

An Islander Abroad.

It always affords us much pleasure to chronicle the success of our fellow-colonists abroad. A correspondent of the Christian Standard, Wm. F. Cowden, under the heading "Kentucky University," says some very high compliments to one of this year's graduates, Mr. Henry A. McDonald, son of the late James McDonald, Esq., Kingsborough, Lot 47, P. E. I. He writes: "To H. A. McDonald, of Kingsborough, Prince Edward Island, a graduate of the College of Arts, was assigned the distinguished honor of pronouncing the valedictory address. In introducing Mr. McDonald, President Loos, referring to the British flag which decorated the wall in the rear of the platform, paid a handsome compliment to Queen Victoria as the noblest Queen and one of the best and noblest women on earth. He referred to the presence on the platform of two of her Majesty's subjects, Mr. McDonald from Prince Edward Island, and Mr. Thurgood, of Australia, almost antipodal provinces of the great Empire, as a striking illustration of the truth of England's proud boast that "on Her Majesty's Dominions the sun never sets."

Mr. McDonald, on rising, and before proceeding with his address, out of a full heart thanked the President for the kindly tribute so handsomely paid to his country and his Queen, and expressed his sincere satisfaction, after several years of college life, during which he had heard his country and his flag roundly abused, in now hearing the distinguished gentleman who presides over this University utter these words of eloquent praise. This delightful impromptu episode elicited from the audience the heartiest approbation and applause. "The valedictory was the best address of the kind I ever heard," was the general remark expressed on every hand. Full of pathetic reminiscences, trembling anticipations, and tender farewells, elegant in diction and eloquent in utterance, and closing with a touching tribute to the memory of Jimmie Stockell, a deceased schoolmate, and a universal favorite, it left the audience subdued and in tears.

We may add that Mr. McDonald was formerly a student at Prince of Wales College. He was ordained into the Christian Ministry on the 18th June, last, and has received and accepted a call to the Church at Bowmanville, Ontario, at a salary of $800 a year. We wish him every success in the high calling which he has chosen.

South American Troubles.

The message of the President of Chili is well received by the people of that country. The President is undoubtedly desirous of ending the contest. He is removing from office the strong partisans of extreme measures and replacing them by others who support his peace policy. There seems little doubt that the whole north of Peru will soon be given up by the Chilians, and some persons believe that they will even abandon Lima. Quiet citizens fear that anarchy will ensue. The revolutionary prefects in Peru have plundered the country of $1,000,000 during the past year. A member of the Chilean Congress interpellated the Chilean Ministry on fifteen subjects relating to the war, and interesting revelations are expected. He also asks that all correspondence with Trescott be laid on the table, as also all evidence taken in the case of the Cobija custom house officials accused of tampering with despatches for Adams, United States Minister to Bolivia. A bill has been introduced into the Chilean Congress, declaring all territory to be Chilean up to Cameron's Valley. The peace party is fast gaining the ascendancy in Bolivia. The revolution in Ecuador is still progressing. Gen. Vientimilla having declared himself dictator, has no one in his favor. He dreads assassination, and will not leave his residence.

Mr. Blake as a Leader.

The truth is that Mr. Blake has throughout made a terrible blunder. He has shown his unfitness for leadership in nothing so much as in his utter failure to understand the popular impulse and the popular want. He has failed to see that Canadians to-day have no taste for the discussion of constitutional changes or political abstractions. They are desperately intent upon the work of building up the national prosperity of the country. Mr. Mackenzie failed in 1878, because he refused to understand this great fact; and Mr. Blake has failed now, because, with much less excuse, he has failed either to learn it or to understand it. His childish talk about the proportion of a man's shirt or a woman's dress that had to go to Ottawa, inspired nobody and disgusted a great many. People preferred the evidence of their own eyelight, and the lessons of their own daily experience, to the fine drawn theories of even so accomplished a hair splitter as the leader of the Opposition.

Spoiling Maud S.

(From the Cleveland Herald.)

"I suppose Vanderbilt has a right to do as he pleases with his stock," said a gentleman who had lately spent a week or two in New York, and who takes an interest in fast horses to a Herald representative yesterday, "but the American public will be sorry to learn of the manner in which he is managing that great favorite, Maud S. I saw him driving her a few days ago, and it was clearly evident that he was spoiling her. He drives her like a Jehu, no matter what condition of the roads may be, and pulls and hauls the mare about as much as a hack driver might be expected to do with a less royal team. I was sorry to see it. I was told that he was not only spoiling her gait, but spoiling her temper as well; and you know what an excellent reputation Maud used to have on account of her kind disposition. I would rather see Vanderbilt stick to his railroad stocks."

American householders are living in the happy expectation of an early fall in the prices of food. Vegetables are becoming cheap. The period of phenomenally high prices for potatoes is nearly over, and as a large acreage is planted moderate rates will prevail. Strawberries and peaches are abundant. Cereal crops look well. A great decline in prices cannot be averted in the States, and as similar conditions prevail in Canada a like result must follow.

Guiteau's Sanity.

