—

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.—That white headed sepulchre, Deacon Marsh, was noticed last Saturday night, trying to open the coal hole in front of his residence with his night key. The deacon was full as a goat, and couldn't tell moonshine from green cheese.

It's that reckless fool whom I left in charge,' growled the colonel. 'I'll make it all right, Marsh,' and Bagshot scurried on again, only to be confronted by Major Blim:—

'Colonel!' uttered Blim, in his deepest voice, 'This is villainous! It's my intention, sir, to call you out and shoot you through the heart. What the deuce do you mean by publishing this note in the Union?'

'MILITARY JOTTINGS.—Major Blim, the tattered old beggar, who hid in a barrel during the battle of Bull Run, wears a wig. He ought to be shot in the back with a baked apple.'

'I can't help it, Blim,' it, Blim,' said Bagshot, wiping his forehead, 'it's all owing to that young devil in the office. He has made a red hot paper. Just wait, Major, I'll fix things.'

Then Bagshot started again. By the post office old Parker grabbed him.

'Oh, you unfeeling ghoul!' wailed Mr. Parker. 'You ought to be ashamed of yourself. The idea of making fun of my poor dead child.'

'How?'

'How! Have you the cheek to ask how? Maybe you didn't shove this into the Union, did you, you heartless hypocrite?'

OBITUARY.

Little Bennie Parker
Had a stomach pain,
Rhubarb and ipecac
Both were in vain.
He kicked the golden bucket,
His parents hearts are sore;
They'll bury him to-morrow,
At a quarter of four.

Of course Bagshot had to explain and promise the bereaved father a two column notice of the deceased Bennie's many virtues.

Hardly had he done so when Cooley appeared.

'Colonel Bagshot,' announced he, 'You're a lying scoundrel. This is a nice thing to put in your blackguard sheet about a young lady.'

SOCIETY ITEMS.—Miss Cooley, the old hag on South Street, waltzes around in a patent bustle in the hopes of catching a fellow. But she can't; not even if she lays the paint on twice as thick as she does now.

had dusted forever. Lying on the desk was a Union folded so that this notice caught his eye:—

LITERARY MEN.—The bald-headed snipe who pretends to run this paper has gone to New York. We expect to hear every moment of his sentence to Sing Sing for arson and highway robbery. The citizens of Chodunk should congratulate themselves if the Colonel does not disgrace his village by being hung for infanticide.

Bagshot intends never to employ another assistant editor, and journalists in search of a situation will find it healthy to keep away from him.—E. E. Ten Eyck, in Waverly Magazine.

A Good Account.

'To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit.'

August Flower.

The immense sale and great popularity of Green's August Flower in all towns and villages in the civilized world has caused many imitators to adopt similar names, expecting to reap a harvest for themselves at the expense of the afflicted. This medicine was introduced in 1868, and for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, with their effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sickheadache, Indigestion, Palpitation of the Heart, vertigo, etc., etc., it never has failed to our knowledge. Three doses will relieve any case of Dyspepsia. Two million bottles sold last year. Price 75 cents. Samples 10 cents.

LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY.

ANALYTICAL SANITARY INSTITUTION, 54, Holborn-viaduct, E. C., London, Aug. 18, 1879

REPORT on the LORNE HIGHLAND WHISKY:—

'We have visited the bottling stores of Greenlees Brothers, and have selected from the vats, samples of their Lorne Highland Whisky, and have subjected them to careful examination and analysis. The samples were very fragrant, mellow, and of pleasant flavor, and possessed all the characteristics of pure and well-matured Scotch Whisky of the first quality.'
