THERE CAN BE NO OPPORTUNITY between science and religion for truth is one. When religion, shorn of its superstitions, traditions, and dogmas shows forth conformably to science, then will there be a great unifying clearing force in the world, which will sweep before it all wars, discords and struggles, and then mankind will be united in the position of the love of God. Permits Electrical Contractors or others responsible for the carrying out of the work shall obtain a permit from the inspection department before commencing work with respect to installation, alteration, repair or extension of any electrical equipment. After the installation has been inspected, if it complies with the minimum standards of the Canadian Electrical Code a Certificate of Approval issued and should be requested from the Electrical Contractor on completion of work. If defects are found, the contractor is notified to remedy them and the certificate approval may be issued. Electrical equipment and appliances used in electrical installations must carry the approval label of the Canadian Standards Association (C.S.A.). From time to time inspectors are reporting articles that are not approved. These include oil fired units, kitchen appliances, sound equipment etc. some of which have been found to be defective hazardous.

It has also been brought to our attention that unlicensed persons are doing maintenance work on oil furnaces, some with a very meagre knowledge of their work. A licensed repairman carries a license card with him. Unlicensed workmen should be reported to the electrical inspection department at once.