GENERAL RESULTS OF THE EXAMINATION OF THE BRAIN—OPINIONS OF LEADING PHYSICIANS AND OTHERS—THE ASSASSIN'S FORTITUDE ON THE SCAFFOLD A MYTH—MICROSCOPIC ANALYSIS.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Dr. McWilliams, assistant physician of the gaol, does not think Guiteau showed all the firmness in his last hours with which he has been credited. He says:—"I visited the gaol on Thursday at midnight, and found him sitting on his bed, staring into vacancy, the most perfect picture of despair I ever beheld. Next morning the guard reported he slept none during the night. He would occasionally go into a doze, and start out of it with an inarticulate sound. The officers say he ate nothing for breakfast. He may have put something in his mouth, but it amounted to nothing. It was the same way at dinner, when he was said to have eaten a hearty meal. I learned from the guards that he broke down into perfect despair, and wept freely; it was necessary to make every exertion to keep him up. When Crocker read the death-warrant Guiteau was evidently agitated, but was able to stand. When he reached the top of the scaffold he faltered, not stumbled. In reading his 'prayer' he wavered so excessively that Crocker at one time was anxious to stop it. I was just back of the scaffold, and could hear him catching his breath, and struggling to control it. It was dreadful.

Dr. McWilliams says it is not true that Guiteau's brain was found to be soft and yielding. The adhesion in places of the membrane to the skull proved nothing. In Daniel Webster's brain the whole brain adhered to the skull. A prominent physician who carefully examined Guiteau's brain says it was healthy, and as free from exciting or irritating causes as the brain of the sanest citizen of Washington.

Drs. Harting, Lamb, and Somers, the examiners of Guiteau's brain, met to-day to complete the work. The main features of the report, which will be written by Dr. Lamb, were agreed upon. There is good authority for stating that its conclusions were accurately foreshadowed by the despatches last week. It will embody numerous photographs, and elaborate microscopic analyses.

Political Notes.

Mr. Blake is sulking already. There was a great demonstration the other day at Norfolk, to celebrate the Opposition victory, and with a flourish of trumpets it was announced that the leader of the Opposition was to be present. The demonstration came off but Mr. Blake was not there, a rather significant fact in view of his ostentatious announcement that he had given up practice, and was about to give his whole time to the service of his party. Poor man, his wounded spirit will not yet bear the light of day.—Montreal Gazette.

After all the puffing and blowing about a great liberal victory in Prince Edward Island, it appears that all over the Island the Liberals only received a majority of forty-three votes. If to the Conservative vote is added the hundreds of ballots which would have been deposited had it not happened that a Returning Officer neglected to furnish the necessary ballot papers in a number of divisions, it will be found that Critism, as elsewhere, is in a bad minority in the tight little isle down by the sea.—Toronto Mail.

In Queen's County, P. E. Island, the returning officer failed to supply his deputies in several of the divisions with sufficient ballot papers. The consequence was that many electors were disfranchised and the Government candidate—for these divisions were Conservative strongholds—lost votes. At one polling place the ballots were exhausted by half-past three, and the poll was then closed. This was a silly mistake on the part of the returning officer, but it is stated that the defeated Conservative candidates are about to take steps to rectify it. As the error has injured the Conservative cause, the Grit organs are not at all troubled about it; they do not even call it an outrage.—Toronto Mail.

The Toronto Telegram (independent grit) calls attention to the position of Hon. Mr. Mackenzie as a "land shark." We republish the article in another column. But Mr. Mackenzie is not alone. Among his fellow "sharks" are Mr. J. G. Foster, Hon. William Annand, Sir R. J. Cartwright, Mr. Charles Annand, Hon. M. C. Cameron, and other burning and shining lights of gritism.—Herald.

The swimming contest between Webb, of England, and Wade, the American champion, for $1,000 and the championship of America, 2 miles, was won by Webb with one minute to spare.

It is stated that Prince Bismarck, while expecting no good results from the Constantinople conference, sides with England so far as the Suez canal is concerned. The Porte is said to have expressed its willingness to be guided by the conference, and to send troops to Egypt to re-establish the status quo.

Mr. J. J. Hawkins, the member-elect for Bothwell, had a big reception at Brantford on Saturday evening. On his arrival he was met by a crowd of people and escorted through the streets by a torchlight procession. At the city hall a halt was made and speeches were delivered by the new member and by a number of leading local Conservatives.

GENERAL STONE, the American officer in the Khedive's service, has attracted unfavorable notice in connection with Egyptian affairs by throwing in his lot with Arabi Pasha, and endeavoring to hamper the English. His conduct has met with universal condemnation, even his own countrymen, and among these his personal friends, denouncing him.

PEOPLE frequently ask Mr. Ruskin why he chose Sheffield for the site of his grand museum. His answer is that he acknowledges ironwork as an art always necessary and useful to man, and English work in iron as masterful in its kind. Another reason is because Sheffield is in Yorkshire, and Yorkshire yet, in the main temper of its inhabitants, is old English, and capable, therefore, yet of the ideas of honesty and piety by which old England lived; finally, because Sheffield is within easy reach of beautiful natural scenery, and of the best art by English hands.

Scott's majority in Winnipeg is 105. He had two opponents—an independent Grit and an independent Liberal Conservative. His election is, therefore, a great victory. Complete returns have not yet been received from the other constituencies, but as far as heard from Ross, in Lisgar, and Watson, in Marquette, both "Manitoba First" candidates, have small majorities.
