STATISTICAL.

The number of Congregations now within the bounds of the Presbytery is 33, having 77 churches with a seating accommodation for 22,360. The returns this year hows 3634 families. The number of communicants now on the roll is 5891; 611 of these were added during the past year. The attendance on Sabbath school and Bible classes, as well as the attendance at prayer meetings, show an improvement on former years; the number in Sabbath school being 3914, with 456 teachers. We have, however, to report, that six congregations have failed to make returns under this head. The number attending prayer meetings is given as 3615; three congregations failed to make returns under this head. There are within the bounds of the Presbytery 28 manses and two rented houses; only three congregations without either. Ten years ago we returned to the General Assembly 25 congregations, 3045 families, 3672 communicants, 2369 Sabbath school scholars, and 8 manses. By comparing this with what we have stated above, the Presbytery will see how God hath prospered us in our work during the past ten years.

FINANCIAL.

The amount of stipend promised by congregations during the past year was $22,158, and the amount paid was $20,754; the difference is accounted for by the fact that we have seven vacant congregations. There was expended on churches and manses $10,853, and for all other congregational purposes $5,593, making a total expenditure of $37,200 spent for strictly congregational purposes. Your committee are happy to state that the schemes of the church are growing year by year. The returns this year show a total of $6,687 for schemes, and $2,446 for religious and benevolent purposes; of this amount the larger part was given to those schemes which the church is prosecuting with much zeal and success, viz: College, $418; Home Missions, $1,454; Augmentation, $974; French Evangelization, $858; Foreign Missions, $2,695. It is only when we contrast the present with the past, that we can see the advances made in every department of our finances. Ten years ago, the total annual giving was only $29,161. This year the total is $46,468, or over $17,000 of an annual increase. Below is appended a table which will enable the Presbytery to see the amounts as well as the average giving per family and communicant during the past year. The order in which the congregations appear is that of average amount per family for all purposes

An Oddfellow Abroad.

ANTIGONISH, N. S., June 24, 1890.

A few notes may not be out of order. The sensation at New Glasgow yesterday was the mysterious death of their most prominent physician, Dr. Fraser. There are many stories afloat, but the general impression seems to be that he died from natural causes. Being of a very sensitive nature he felt deeply the worriment of the recent Pictou poisoning investigation in which he appeared as a witness.

New Glasgow is at present booming, about one hundred buildings being, or will be, under construction the present summer. The Foord coal mine, which has been idle since the disaster of about seven years ago, is being again operated.

Antigonish, which lies midway between New Glasgow and Mulgrave, is a very pretty town of about two thousand inhabitants. The cathedral, convent, and St. Xavier College, situate near each other, are very fine structures. Some of the stores are quite modern, and the general appearance of the place gives one the idea of pluck and enterprise. A drive around the place is very enjoyable, the scenery being rich and varied.
